The engagement of Miss Violet Reed, daughter of W. F. Reed of Eugene, and Norval Arnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Arnes of this city, was announced Monday evening at a dinner at the Sigma Beta Phi sorority at University of Oregon. The announcements were contained in the favors which were tiny teddy bears holding violets in the petals of which were miniature heart-shaped pictures. The centerpiece was a doll bride and a teddy bear groom, banked with violets and roses. Norval Arnes is a junior at Oregon Agricultural college and is a popular member of the younger set here. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

The Research club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the library. Mrs. D. D. Roberts, the club's delegate to the state convention of Women's clubs, gave a report on the convention, outlining the lectures, entertainment and plans for home and civic improvement. James Lane Allen's "A Kentucky Cardinal" was the book studied and Mrs. Quigley was program leader. Each member responded to roll call by reading a passage of the book that appealed to her. Mrs. Van Osdel gave a biography of the author.

As the book contains much concerning birds the rest of the program was devoted to bird study. Mrs. Roberts read a paper on Audubon, famous American ornithologist. Papers giving the description, habits and calls of various birds were given. Those taking part and their subjects were: Mrs. Mendenhall, the red cardinal; Mrs. White, the grosbeak; Mrs. Forbes, the blue jay; Mrs. Baker, the Baltimore oriole; Mrs. Bosley, the house wren; Mrs. Power, the mocking bird; Mrs. Van Osdel, the brown thrush.

Hemenway-Johnson.

Miss Martha Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fraser Johnson of Portland, and Rosecoe Hemenway, of Portland, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hemenway of this city, were married Monday evening in the Westminster Presbyterian church, Portland, Dr. E. H. Pence officiating. The altar was banked with peonies and had a background of palms. The bride wore a gown of white mirror satin and a veil of princess lace that fell from a shirred cap caught with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, roses, orchids and sweet peas. Miss Marian Clancy of Louisville, Ky., was maid of honor and Miss Dorothy Dant, Miss Ardis Veleh and Miss Helen Darling were bridesmaids. The bride's sisters, little Alice and Betty Ann Johnson, were flower girls. Willard Wells was best man and ushers were Nelson English, Clarence Brazill, Robert Somerville, George Senenich and Frederick Lewis. Following the ceremony a large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hemenway will return to Portland to make their home.

Where Name Gamaliel Occurs in the Bible

Two men by the name of Gamaliel are spoken of in the Bible. The periods in which they lived were widely separated. The name of the first is found in Numbers 1:10. He was the son of Pedasur, a prince or captain of the tribe of Manasseh, and he is here mentioned in connection with the census of Sinai. He is again mentioned in chapters 2:20, 7:54 and 10:23, the latter reference being to Gamaliel as captain of the Tribe of Manasseh at the starting of the Israelites on their march through the wilderness. The second Gamaliel was a Pharisee and celebrated doctor of the law, who gave sound worldly advice to the Sanhedrin respecting the treatment of the followers of our Lord. This will be found in Acts 5:34. It is also learned from 22:3 that he was the teacher of St. Paul when the latter was a young man zealously devoted to Judaism. He is generally identified with the very celebrated Jewish doctor, Gamaliel, who was the son of Rabbi Simeon, and grandson of the celebrated Hillel. He was president of the Sanhedrin, the great council of the Jews, during the reigns of the Roman emperors Tiberius, Caligula and Claudius.

Blood Analysis Helps Doctor in Diagnosis

The doctor who used to feel his patient's pulse or gaze into a gaping mouth to determine the cause of illness nowadays takes a drop of blood to analyze. The guilt for much of human suffering has been traced to the germs, tiny but deadly, which force their entrance into the human body, and which can only be detected by such analysis. "Blood tests provide us with clues to an ever-growing number of ailments," said a doctor to the writer.

"It is being found, for instance, that eye complaints are often due to the absorption of germs which have affected other parts of the body, such as the tonsils. We can often detect them by testing the blood.

"Many cases of illness are due to something taken in from without—usually microscopic germs. More and more of these germs are becoming known to us every day. There is reason to believe that the origins of other diseases which are still unknown may be found in the same cause."

From Pirate to King

The discovery of the Indians who speak Elizabethan English is one of the strangest travelers' stories ever heard in these days. It is not, however, quite unique, for the late Mr. Cecil Sharp found in the Alleghenies numerous communities of English folk whose language, appearance and customs dated from the end of the Seventeenth century, and who had preserved a large number of English folk-songs that are no longer to be heard in the mother country.

Nor were private communities of the kind set up by Benjamin Sharp and his crew altogether unique, for we possess records of the famous English pirate, John Plalntain, who, having begun his career of crime in the West Indies, founded a state on Madagascar of which he conquered a considerable part.

Study of Revelations

The Book of Enoch is an apocryphal book, first mentioned in the Epistle of Jude 14-15 and quoted by Clement of Alexandria, Origen and Tertullian. It purports to be a series of revelations of God made to Enoch and gives a history of the kingdom of God and the secret origin of laws of nature. It was much quoted in Jewish and Christian writings during the first five centuries after Christ; but disappeared with the exception of a few fragments about 800 A. D. The book furnishes information concerning Jewish theology and speculation during the centuries immediately preceding the Christian era.—Kansas City Star.

Thought in Lower Animals

Just as the monkey or orang-utan behave and think precisely as men do, so we find many animals, birds and insects thinking, and it is this capacity to benefit by the teachings of experience, the cultivation of memories and the power to reason clearly, quickly and logically that enables them to find ways and means for securing themselves in comfort during the coldest days of winter.

They do this in innumerable ways and many species appear to exhibit greater intelligence and foresight than man in preparing for the winter season.

To Test Pearls

In Paris not long ago a group of the world's greatest pearl merchants watched a French scientist pour gently a handful of pearls into a tube containing what appeared to be water. Some sank to the bottom, but others floated. "Gentlemen," the scientist said, "you will find that the pearls light enough to float in this fluid are natural pearls. Those that sank are cultivated Japanese pearls," says Popular Science Monthly.

STEIWER

Strong
Candidate

More than 40 newspapers in Oregon have endorsed Fred Steiwer for the republican nomination for United States Senator. What would be a better indication of strength?

All of the other candidates for the nomination have centered their fire upon Steiwer and contend that he is the man they must defeat. No one ever attacks a weak man.

Democratic leaders are exerting their efforts against Steiwer. They fear him. They know they cannot defeat him in the general election.

A vote for Steiwer Friday is a vote for a republican victory in November.
