LOVED DAD ANYWAY.

A short time ago we heard the following conversation between a visitor at a neighbor's home and the neighbor's three-year-old daughter:

"Do you love your mama?"

"Yes."

"Do you love your papa?"

"Yes."

"Do you love your papa as much as you do your mama?"

"Yes."

"Except when he spans you?"

And the little curly-headed golden-haired tot frankly admitted:

"I love him even when he spans me."

There was a whole sermon in that reply.

Evidently daddy found it necessary to chastise once in a while.

A child that didn't need any punishment would be too good for this world.

But quite as evidently this dad must have a hold upon his little babe's affections that even a spanking cannot shake.

Undoubtedly he takes pleasure in bouncing her on his knee, in getting her to smile him, in getting her to see how hard she can squeeze. Perhaps he puts her to bed at night. Perhaps he repeats her little prayer to her.

Anyway he has her love and affection and he would not have it if his love was only shown in administering spankings.

Any parent should be content with life if he knew that when he should take his place in the city of the dead, an inscription could be carved upon the marble above truthfully saying: "He so loved that his children loved him even when he chastised."

When a young man starts sowing his wild oats, his parents should see that they are thoroughly thrashed out.

Usually it isn't until after a man and a woman are hitched that they find that they don't hitch.

If time is money, there are some terrible spendthrifts in this old world.

The foot that rocks the cradle isn't encased in high heeled pumps.

PEDIGREE OF OVIS POLI

What is this ovis poli? A new Charleston step that the Roosevelts brought back from Africa?—Cottage Grove Sentinel

Not at all. These words is latin, "ovis" meaning "oval" and "poli" coming from "polus" meaning "polecat," hence the term "circular polecat."

Our esteemed contemporary, However, is partly right—it makes one step around some to capture the "ovis poli," which, by the way, were christened by the well known theatrical magnate, Marcus Polo, who also invented shiny on horseback. He came from Poland and was a distant relative of Pola Negri.

—Corvallis Gazette-Times.

Wrong—both wrong. The only relationship between the ovis poli and the Charleston is that the ovis poli is a goat and the Charleston is a goat-getter—for beginners. At least. As for Markovitch (not Marcus) Polo, he could not have invented the game which bears his name, because at the time of his theatrical tour of Poland, Oregon Agricultural college itself had not been established, much less its course in polo. Newspapers ought to be more careful concerning the soundness of information they give to their readers.—Eugene Guard.

DUTCHESS TROUSERS

10¢ a Button; $1.00 a Rip

Your BEST trousers

THAT tyrant, Style, decrees that men who want to be fashionably dressed are to wear a dark sack coat with striped trousers of a lighter shade.

And never was a more sensible style. Nearly every man has one or more coats that are good but they hang in the closet because the trousers are worn out. By selecting a pair of Dutchess Trousers you complete a suit that is in the height of fashion.

Cut full on the very latest lines, we can assure you a fit in Dutchess Trousers that would make a custom tailor envious.

And whether it is for dress or for work or for play every pair of Dutchess Trousers is made to give long honest wear. They have to be to live up to their maker's famous warranty of "10¢ a Button; $1.00 a Rip."

Be smart in both senses of the word and come in for your pair of Dutchess Dress Trousers.

Barnard Is to Be Opposed.

John H. Bower, attorney-farmer of Eugene, has filed his declaration of candidacy for nomination for county judge and will oppose C. P. Barnard, incumbent, for the republican nomination at the May primaries. Bower proposes reduction of tax burden, especially for the farmer, declaring that farm lands bear too heavy a load.

Fears for Democrats.

Carl A. Rasch, a former well-known resident of this section, writes that he is again back at Redmond, Ore. He does not say where he has been but he does say that he will be pleased to receive the old home town paper if it will promise not to kill off all the democrats before election.

JOHN BARRUMORE

The Sea Beast

Critics Are Unanimous!

From the New York Daily Newspapers:

TELEGRAM—(Frank Vreeland)—The picture is greater than "Down to the Sea in Ships" and it is one of the finest seascapes on record. You can't afford to miss seeing John Barrymore.

THE EVENING SUN—(John S. Cohen, Jr.)—Mr. Barrymore makes his one and only appearance of the season in the film at Warners which is a pity, for he gives us an entertaining, showing display of effective screen acting and the season being what it is, another exhibition of his pictorial fire-works would come as a welcome addition.

AMERICAN—(Eileen Creelman)—If you like red-blooded adventure you'll enjoy "The Sea Beast." John Barrymore has never seemed so human before.

THE EVENING WORLD—(Palmer Smith)—A tense melodrama of the sea affording John Barrymore opportunity to revive and vary his "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in the more picturesque surroundings of the whaling industry.

HERALD-TRIBUNE—(Harriette Underhill)—"The Sea Beast" is a magnificent production. It is so big.

THE MIRROR—(Dorothy Herzog)—You will be thrilled by this photoplay.

MORNING TELEGRAPH—(Norbert Lusk)—It should be seen by every serious follower of the screen, and will undoubtedly crowd the theater for weeks to come.

NEWS—(Julia Harpman)—You may spend all the praises at your command and still feel that you haven't done the piece more than half justice.
