TOO MUCH UP-TO-DATENESS.

A great many young folks, as well as some older ones, seem to have the idea that politeness is the sign of a mollycoddle, that it is effeminate, or something of that sort—at least, that it need have no prominent part in modern life. This question having been settled by the young people themselves, who should know more about it than anyone else, it is rather odd to note that it is the back number who gets through life with the best jobs and gets through life with the least trouble. Old-fashioned employers, for no known reason, certainly, for no good one, prefer the young person who is courteous, even when being so means being scoffed at by others. Old-fashioned employers, again with no known or good reason, prefer the young person who seems to have little time to spend on the streets and who seems to have some useful way of employing his time.

Even the lad who has learned to a nicety the exact angle at which to pop a cigarette seems not to be as popular with the man who keeps up the payroll as the lad who is less polished in that particular and is way behind the times in many modern attainments. It is hard sometimes not to yield to the taunts of friends and companions, but this inconvenience is overcome by the greater ease with which the boy who resists the tendency towards rudeness and insolence "arrives" in his battle with the world.

LEGS AND LEGS.

We have to do something with our legs. We don't use them much for walking. Short skirts arrived just in time for the girls, but what shall we do for the men?—Cottage Grove Sentinel.

Well, Elbert, having seen your legs we appreciate the quandary you are in. We would have had a delicate hesitancy in mentioning the matter had you not thus publicly asked for assistance and, since you do, we suggest two or three things that might help. For instance, while you have altogether too much of them, yet, rather than cut them off, we suggest you do your best to make them less conspicuous. For instance, you might have them straightened. Jack had his nose fixed up and no doubt you could do as much for your legs, for, regardless of how despondent you may feel about them, they are no crookier than Dempsey's nose. When you do not wear a beach costume and when you remain seated and wrap them around your chair out of the way, they are not so noticeable. While it is true that women have solved the problem as you say, yet the men are not so far behind. Frinstance, if you would get a pair of these new 26-inch bottom trousers, people would forget your legs. They would think you were a balloon about to ascend and the improvement would be noticed by everyone.—Corvallis Gazette-Times.

Despite this disparagement of our legs, we are rather attached to them and they are slightly attached to us. They may not be much to look at, as Claude avers, but they have ever attended to our welfare and have kept us out of much trouble. Often we have been jealous of Claude as he brazenly exposed his virgin beauty in a bathing suit, but we have the satisfaction of feeling that it is far better to be deformed below than above. Claude has shapely legs.

"What has posterity done for us?" the cynic asks. Given us hope.—Eugene Register.

In view of the fact that the greater part of our posterity has not yet been born, it is not reasonable to expect it to have done much for us.

Good Things in Season

FOR a hot dish at night after a chilly ride try the two following recipes:

Hot Chicken Salad.—Mix one pint of chicken, cut in cubes, with one cupful of cooked peas, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of onion juice, one pimento, cut into squares, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, and set aside one hour to season. Make a sauce of one-quarter of a cupful of butter, one-quarter cupful of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, a cupful each of cream and chicken broth. Add the seasoned ingredients and let stand over hot water to become very hot. This is good served from the chafing dish.

Deviled Oysters.—Cream an ounce of butter (two tablespoonfuls) with two tablespoonfuls of grated hard cheese (Parmesan) and mix with one tablespoonful of flour. Stir the mixture into one-half cupful of hot cream and cook, until thick, in a small saucepan. Add six mushrooms, broiled and chopped, one tablespoonful of grated horseradish, one pint of oysters, and stir over the heat until the shells crackle. Add one teaspoonful of tabasco sauce and serve at once on hot toast. Lessen the amount of sauce if hot foods are not agreeable.

Mathew's Oyster Soup.—Place one quart of oysters and liquor in a saucepan and cook gently for five minutes; strain and return the liquor to the saucepan. Bring to a boil and skim. Beat one egg and add one pint of milk slowly, mix well, add the oyster liquor and bring to the scalding point. Meanwhile cream together two tablespoonfuls of flour and the same of butter, thin with a little cold milk and add to the hot mixture; stir and cook; add the oysters, salt and pepper and serve at once.

A few peas cooked with finely diced carrots will make a good vegetable dish when served with drawn butter sauce or a white sauce.

Society

Miss Esther Silaby was hostess Thursday afternoon to the Social Twelve and several additional guests. A novel entertainment, planned by the hostess, was the feature of the afternoon. Placards in the reception hall announced a Thanksgiving excursion through scenic Oregon. Each guest was given a ticket and ushered into the living room, which was designated as the "trackless train." Conductor Elizabeth Mills had charge of the observation car, Pauline Nelson as the news vendor tempted the passengers with an assortment of the wares of the "peanut butcher," and Lucille Titus was train announcer. The trip was conducted over the Columbia highway, thence to Bend, to Crater Lake, the Oregon caves, Lithia park and return via the Roosevelt highway. Delays caused in purchasing tickets caused much amusement. Each guest was given a box luncheon at the end of the trip.

The Utopia club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. F. L. Grannis. The afternoon was devoted to fancy work and social conversation, after which a tempting luncheon was served. A basket of yellow chrysanthemums centered the table and attractive Thanksgiving place cards were used. The next meeting will be the Christmas party at the home of Mrs. A. A. Richmond.

Officers for the new year were elected Friday night by the Rebekah lodge. They follow: Noble grand, Mrs. Lena Sears; secretary, Mrs. Clara Stevens; recording secretary, Mrs. Eliza Fulmer; past noble grand, Mrs. George Currie; treasurer, Mrs. Eva Hatch. Installation will be held some time in January.

Tanglefoot club will give a carnival dance tomorrow night in Phillips hall. The committee is composed of Mrs. Victor Kem, Mrs. William Bartels, Mrs. W. M. Hall, Mrs. George Scott, Mrs. W. J. Woods, Mrs. K. K. Mills and Mrs. A. C. Jewell.

Mrs. W. E. Lebow was hostess Friday evening to the Joker club. Her mother, Mrs. J. C. Johnson, was a special guest. The house was artistically decorated with white chrysanthemums. After a pleasant evening of five hundred a dainty supper was served.

Mrs. C. E. Umphrey, Mrs. J. H. Chambers, Mrs. B. R. Job, Mrs. Charles Adams and Mrs. H. W. Titus went to Eugene Friday to attend a luncheon for clubs of Lane county affiliated with the state federation.

About 30 young persons attended a business session and social given Friday night in the Christian church by the Christian Endeavor. Plans were made for a watch party to be held New Year's eve.

Members of the Choral club enjoyed a party at the Arcade theater Friday night, after which they went to the home of Miss Daisy Bennett for a business meeting. Miss Helen Miranda was elected a member of the club.

The Elmarts club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Ivan Warner.

Eleven Crippled by Loss of Four Men Loses to Lebanon.

Crippled by the loss of four lettermen, Cottage Grove high eleven was defeated Saturday afternoon 13 to 0 by Lebanon high in Lebanon. Lebanon made both scores in the first quarter. After that Cottage Grove stiffened its defense and Lebanon was unable to advance the ball.

The first touchdown was made on a fumbled punt which was recovered by a Lebanon player. The second score was made by a series of forward passes and end runs. Cottage Grove outgained and outplayed Lebanon during the remainder of the game, which ended with the ball in Cottage Grove's possession on Lebanon's 40 yard line.

Oregon will get the benefit of nearly $1,250,000 of federal money for forest roads and trails during the fiscal year 1926, according to announcement last week of the United States forest service. With $168,802 from the 25 per cent road and school fund the total available will be nearly $1,500,000, compared with $675,216 obtained last year by the government from sales of timber, grazing fees and other sources from the 14 national forests in the state.

Oregon has received nearly one eighth of the total appropriation for the entire country since the road and trails funds were established and ranks second of 32 states participating. The grand total received is $7,755,490.
