KITCHEN CUPBOARD

Cold Weather Soups

WITH a can of clams one may have a most nourishing chowder with the following ingredients: Clam Chowder.—Take a three-inch-square bit of salt pork; cut it into half-inch dice and fry in the chowder kettle until crisp and brown; add three small onions, sliced; cook them in the hot fat until a light yellow, then add half a dozen medium-sized potatoes, sliced; cover with boiling water and cook until the vegetables are well done. Add a can of clams, liquor and all, with one quart of rich milk; bring to the boiling point; season well and serve with crackers.

Parson Chowder.—Dice one-quarter pound of fat salt pork and place in a chowder kettle. Add one onion, thinly sliced and fried to a golden brown. Add two cupfuls of diced potatoes and two cupfuls of parsnips, also diced, both uncooked; two and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful each of paprika and celery salt, one eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper, three cupfuls of boiling water. Simmer until the parsnips are tender; add three tablespoonfuls of butter and one quart of scalding hot milk. Serve with toasted crackers.

Red Beet Soup.—Take three pounds of the skin of beef. Wipe the meat and cut the lean part into cubes. Place in a soup kettle together with three quarts of boiling water, three onions, sliced thin, one teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of allspice, one-half cupful of vinegar, one-half cupful of sugar and six medium-sized beets that have been boiled ten minutes, then skinned and grated. Cook for two and one-half hours, adding more water, if necessary. Strain and serve hot with boiled potatoes.

Hot Cheese Sandwiches.—Butter slices of bread and lay on thin slices of rich cheese, enough to cover. Cover with another slice of buttered bread and saute in a little butter in a hot frying pan or brown in the oven. Serve hot.

English Cathedrals Go Far Back in History

The great cathedrals of England in many instances replace former edifices that were erected by the early Christians, who formed part of the ancient British church, and which were later destroyed by fire or otherwise, a writer in the Montreal Family Herald relates. For instance, Canterbury cathedral was first built in 605, on the site of an old church dating from very early ages. It was destroyed by fire in 1067, and Archbishop Langfanc, on taking office in 1070, undertook the rebuilding of an entirely new church. This lasted until about 1190, when under Anselm, Langfanc's successor, Erulf rebuilt the eastern part. A fire destroyed most of the portion of the building in 1174, and from that year William of Sens took up the work of rebuilding until 1178, when, on his suffering severe injury by falling from a scaffold, another William, commonly distinguished as "the Englishman," carried on the work and completed it in 1184. Many alterations and changes have been made during the ensuing centuries. I might mention that as early as 908, Theodore of Tarsus, of the city of St. Paul, was elected archbishop of Canterbury, not appointed, both the king of Northumbria and the king of Kent acquiescing in his election. He was the first archbishop to receive the allegiance of the whole of the English church.

The First National Bank of Cottage Grove

A long winded speaker at a banquet had been going for an hour. As he iterated and reiterated, the members of the audience became restless. The chairman felt that it was up to him to take heroic measures to bring the address to a close. He slammed his gavel but the speaker did not pause. He waited a few moments and prepared to bring the gavel down again. In so doing he stretched his arm so far backward that the gavel struck on the head of the man in the seat behind the chairman and the injured man fell to the floor, but the speaker was not disturbed. The chairman gave his attention to the injured man. Worriedly he asked, "How are you, Bill?" "Hit me again," was the response, "I can still hear him a little."
