SMITH-HUGHES INSTRUCTOR SETS STATE RECORD

Night Classes Organized in Rural Districts Get Support Of Farmers of Section.

A record has been established by S. T. White, Smith-Hughes instructor in Cottage Grove high school, who has organized and conducted successfully night schools for farmers in this district, the first time such courses have been successful in the state of Oregon. Residents of the several districts reached by Mr. White have responded well and their enthusiasm is growing, he reports. At a recent night meeting held at Hebron about 75 attended.

The act authorizing night schools in this state for the purpose of bringing to farmers information on modern and scientific methods of farming and allied industries, has been in force several years. Attempts have been made in other communities to organize and conduct such schools, but these trials have always ended in failures. No state appropriation is available for this work at present and Mr. White's time and work is given gratis.

Soils and crops and feeds and feeding are the subjects considered. The lectures take about 40 minutes. A part of the time is devoted to questions and answers and local talent entertainments usually are included in the program. Mr. White has had the assistance of O. S. Fletcher, county agent, and the extension service of Oregon Agricultural college has cooperated. The courses consist of 12 lessons and cover a period of about 24 weeks.

Success of the enterprise demonstrates that the farmers can be organized and held together by subjects of interest to them. Business men of this city have not yet attended any of the meetings, but efforts will be made to secure their attendance.

A regular schedule is followed. Classes are held at Hebron on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, at Creswell on the first and third Thursdays of each month, at Dorena on the first and third Fridays of each month and at Silk creek on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

Stewart to Build Shop.

Schofield Stewart has been granted a permit for the erection of a plumbing shop building on south Seventh street just north of the Seventh street garage. It is to be of steel construction.

Here's one the Office Girls (Leisch Electric company, Genoa, Ill.) contributed:

One of our salesmen walked in the office the other day and our Sales Manager asked "Who let you in?" "Why I came in on a postal card," he said. "Ah, who would spend a cent on you?" "Well, I got tired of expressing myself."

YES, SIR, I AM STRONG FOR EDUCATION! YOUNG FELLOW, DON'T LET ANYBODY TELL YOU THAT EXPERIENCE IS THE ONLY SCHOOL! THE TROUBLE WITH THE SCHOOL OF EXPERIENCE IS THAT BY THE TIME YOU GRADUATE, YOU'RE TOO OLD TO GO TO WORK.

Cities Are Judged By Newspapers

Vernonia Eagle: The first glance at a newspaper tells the reader just what kind of a town that paper is published in. Oregon has many very good papers and the weekly papers are exceptionally good. Three weekly papers now rank very much the same as to appearance, make-up, patronage and contents. Those three are the best weekly papers in Oregon—the Forest Grove News-Times, the Hood River Glacier and either of the McMinnville papers. Eight, ten or twelve pages each week, each page 60 per cent to 100 per cent advertising. The first thing the reader says is, "This must be a good town," and his thoughts are worthy and correct. We have recently visited these towns and we are satisfied that the business men are all more than prosperous and we always find from the larger city to the smallest hamlet that the largest advertiser always does the largest business. Fact the world over.

Fevered Fancy Far Fetched.

Fevered farming in the "famous, fertile, faithful" Willamette valley is wrong. What the people ought to do is to make homes of it. Happy, honorable, horticultural and h agricultural homes especially around Harrisburg.—Harrisburg Bulletin.

NOTE OF REGRET SENT TO EUGENE HIGH

Cottage Grove Student Body Sorry For Painting of Building.

Resolutions were adopted last week by the Cottage Grove high school student body and sent to the Eugene high student body expressing regret that persons, supposedly students of the local school, had defaced property of the Eugene school and had painted the letters "C. G. H. S." on the Eugene building. A letter from Earl Ballew, president of the local student body, also expressed regret for the incident.

Cottage Grove students, before the game with Eugene high here on October 16, had painted their school initials on the sidewalk in front of the Eugene school. Eugene students also painted their initials on the sidewalk of the local school before the game. Neither school offered nor demanded apology for these actions.

Members of local student body stated such actions were condemned as unsportsmanlike by the student body and that retaliation had been carried too far.

WRONG MAN NAMED IN ARREST STORY

Robert Husted Gets Publicity For Acts of William Eusted.

Robert Husted and his mother, Mrs. Lucy Husted, both residents of this city, have been caused considerable embarrassment this week because a news story in The Sentinel Monday stated "Bob Husted" had been arrested in a raid in which Melvin Coyle and Ellis Williams were taken captive. The man arrested and lodged in jail with the two other alleged liquor offenders was William Eusted. Robert Husted, who makes his home here with his mother, was working in Lorane at the time of the arrest.

Klan Displays Big Cross.

A huge electric cross mounted on the oil derrick on the summit of Mount David attracted considerable attention here Monday night. The emblem was visible for several miles and was displayed in connection with a meeting of the Ku Klux Klan, held in this city that evening. The cross will be a permanent fixture on the derrick, it is said. It is understood that a local of the klan is soon to receive a charter.

Filing cards. The Sentinel.

Match-making in Japan is sometimes carried on by means of matrimonial bureaus—regular establishments to which eligible young men and desirable maidens may go, for the purpose of being introduced. This picture taken in a Tokyo matrimonial agency, would seem to indicate that the maidens are a little shy and the men a trifle bored by the ceremony of becoming acquainted.—don't you think?

Woods Goes to Garage To Find Building Wrecked

When W. J. Woods went to his garage at 4 o'clock Saturday morning to get his car and start for Portland he found the door of the garage rammed in and debris piled over the car. He had to get Mrs. Woods to assist him in removing the broken door, after which it was found that the car had sustained injured fenders and bumpers. None of the mechanism had been injured and the trip to Portland was made.

The Woods garage is a part of the Long & Cruson wooden building at the north end of Fifth street. The building stands in what would be the street did the street not come to an end. Mrs. F. W. Hawkins, who resides nearby, reported that at 3 o'clock she heard a car come up the street at a terrific speed and smash into the building. Evidently it failed to make the turn onto Whiteaker avenue and the accident followed. No one else heard the commotion. Evidently the car that caused the damage was not seriously injured and was able to continue on its way. There was no clue as to whose car it was.

Cabbage Head Weighs 27 Pounds

Cabbages have not been injured by the light fall frosts and those on the Taylor place on Row river, operated by George James, are growing to mammoth proportions. One brought to the city Tuesday tipped the scales at 27 pounds. It was firm and perfect in form.

SHINGLE MILL IS COMING

Cottage Grove Manufacturing Company Buys Equipment.

Cottage Grove is to have a shingle mill in operation within two months. The Cottage Grove Manufacturing company has purchased a mill that has been in operation in Washington county and will erect it on the north end of their property. A quantity of shingle bolts has already been cut and placed on the company's property. This will be the first mill of this kind that Cottage Grove has had since pioneer days.

Institute Is Planned.

Prominent speakers will appear on the program of the annual Lane county teachers institute, to be held in the Eugene high school November 12 and 13. A number of interesting and novel features have been planned for the institute, it is said. Matters of school routine, problems confronting the teacher and other educational subjects will be considered.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the auxiliary of the Coast fork local of the Farmers' union. Mrs. L. H. Gilchrist is president of the auxiliary.

O. S. Fletcher, county agent, was in Cottage Grove Friday making arrangements for this meeting and other activities to be carried on by his office. He announced that a demonstration of the use of pyrotol as an explosive will be held at the Clyde Wright farm, six miles north of this city, on November 12 at 1:30. P. E. Price, extension engineer of the Oregon Agricultural college, will assist Mr. Fletcher in showing the use of the powder for blasting stumps and opening ditches. This meeting is one of a series of five arranged for the county.

FIRE AT WIESE CAMP ENDANGERS LOGS

Crew Gets Flames Under Control And Big Loss Averted.

Logs to the quantity of nearly a million feet were endangered by a fire of unknown origin at the Wiese Brothers mill which started Tuesday in the logs themselves. Two donkey engines were endangered but were saved and were used in pulling logs out of the flaming pile. While the actual loss of timber will not be heavy, the expense has been considerable. The flames have been under complete control all the time but it was necessary to close down operations in order to fight them.

Griffith in Auto Accident.

J. R. Griffith, of this city, who is with the circulation department of the Eugene Register, narrowly escaped injuries several days ago when his Ford coupe was wrecked when struck by a Roseburg-Eugene freight truck on the highway near Goshen. The truck went into the ditch and turned over. No one in either car was injured. The driver of the truck assumed full responsibility, Mr. Griffith stated.

Lane Third in Schools.

Lane county spent $1,103,192.90 in conducting public schools in 1924, a recent report of J. A. Churchill, state superintendent, reveals. Only two other counties in the state spent more than a million dollars. Enrollment in this county was 10,495, third largest in the state. Educational costs for the entire state were $20,444,165.96, the report stated, with a total enrollment of 179,342 pupils.

Budget Committee Organizes.

The city budget committee held its organization meeting Monday night. G. O. Knowles, mayor, was elected chairman and W. H. Daugherty secretary. Aldermen Worth Harvey and W. E. Lebow and R. E. Walker were appointed a sub-committee to prepare a tentative budget to be presented to the next meeting of the entire committee, to be held Tuesday evening.

Fire Tile Industry Is Possibility

A possible industry for the new Chambers railway is one to make use of the large deposits of clay that have been opened during the work of excavation. The Sentinel recently sent to the bureau of mines of Oregon Agricultural college a sample from one of the deposits and the report from there is that it may be a fire clay. The bureau hasn't the equipment with which to make a positive analysis. The clay, when taken from a cut made in making the grade for the railway, seemed to have some of the qualities of soap and lathered when rubbed in the hands. Mr. Chambers is not at all excited over the possibility of great industrial plants along his line.

PRIZES ARE OFFERED IN ESSAY CONTEST

Oregon Historical Society Selects Subject for Competition.

"The Missionary Movement to the Oregon Country," is the subject selected by the Oregon Historical society for the 1926 C. C. Beekman history prizes and medals. Four prizes will be awarded as follows: $60, $50, $40 and $30. These will be awarded to the best four essays written on the subject by girls or boys over 16 and under 18 and attending any school, public or private, in the state. Each winner also will receive a bronze medal.

Seven conditions govern the competition. Briefly they are as follows: Essays must not exceed 2000 words, essays may be either typed or written, on one side of paper, separate sheet with name and address shall accompany essay, certificate of teacher of school also shall accompany paper, closing time for sending in essays is March 15, 1926. Information on the contest may be obtained from the Oregon State Historical society, Public Auditorium, Portland.

Scrutinizing Committee Appointed.

The chamber of commerce has appointed a committee the duties of which are to scrutinize all charities and projects for which contributions are asked from members of the chamber of commerce and business interests of the city. The idea is that contributions shall be refused until a permit to solicit is secured from this committee, the members of which are Elbert Bede, A. W. Helliwell and C. E. Stewart.

Water Superintendent Considered.

The water committee of the council has not yet made a selection for water collector, which position Homer Galloway has resigned. The possibility of employing a man to give his entire time to the water business is being considered. It has been pointed out that no other business of equal magnitude in the city is being operated without some person in direct charge. Under the present system responsibility is divided among Water Commissioner Pitcher, the water collector, the water committee of the council and the whole council.

Stills Are Destroyed.

Fifteen moonshine stills, collected by members of the Lane county sheriff's staff during several months past, were destroyed Tuesday at the court house in Eugene and the remains hauled away to be sold as junk. The largest still was a 200 gallon affair taken about a year ago on the McKenzie river and the smallest one had been made from a copper fire extinguisher. Employees of the sheriff's office made sure the equipment could not be used again for making liquor before they sent it away to be sold.

Ellsworth Mill May Resume.

The Ellsworth mill, which became involved in financial difficulties this week, probably will resume within a month or two, according to plans of the owners, E. E. Ellsworth and Harrison Ellsworth. It is believed that a method of settlement with the creditors has been arranged that will prove satisfactory. About 40 men were employed.
