TIME TO GET NEW COUNTY SAYS SPRINGFIELD

Action of Eugene in Going After Car Shops Arouses Ire of Neighbor.

That this would be the psychological moment for Cottage Grove to start a move to be made the county seat of a new county was the suggestion of a delegation of Springfield citizens who met with the local commercial club Thursday night to present their side of the action of Eugene in going after the shops which the Southern Pacific long ago promised Springfield. The Springfield citizens stated that they wished to make no attempt to put anything over on Cottage Grove, that they had not cut and dried program, that they merely felt that the Southern Pacific is morally bound to locate the shops at Springfield, that Eugene is morally bound to help Springfield in getting them and that they wished the moral support of this city in any way it could be given. Protests over the action of Eugene in trying to take the shops, such protests to be sent to President Sproule, were suggested as the best action this city could take. The matter was referred to the board of directors with power to act.

It was stated by members of the delegation that Eugene's program is to get the shops away from Springfield, the Southern Pacific to plant away from Cottage Grove and the division point away from Junction City. With feeling towards Eugene aroused by this action, it was pointed out that this is Cottage Grove's best chance to go after a new county.

Members of the delegation expressed the belief that the action of Eugene is the action of a small group of its citizens. Springfield citizens have invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in their city upon promise of the Southern Pacific that the shops would be located there and they feel deeply concerning the action of Eugene. It was pointed out that Eugene would profit financially as much from the location of the shops in Springfield as from their location upon the site proposed by Eugene.

SPRINGFIELD WINS GAME

Locals Play Tight Base Ball Up to the Sixth Inning.

Springfield won from Cottage Grove in a ball game here Sunday in what was a tight game up to the sixth inning, when the locals began slipping and were unable to come back. At that time the score was 3 to 1 in Springfield's favor but in one inning the visitors sent a half dozen tallies across the plate. The locals were somewhat discouraged by the lack of attendance on the part of the business men of the city. There has been no solicitation for funds for the support of the team and the members hope that appreciation of this fact will be reflected in attendance at the games. The Cascadia team will be here next Sunday. This team defeated the locals 1 to 0 in a game played three weeks ago.

Wantad Gets Results.

After N. E. Glass had spent about $4 worth of time trying to find a sweater lost by his son, he thought of using a Sentinel wantad. The result of spending 35 cents in this manner was the prompt return of the lost article.

Knew of Oil Here 25 Years Ago

Joe DuBois, of McMinnville, who was here Saturday, has for a quarter of a century been a believer in oil for this section. He was acquainted 25 years ago with oil men who took leases on thousands of acres in this section and Mr. DuBois was told that the hills of the Willamette valley, from Douglas county north to Salem, were loaded with oil that was waiting to be tapped. He firmly believes that oil is going to be found. Further than that he is a believer in the location of oil by scientific instruments such as those used by Dr. Eugene Olsen in testing this section for oil. Mr. DuBois made the trip here with J. C. Compton, who has the contract for the street work now under way here.

Temperature Here Is Quite Mild

The temperature in Cottage Grove has been mild and equable compared to what it has been elsewhere during the past week. On Friday the official thermometer of the cooperative observation station registered 84 degrees and upon both Saturday and Sunday it registered 85. In many places in Oregon a temperature of 95 has been the rule and again it has been proved that Cottage Grove never has extreme weather conditions.

Medford Heat Gets Soldier Boys

The boys from here in camp at Medford, being accustomed to the moderate Cottage Grove climate, are suffering with extreme heat at Camp Jackson. During the sham battle staged as a part of the training so many men toppled over with the heat that the battle was called off.

All members of the company are loud in their praise of their treatment by Medford. An example of the courtesies extended the soldier boys was the trip to Coater Lake Sunday. Cars were furnished by Medford citizens and the caravan was five miles long. Ed Blakely, George Foster and Wilbur Spray came home over Sunday in place of making the trip to the lake.

PLAYGROUND WILL OPEN

Girls' Choral Club Program Will Add to Fund for Children.

Miss Mildred Leham, of Eugene, who will have charge of the Cottage Grove playgrounds during the summer, will arrive here Wednesday, June 24, and will open the playgrounds in the park the following Monday, June 29. Equipment for the playgrounds have been provided through the efforts of various clubs and organizations of the city. On July 1 the Girls' Choral club will give an entertainment the proceeds of which will go to the playground fund.

FOOTPRINTS OF PIONEER DAYS

Interesting Events in the Lives of Those Who Laid Sturdy Foundation for the Present Generation

THE GREAT BOHEMIA MINING CAMP.

(From special mining edition of Bohemia Nugget, 1899.) The honor of discovering gold bearing quartz in the Bohemia district, as well as giving the district the name of Bohemia, fell to the lot of James Johnson, in those days known as "Bohemia" Johnson and George Ramsey, who while prospecting for placer mines on the north Umpqua, in 1863, followed one of its tributaries to what is now known as "The City", under the shadow of Bohemia's craggy summit. Here they found a very rich specimen of decomposed quartz full of fine, free wire gold, and in their excitement they climbed to the summit of Bohemia to see which would be the quickest way to get home. Of course the first thing they saw was the Coast Fork and Row River valleys, near the locality now occupied by Cottage Grove. They lost no time coming to the settlement, where they exhibited their find, and the first rush to Bohemia began in the following year. More than 100 claims were staked off during the next year or two and in the fall of '67 Bird Farrier made the first cash sale of mining property, when he sold to Joseph Knott what is now known as the old Excelsior claim on the summit of Grouse mountain.

BEAUTY LOOP IS PLANNED

Government to Connect Champion and Sharps Creek Roads.

The government road building crew employed on the Champion road into the Bohemia district have completed the work for a distance of about 8 miles, having reached a point a mile above the forks of the creeks, or about two miles above Lundpark.

It is the intention of the forest service to eventually complete this road the entire distance into the district and to make a connection with the Sharps creek road, which would give a beautiful loop motor trip. A crew of 16 men are engaged in this work and they will continue at work until the funds appropriated for this year have been expended. Work will be continued next year.

for $900 cash. Three years later Mr. Knott and sons erected a five-stamp steam mill and ran it for a short time crushing 350 tons and made a clean up of $4700. Another short run was made the following year when they took from 75 tons a little over $1060. The mill was near the summit and scarcity of water proved to great a drawback and the company got into litigation and shut down never to resume operations. Other prominent claims were discovered and in 1868, John Alexander and Bird Farrier built an arrastre, a number of cabins were erected, a hotel, saloon and branch office of the Douglas county recorder's office was established. The arrastre proved a failure, the mill was smashed in by a heavy snow and the next season Bohemia was a deserted camp. The editor of this paper visited this deserted city in 1880, which for 20 years was destined to sleep and then awakened into a new life.

Among the old records in that silent city we noticed the names of well known men in Oregon history, such as S. F. Chadwick, Jesse Barker, John Newbrandt, Joseph Gale and many others we do not now recall, besides many of Cottage Grove's pioneers. Johnson was a Bohemian and his associates doffed him "Bohemia" Johnson and named the district in his honor. "Bohemia" Johnson claimed that he discovered the first gold on the claim known as the "Mystery," now owned by the Musick Mining & Milling company. He afterwards said that it must have been a pocket, as he soon got to the bottom of it. Some are of the belief that he told the truth when he said he made the find on the "Mystery," while others think that his real find was elsewhere in some secluded spot, the knowledge of which went with the old prospector to his grave.

Bird Farrier, one of the oldest prospectors in the district, claims "Bohemia" Johnson took him to the "Mystery" to help him develop it. Farrier did not think the formation of the "Mystery" tallied with that of the specimens and told Johnson so. Johnson then admitted that his find was located across from the mystery in a thick clump of brush and that he was working to sell the "Mystery" so that he could properly develop the real thing, and promised to take his friend Farrier to it. However he never did and the old Bohemian drifted on down the shadowy side of life to his grave and the find is still a mystery. But not forever was Bohemia to be silent, the awakening coming in this way. In 1890 W. W. Oglesby and Henry Pearson discovered what is known as the Annie ledge. The fabulous richness of the float and vein did not cause the same degree of excitement as the former discovery years before had done, but a company was quietly formed and development work began in 1891. John B. McGee bought the old Knott mill and after moving and refitting it up active operations were again resumed and many thousands of dollars were taken out in bullion. Bad management

RAILWAY TO DINNER CREEK BY AUGUST 1

Anderson & Middleton Making Progress in Preparation to Extend City Water Line.

It is the belief of members of the city council who visited the city's watershed Sunday that the Anderson & Middleton Lumber company will have their railway construction work up Layng creek completed to Dinner creek by August 1 and that the extension of the city's water mains to this creek and the construction of a dam in the creek can start at this time.

The extension of the water line is necessary to enable the lumber company to operate in government timber upon the city's watershed. The work is being done by the lumber company, the cost to be deducted from future payments for government timber. The extension of the company's railway has been slow because of several jobs of difficult bridge building. But one trestle now remains to be built to complete this work to Dinner creek.

Woods Superintendent Hackett promised the members of the council the fullest cooperation in the protection of the water supply and in expediting the work of extending the water line.

The present dam in Layng creek will be raised two feet in order to give a greater head of water for the summer. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in getting the city's water mains to pick up the full head and it is believed that raising the dam will solve this difficulty. The pipe line, it is believed, is of sufficient capacity to give the city all the water it needs if a full head can be forced into it.

DELEGATES ARE NAMED

American Legion Convention Attracts Members to Prineville.

A number of members of the American Legion and of the auxiliary will attend the legion convention to be held in Prineville June 25, 26 and 27. Herman F. Edwards and George Matthews have been chosen delegates by the local post and at a special meeting of the auxiliary Friday evening Mrs. E. T. Blakely and Mrs. Max Bird were elected delegates from that body. The convention has aroused much interest here this year and a number of members are expected to accompany the delegates. They will leave Wednesday and make the trip to eastern Oregon over the McKenzie pass.

S. A. Kiddies at Calapooya.

Seventy-five Salvation army kiddies from over the state are spending the week on an outing at Calapooya springs. This is the first of these camps to be established by the Salvation army on the Pacific coast. The program for the week calls for both religious and recreational activities.

Water Line Is Moved.

The work of moving the water line on south Sixth street to the parking has been practically completed by a crew under Water Commissioner Pitcher. This street is to be paved with black top and it was necessary to move the water line before the street improvement could proceed.

again resulted in a shut down and more litigation. By this time the Music mine and mill were running in full blast and the ten-stamp mill at the Champion was erected and once more Bohemia was in the swim. There are one 20-stamp mill, two 10-stamp mills, two 5-stamp mills and two 2-stamp mills, and a 30-foot arrastre in the district and a hundred other valuable properties in the district being developed. (Continued next week.)

PLANS FOR DEFENSE DAY TEST BEING MADE BY LEGION

Blanks Will Be Sent to All Local Organizations for Signatures of Members.

Plans for the observance in Cottage Grove of the national defense test for 1925 are being completed by the local post of the American Legion and it is expected the city will make a very creditable showing. While it is considered impossible to hold a parade or patriotic demonstration here on that day because of the number who will be absent for celebrations and other holiday events, the Legion nevertheless plans to have as many as possible sign the pledge for one-day enlistment.

Blanks for this enlistment will be sent to all local organizations and the members given an opportunity to sign. This will not impose any obligation on them, as they will not be required to take part in any demonstration or parade.

A number of changes have been made in the plans for the defense this year. One of these is the oral enrollment of large numbers of persons which will be made at celebration gatherings, picnics, etc. The oath of enlistment in the United States army for one day will be given at these gatherings. The enrollment will include women for the army nurse corps.

The 46,000 in the state who enrolled last year will be already enrolled for this year, according to action taken by the general committee. Any person who signed the 1924 test who wishes to be relieved from duty should notify the general committee in writing prior to July 4.

White Soda Fountain Installed.

Installation of the new soda fountain in the White Drug store on Main street is expected to be completed this week. The fountain arrived a few days ago. It is the latest thing in confectionery equipment and has many new attractive and sanitary features. One feature is an electric mixer for milk shakes and similar drinks with a detachable stirring device.

CHANGE IN LINE IS MADE

Wires to Be Taken From Main Street; Eugene Route Moved.

Changes in the telephone lines of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company which will take the bare wires off Main street and remove the toll service wires from the main highway between here and Eugene are now under way and will be completed about July 1. The cable will still remain on Main street and only a few of the poles will be removed. Instead of following the Pacific highway out of town the new line will go north on Sixth street and across to the old Pacific highway from the Christian church.

Poles are now being erected on Sixth street and in various other places along the line. Wire is being put up along the line near Eugene.

Lithographing, engraving, steel dye work. The Sentinel's live wire print shop is the place. xxx

A DAY'S DIET FOR BEAUTY

Ruth Malcomson
By 1924
"Miss America"

SIXTH OF A SERIES OF SIX ARTICLES

"Do you really think certain foods help to make you beautiful?" The countless times I've been asked that question since I won my title in the beauty pageant at Atlantic City!

Do I really think any food will "make you beautiful?" Well, it won't change the shape of your nose or the color of your hair, over-night, that's sure. And you won't get an impeccable complexion from a week's carrot eating. Nevertheless, I will guarantee you that the wrong food, if persisted in, will assuredly make you ugly!

But cheer up! I will also guarantee that the right food, if eaten faithfully, will actually do much to make you beautiful. Yes, it will even alter the shape of your nose and the color of your hair!

Here's how. The proper food, regularly eaten in proper amounts, can improve the features of a too-thin face by filling them out a bit; or, it can reduce the size of a too-fat face, refining the features by eliminating the too obvious curves and so seeming actually to improve their shape. Moreover, a nose always appears more shapely when covered with a clear, perfect skin.

Similarly, the right diet can literally improve the shade of your hair, giving it luster and gloss and making it reflect the vitality of health. The sparkle of the eye, the smile on the mouth, the perfect curved lines of the figure—all these, too, are beauty rewards for the woman who eats right.

"But what do you eat?" someone asks in despair. "How shall I know the proper combinations of the foods you recommend as healthful and beautifying? Just what do you eat in a day?"

And so I have prepared this model menu for three meals.

Breakfast: Juice of two oranges, one or two slices of toast, a poached egg, two slices of bacon. I believe a hearty breakfast is necessary to start the day right.

Lunch: A glass of milk, a roll, a little fruit.

Dinner: One lamb chop, small serving potatoes, a medium portion of string beans, all the salad I want, and a light pudding. I believe in eating a satisfying dinner.

I do not believe in going to bed hungry, and I often supplement my dinner by taking a glass of orange juice just before retiring. If you prefer a hot drink before going to
