Lewis Fined for Assault. Clay Lewis, a resident of the city for a year, was fined $50 and costs in the court of Justice of Peace Young Saturday upon a charge of assault preferred by Mrs. M. V. Phillips, proprietor of the Gray Goose. It was alleged that Mr. Lewis tried to take by force some personal property of his which was being held as security for a bill and that two employees were injured in the attempt to hold the property. As he was unable to pay the fine, Lewis was taken to the county jail. It was reported this forenoon that the fine had been paid and that he had been released.

The Sentinel

Senatorial Candidate Here. James J. Crossley, candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator to succeed Senator Stanfield, was a Cottage Grove visitor Saturday. Mr. Crossley served in five sessions of the Iowa state senate and also served six and a half years as U. S. attorney under Roosevelt and Taft. He is a Portland attorney. Crossley served on the Mexican border and overseas in the world war. For that reason he probably will gain the support of many ex-service men.

Judicious Advertising Pays

Newspaper Advertising Makes Big Stores Out of Little Ones.

The Plural of Cosmos. The spelling of the plural of cosmos (a flower) as it appeared in The Sentinel recently, has caused considerable comment, for which reason The Sentinel makes the explanation that in general usage the plural is the same as the singular.

Dry Spell Is Broken. The long unusual dry spell was broken by a light rainfall Sunday night and today. Indications are that the rain will continue a day or two. The Willamette river is at the lowest stage in its history and considerable rainfall will be needed to bring the waters up to their usual level.

Always Give the Home Print Shop the First Chance

These Sadder Days. On the whole, these are much sadder ages than the early ones; not sadder in a noble and deep way—the way of genius, and fabled intellect, and uncomformableness of soul and body. Not that we are without festivity, but festivity more or less forced, mistaken, embittered, incomplete, not of the heart. And the profoundest reason of this darkness of heart is, I believe, our want of faith.—Ruskin.

Ample. Veterinarian—He's too fat, madam, that's what wrong with the dog. He doesn't get enough exercise. Lady—Oh, but he does. I'm sure he does—he goes out every day with me in the motor.

NEW STYLE OF STREET LIGHT IS SHOWN

Pole System May Replace Lamps Now in Use on Main Street.

As a demonstration of how the pole type lamp would appear the Mountain States Power company last week erected one of the late type lamps in front of its office on Main street. The globe, which contains a 200 watt lamp, surmounts a 12 foot pressure steel column, mounted on a cast iron base. The company will erect another pole of a different type in the near future.

The city council has under consideration supplanting the present lighting system on Main street with the new type lamps. Under the system proposed, three lights would be installed on each side of each block, making a total of 36 lights between the bridge and the Southern Pacific station.

NOTICE. We wish to thank all those who helped Saturday and Monday in the completion of the new road to the Sears cemetery. W. D. Van Schoek, Warren Kelly, Brison Sears.

Not Even One Honest Man in French Village

Just as New England has its stories of wooden nutmegs, so France has certain classics revealing the tendency of her countrymen to save pennies now and then at the expense of their fellows.

One of the best concerns a popular village priest. The villagers voted amid great enthusiasm to give him a barrel of their best wine for his birthday. Each of the wine growers was to bring a bottle and empty it into the barrel.

On the appointed day peasant after peasant marched up to the barrel, enlorged the priest, and plunging the nozzle of his green bottle through the bung-hole poured its gurgling contents within.

When the last contribution had been made the chairman of the committee made an even longer speech of praise, and drew from the barrel to drink the health of the priest.

To the astonishment of everybody, the glass contained only clear water. Each farmer had assumed that the others would bring the wine.

Speed Contests That Are Not on Record

An exciting contest took place recently between a motorcycle and an express train along the 500 miles between Sydney and Brisbane, Australia. The lone cyclist won, reaching his destination 30 minutes before the train. A kangaroo raced a train in Australia, keeping alongside the locomotive for three miles, according to Tit-Bits.

Perhaps the most grotesque railway race has been on occasions when members of the crews have had to race their own trains, after having signaled the train to proceed and then being unable to board any of the cars. One man in England gave the "right away" signal and then found the train had gathered speed so quickly that he was unable to board it.

His absence was not discovered until the next station was reached. After several minutes the guard was seen sprinting after the train. He lost the race by 11 minutes. Another guard missed his train, but pursued it on a motorcycle which he commandeered.

Dig Up Martyrs of 1684

An ancient coffin was recently unearthed in the Townend district of Glasgow which contained the skeletonized remains of a man. The coffin was found some 15 feet behind the well-known Martyrs' monument, which fronts Castle street, a circumstance that gave rise to the theory that the remains were those of one of the three men—James Nisbet, James Lawson and Alexander Wood—who were martyred in 1684. The excavation process has disclosed only one grave, and it is suggested that the remains may be buried near the monument erected in 1818 and renewed in 1862. The three martyrs commemorated by the monument were apparently originally laid to rest in a piece of ground now of triangular shape situated behind James Nisbet street, but no longer marked as a spot of sanctity or sepulcher.—London Mail.

Eruption of Mount Pelee

Mount Pelee is an active volcano on the northwest side of Martinique, an island in the West Indies belonging to France. Notable eruptions of Mt. Pelee occurred in 1762, 1851, 1902 and 1906. During the eruption of May 8, 1902, a giant rock 1,000 feet high was forced out through the crater dome. The town of St. Pierre was completely destroyed and between 25,000 and 30,000 people were killed. In the fall of the same year another eruption partly destroyed Torne Longue and killed about 2,000 people.—Pathfinder Magazine.
