Life of St. Patrick Reviewed.

A review of the life of St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland, was given before the Masonic lodge Wednesday evening by Professor Frederic S. Dunn, of Eugene. St. Patrick had no connection with early Masonry, but the occasion was chosen to be March 17, the day that the green and shamrock are worn in honor of the old saint. Mr. Dunn is also deputy grand master and made his visit an official one. Refreshments were served following the business session and a number of impromptu addresses were given around the banquet board.

Gypsies Rob Slaughter House. Gypsies who passed through the city Tuesday evening are suspected of having taken a quantity of hides and other articles from the Bartels slaughter house north of the city. The theft was not discovered until the following morning. Mr. Bartels and Deputy Sheriff Piche went north in search of the band and found that they had camped at Goshen overnight but were unable to learn what had become of them following their departure from there.

CUSTOM TAILORING
The Emblem of Quality

The time honored craft that typifies the highest quality and respect in clothes making has always stood on its own reputation. It should not be expected to carry a burden that cannot stand on its own legs.

A man whose clothes are custom tailored has no apologies to make for his appearance, nor does he find it necessary to "slide into the rear seat."

Custom tailored clothes are recognized for their superior values. An article of merit often has many imitations. And that is why the name of "tailoring" has been garbled and applied to clothes unworthy of its good name.

A man's social and business standing is largely judged by his clothes. Clothes made to fit you perfectly, of high grade material and the best of workmanship are the kind you have been looking for, and these I guarantee to give you.
