FAVORING FAIR INCOME TAX.

Sentiment is growing among those who opposed Oregon's former income tax law favoring to an income tax law having for its object only the collection of taxes from those now escaping taxation or escaping their fair proportion of taxation, such a tax to be one equal upon all classes, the same as other taxes.

The following from the Eugene Guard is indicative of sentiment being expressed by many who favored the repeal of the former income tax law:

"The Oregon state grange, which purposes to initiate a new state income tax measure at next year's election, has an excellent opportunity for success if it will but follow the way of wisdom and of justice in the preparation of its measure. The way, of course, lies in a drafting of a bill that will not impose an additional tax burden upon sources already taxed and that will take a tax, under a fair and equitable schedule of rates, from those who now escape taxation.

"There is general recognition in the press of Oregon of the fact that an income tax bill based on these principles would have a good chance to win the approval of a majority of the voters. No newspaper, so far as has been observed, has expressed advance opposition to an income tax law to be drafted on such a basis as that outlined. A newspaper attitude so general is quite likely to reflect public attitude, and probably does so in this case.

"But the grange will err fatally if it sponsors any bill that carries provisions calculated to penalize wealth or success, or to tax one class more heavily than another, as was deliberately done under the income tax law which the people repealed because it was unfair. If the grange will approach its task from the standpoint of a sincere effort to equalize taxes by relieving tangible property of a part of the load it is carrying, then the grange may hope for probability of success. But if it listens to the unwise and demagogic counsels of Governor Pierce and the Portland Journal and tries to put discriminatory 'teeth' of any sort into its bill then it will have to face the same old fight all over again."

NO ONE CARES ABOUT TAXES.

At a duly advertised annual taxpayers' meeting for the Salem school district for approval or rejection of a $650,000 budget, nobody was in attendance except school directors and district employees. At our own school election here Monday to choose a director, only 600 people turned out to vote. In Lane county more than 40 per cent of the taxes we pay are expended on our public schools. A similar condition prevails in Marion county. Yet if one were to judge by these recent instances he must conclude that nobody either in Eugene or Salem cares how those great sums are administered. "Let George do it" seems to be the motto in school affairs.—Eugene Guard.

"Washington Officials Confer on Tax Reduction," the headlines tell us. It is refreshing to have them meet for the purpose of reduction instead of for the purpose of finding the least painless way to increase them.

His enemies have killed Editor Doversy at Kelso, Wash. We trust that the shooting of editors does not become a popular pastime in this wild and woolly home of big game.

A fleet of airplanes is bringing liquor into Seattle from Canada. Bootleggers can afford to fly high.

Eugene is again following Cottage Grove's lead and will establish a children's playground.

LONDON.

(Special to The Sentinel.) June 23.—William Thorn has purchased the Joe Abeene place.

Mrs. Emma Kelly gave a party Wednesday evening in honor of the twentieth birthday anniversary of her son Elvia.

James Ewing was home from Glendale over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ewice have moved into the Norma Hays house.

Mr. and Mrs. Lot Wagoner and children, of Dorena, and their cousin from California, visited Sunday with the George Bailes family.

Mrs. Mary Massey visited over Monday night at the home of her son, Will Massey, near Cottage Grove.

R. G. Banton filled an appointment in the Church of Christ in Eugene Sunday. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Banton, his daughter Geraldine and his sisters, Miss Nola Banton and Mrs. Harold Abeene and the latter's children.

Nellagene and Hugh Roberts visited last week at the home of their uncle, B. A. Pruett. They returned Saturday evening to their home in Eugene.

Joe Abeene has purchased a new Essex car.

Mrs. Hodges and son and daughter, of Graton, Calif., and the Misses Myrtle and Daisy Burnside and Marjorie Small, of Cottage Grove, attended church here Sunday.

Mrs. Emily Lake, of Hayward, Calif., who has visited here several times, while visiting in Eugene last week, fell and sustained a fracture of one hip.

W. H. Warthen went to Harrisburg Sunday to visit several days with a daughter.

Harold and Ivan Abeene went to Oakland Sunday to bring home some sheep recently purchased by them.

Thomas Moxley, of Creswell, is visiting relatives here.

Henry Combs and daughter Orpha, of Corvallis, visited relatives here over the week end.

Woodrow Wilson had arrived in heaven and was conversing with God. God was chiding the former president about what the nations had done to his fourteen points.

"That's nothing," he retorted, ever ready of wit, "see what they've done to your ten commandments."

SOCIETY

Miss Marian White and Mrs. Georg Björset were hostesses last evening at a surprise social affair at the White home in honor of Miss Bertha Hays and Miss Ruth Tuck, both of Eugene and brides-elect. Twenty-one members of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority, of which the two honored guests are members, were the guests. Miss Hays was visiting at the home of her brother, O. W. Hays, and Miss Tuck came with her sorority sisters under the impression that the surprise was for Miss Hays. A linen shower was given the brides-elect. A dainty luncheon was served.

Mrs. R. L. Stewart entertained the Tuesday Bridge club this week at its regular 1 o'clock luncheon which was the last meeting of the season. The centerpiece of the table was a pretty mixed bouquet, small poppies prevailing. Tally cards, also used as place cards, were in harmony with the centerpiece. Following the luncheon the afternoon hours were pleasantly spent at bridge. Mrs. S. S. Lasswell securing high honors. The rooms were artistically decorated with beautiful Caroline Testout roses. Invited guests of the club were Mrs. Raymond Grube, Mrs. B. G. Kohler, Mrs. E. W. Frans and Mrs. Fred Anderson.

As a diversion from the usual form of entertainment, Mrs. K. K. Mills, the hostess, took the members of the M. P. G. club to a show at the McDonald theater in Eugene Tuesday. Following the show, a luncheon was served at a grill there. The favors were hand-waxed boxes containing nuts. They were from Mrs. George Proctor, of Klamath Falls, former member of the club. Each box contained a clever verse suited to the member receiving it. This was the last meeting of the club for the season.

Miss Theo Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Smith, of this city, and well known among the younger set of the city, became the bride of Ira F. Barrow, of Drew, Tuesday afternoon at Roseburg. The couple will make their home in Sisson, Calif. Those from here who attended the wedding were Ned Smith, the bride's brother, Miss Fannie Young and Mrs. Murry Trunnell.

Mrs. Albert C. Woodard, Mrs. John Baker and Mrs. L. L. Woolley were hostesses yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Methodist ladies' aid society. A shower was held for Mrs. J. H. Ebert, one of the members, who is the mother of a daughter born Sunday. Pink sweets and roses were the artistic decorations of the rooms and table. Dainty refreshments were served.

The week just passed was an unusually quiet one in society. With the warm weather oppressive the regular clubs are disbanding for the summer and picnics and swimming parties are in favor.
