

Birdlike.
 "You used to tell me I was bird-like," complained the fond wife. The brutal husband continued to bury his nose in the paper.
 "You used to tell me I was bird-like," repeated the fond wife, "but now you never act as if you thought so."
 "You're still birdlike," growled the brutal husband.
 "One wouldn't think you still thought so, to judge by—"
 "Isn't a parrot a bird?"

African Chief Gave Name to Zulu Tribe
 The name "Zulu," which means "sky," was, not further back than a hundred years, confined to a small and insignificant tribe, occupying that part of the White Umfolozi valley which falls between the Mahlatatna magistracy on the north and that of Melmoth on the south, according to Adventure Magazine. Zulu, son of a certain Malandela, flourished in Zululand probably during the sixteenth century. This son is said to have quarreled with his elder brother Qwabe, who took exception to the former being presented by his mother with a certain white ox, with the result that Zulu left with his followers to occupy the White Umfolozi valley, while Qwabe went to live nearer the coast on the south side of the Umhlatuze river and in what is known as the Eshowe district. It was with the help of the chief of the Mtotwa tribe that Tshaka, who was not the proper heir, became chief of the Zulu tribe. No sooner did he become chief than he began to build up an extraordinary military organization, and to attempt what had never been attempted before, namely, to fuse the various tribes into a nation.

Society

Mrs. M. P. Garoutte, Mrs. Earl Hill, Mrs. J. P. Currin, Mrs. Anna Gowdy, Mrs. Ida Roberts and Mrs. O. W. Blackmore were hostesses Wednesday afternoon to the Presbyterian ladies' aid society in the church parlors. A short business meeting was held at which Mrs. B. R. Job and Mrs. Earl Hill were appointed captains of the teams for the annual experience social to be held in October.

The afternoon was spent with various guessing contests. More than 30 were present. The rooms were attractive with spring flowers and delicious refreshments were served.

Members of the high school girls' glee club who took part in the operetta, "The Feast of the Little Lanterns," entertained Monday evening with a 7 o'clock dinner at the Gray Goose. Honor guests were Iva Wood Brune, Myrtle Kem and Joy Johnson, who had directed and assisted in the production of the operetta. The honor guests were presented with bouquets of cut flowers. The hostesses wore their stage costumes. A line party was held at the Arcade theater following the dinner.

A no-hostess party was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grube. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Lasswell, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Holliswell, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Koehler and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kem. The evening was spent with cards. Attractive baskets of roses and amiragons were used as room decorations. Delicious refreshments were served.

The Royal Neighbors entertained with a social evening Wednesday following their regular meeting. The degree team from the Eugene lodge put on the initiatory work for three candidates. About 50 guests were present from the Eugene and Springfield lodges. A pantomime, "The Lamp Went Out," was given as part of the social program. A delicious luncheon was served.

The Lacomus club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. Miller. Needlework was the afternoon's diversion. A blue color scheme was used in the decorations. Wild lupin were the decorations for the living room. The tea table was attractive with a blue bowl of delphiniums and blue candles placed on each side. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. Merville Veatch entertained the Elmartes club Tuesday afternoon with a picnic up Mosby creek. Additional guests of the club were Mrs. Charles Bussey, Mrs. W. A. Garoutte, Mrs. Georg Pjorset, Mrs. Robert Thomas and Mrs. A. W. Swanson. A delicious supper was served.

Mrs. T. A. McGinnis was hostess Wednesday afternoon to the ladies' aid society of the Baptist church. The afternoon was devoted to business and plans were made for a cooked food sale to be given this Saturday.

The officers of the Constellation club, Mrs. S. L. Godard, Mrs. Hiram Griggs and Mrs. Merville Veatch, entertained the club members this afternoon at Masonic hall. Annual election of officers was held.

Mrs. Nelson Durham and Mrs. Andrew Brund will be hostesses Monday afternoon in Masonic hall to the Past Matrons club.

UNITED STORES

How We Do It

Twenty-one men do the buying for Skaggs 404 stores and markets. If each of these units were separately owned and operated, there would be 404 buyers devoting an average of say two hours a day to buying. At only $1 an hour for the merchant's time, the Skaggs method saves consumers in the districts they serve, on this one item alone, more than $100,000 annually.

Then think of the saving in manufacturers' and wholesalers' expense. Instead of calling on 404 widely scattered stores, their salesmen call on 21 centrally located offices. The saving in traveling expenses, salaries, etc., totals another huge figure, which is passed on to us and through us to you. Another reason for Skaggs better values.
