Teal Duck Swiftest of All Flying Things

An old controversy hangs around the subject of the fastest bird. The prize used to belong, at least in the opinion of sportsmen, to that little and most typical duck, the teal. So far as I have been able to collate the evidence and compare it with personal experience, the very fastest birds belong to the classes which come between the gulls and ducks.

The peregrine falcons and some of the swifts compete for the head of the list; and it is worth notice that the swifts, which people in general class with the swallow tribe, thanks to several real and obvious likenesses, are put by the classifiers as cousins of the hawks. However this may be, it remains that the ducks attain a dazzling speed and can defy the wind better than any bird that flies, though their momentum exaggerates their difficulty in changing direction.

But so much depends on the engine that when it is in the least out of gear, when it is not tuned up, as happens at the early moult, they cannot fly at all; they become into the state of their primeval ancestors.—Sir W. Bech Thomas in the Atlantic Monthly

All Out Of Sorts?

So Was This Cottage Grove Woman Who Tells Her Experience.

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Cottage Grove case is one of many:

Mrs. J. W. Clark, south Second street says: "My kidneys were in bad condition and I suffered with a continual dull nagging backache. I had no energy and became run down. I also had spells of headaches and my kidneys acted irregularly. Doan's Pills helped me wonderfully, strengthening my back and kidneys and benefiting me generally."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Clark had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Figures Were Not There. The class had been told to draw a picture of a river with two figures sitting on the bank. Going round the class the teacher came to a boy who had finished his drawing. She looked at his paper and was surprised to find only a river. "Why, Jack?" she said, "Where are the two people I told you to draw?"

"Well you see, miss," he answered, "I'm not very good at drawing people so I put up a notice: 'Trespassers will be prosecuted.'"

First Steno—"The idea of your working steady eight hours a day. I would not think of such a thing!"

Second Steno—"Neither would I. It was the boss that thought of it."

IN A BLAZE OF TRIUMPH

Never again will people witness such a splendid race for a prize well worth while. Never again will people have an opportunity to back a genuine, honest-to-goodness entry of thoroughbred, never-say-die contestants.

Never a word of dissatisfaction, never a whimper of defeat—just whip-and-spur, bull-dogged persistence, the like of which has made immortals of statesmen, heroes of soldiers and crowned victors with laurels of success since time was inaugurated.
