PANNING THE REGENTS.

From reports in some of the daily press we are led to believe that some kind of a commotion has been stirred up through the action of the board of regents of the University of Oregon in firing several professors whose services did not seem to be for the best interests of the school and in curtailing the activities of several departments in the interest of economy.

From reading between the lines we are led to believe that the discharge of the professors in question was justifiable and the economics effected necessary. The members of the board of regents are hard-headed men and will not be swayed from their purpose by the criticism of the students of the university nor by unfair news stories and editorials.

We are inclined to compliment the regents for performing their duty as they saw it, which seems to be what they did, and we offer the suggestion that the firmer hold the regents of our institutions of higher learning take upon the af-airs of the institutions which they are presumed to govern the better it will be for the taxpayers of the state, the better it will be for the institutions and the better it will be for the students thereof. The time is approaching when to put in to practice some old-fashioned ideas concerning education will be considered ultra-progressive.

Even the secrecy which the regents are charged, perhaps unjustly, with having maintained, might have been warranted by their old-fashioned kindly intentions toward those whose services were dispensed with. Action that brings about a saving of such a bagatelle as some $60,000 in the conduct of such an institution as the university is no longer considered worthy of any great amount of publicity, which fact the regents may have considered.

All in all there seems to have been a considerable amount of ado about a little of nothing.

The Woodburn Independent believes that the emergency clause should have been attached to the revenue bills which are likely to be re-referred. It suggests that the legislature meet and reenact the measures with the emergency clause attached. Possibly the Independent would find that the emergency clause can not be attached to a revenue bill.

The better homes movement is worthy of unqualified endorsement but it seems odd that this movement didn't start at a time when some of us spent some of our time at home. About all we now really need in a home is a grill and a sleeping porch—and we might do without the sleeping porch.

As we understand the controversy at Eugene, the board of regents have fired a couple professors and the students are about to overrule the decision of the board. That seems to be in accord with the modern trend in education.—Corvallis Gazette-Times.

"Law enforcement begins in the home," says the Clarke County (Wash.) Sun. The Sun doesn't reflect correctly in this instance. The trouble is that law enforcement doesn't begin in the home.

The dispatches inform us that Calvin puffs cheroots. We are greatly disappointed. A coracoeb should be his limit.

"When I got to be a big man like you can I be a Shriner, daddy?" enquired little Sammy.

Daddy: "Why, w-h-y, I expect so, if you are a good boy."

Sammy: "Daddy what all will I have to do to be a Shriner any-way?"

Daddy: "Ev-ery-thing you kin, they kin think of, son."

SOCIETY

A wedding pretty in its simplicity was solemnized in the Christian church at 12:30 Sunday, when Miss Katharine Mendenhall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Mendenhall, of this city, became the bride of George E. M. York, of Eugene. A. J. Adams, pastor of the Christian church, read the ring ceremony in presence of a few immediate relatives and intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Dale F. Hawkins, of this city, attended the bridal pair. The bride taught in the Cottage Grove schools two years ago and the preceding year. She is a teacher in the Eugene schools this year. Mr. York is associated in business with W. R. B. Wilcox, who is head of architectural work at the University of Oregon. Following the wedding the guests were taken to the Mendenhall home where a delicious wedding dinner was served. A pretty bouquet of pink and white sweet peas centered the table and place cards suitable to the occasion were used. Sweetpeas and pink snapdragons were the attractive decorations of the rooms. Those present at the wedding and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Boit, Miss Eula Benson and Ralph Gibbs, of Eugene; the bride's parents and brother Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, of this city. The couple plan to make their home in Eugene.

Mrs. George Scott, Mrs. T. C. Wheeler and Mrs. Herman F. Edwards, retiring officers, entertained the Constellation club Thursday afternoon. A business meeting was held at which the following officers were elected: Mrs. R. A. Trask, president; Mrs. S. L. Godard, vice president; Mrs. Merville Veatch, secretary. Yellow California poppies were the room decorations. Fancy powder puffs, gifts from Mrs. Scott with a past matron's pin. Following the business session the hours were spent socially and a delicious two-course luncheon was served. Mrs. J. C. Johnson, who was here from Gold Beach visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Lebow, was an invited guest and 36 members were present.

Miss Elaine Henderson celebrated her third birthday anniversary very happily Thursday afternoon, when a number of her playmates responded to invitations and spent the afternoon with her at the Dick Henderson home on Mosby creek. The taking of pictures, playing of games and music made the afternoon hours pass speedily. A pink color scheme was carried out in the decorations and also in the refreshments. The guest list included Isabelle, Elizabeth and John Kerr, Sarah Kerr and Mrs. Joe Perkins and Richard Henderson. The matron guests were Mrs. John Kerr and Mrs. Joe Perkins Jr. The Dick Henderson family recently moved here from Portland.

Mrs. W. W. McFarland, a non-member, was hostess Thursday to the Joker club at an evening of five hundred. The rooms were prettily decorated with red peonies. At the close of the card session the guests were taken to the Gray Goose tea room, where a delicious two-course luncheon was served. The centerpiece of the table was a basket of red hawthorne blooms. Sprays of the bloom ran out to the ends of the table. The place cards bore spring flower decorations. Guests beside club members were Mrs. Frank Knox and Mrs. J. P. Graham.

The Bible study class of the Methodist church entertained Friday afternoon in the church parlors in honor of Mrs. T. Curtis, a member, who leaves soon to make her home in Arkansas. Each of the 40 present presented Mrs. Curtis with a quilt block on which her name was embroidered. Ten and dainty cakes were served. The tea table was centered with a basket of delicately tinted sweet-rocket. Mrs. Curtis and her son came here from Arkansas about two years ago.

Mrs. C. C. Crason entertained Friday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. J. C. Johnson, who returned Saturday to her home in Gold Beach after a short visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Lebow. The guests were old friends of the honored one and they spent the afternoon chatting over their needlework. Dainty refreshments were served. The rooms and table were artistically decorated with varicolored wild flowers.

Eighty were present Thursday evening at the Knights of Pythias Mothers' day entertainment. H. J. Shinn gave an interesting address. Mrs. Victor Kom and Mrs. Carl Witte gave a vocal duet and Ralph Boslough gave a vocal number. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. A white carnation was presented by the lodge to each mother present. Cars took the mothers and older members of the lodge to and from the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kom had as dinner guests Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Darnwood and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Garoutte.
