

Banking Service

Banks are becoming more and more the custodians of the funds of the people, of both large and small means. This is due to a wider appreciation of the value of banking service as its usefulness is extended and its methods become better known. In the case of service is assured. Its officers aim in every way to protect the interests of its patrons, making use of every means of precaution. It's up-to-date system of accuracy, promptness and the same careful attention to large or small depositors. It is a safe bank. It is the bank for all the people—rich and poor, men, women and children. If you have any banking business to transact, come to the brick bank building.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Buster Keaton Buys Pedigreed Pup

Culp Creek, Ore., June 16.—(Special.)—The Buster Keaton company is proving to be a stimulus to business, not only in Cottage Grove and immediate vicinity, but in other sections of the country.

Yesterday, Ted Van Gyzen of the Hedwig kennels, on the McKenzie near Waverlyville, stopped a few moments at Culp Creek and exhibited three of his beautiful Great Dane dogs. Later he drove up the line to the scene of the movie filming. When he came back he was minus a pup. Mrs. Keaton had seen his pupship, and it is said that the movie were forgotten until Mr. Keaton had talked with Mr. Van Gyzen, ending by presenting the owner of the pup with a handsome check and Mrs. Keaton with the pup.

He was christened "The General." The pup's mother, the beautiful Knollwood-Tigress, who was also on the trip, took "best of breed" in 1925, and again in 1926, at the Portland dog show and was classified in the "winners female" class at the San Francisco dog show in 1925.

NEW NAZARENE PASTOR TAKES UP WORK HERE

Harold Bottmiller, who was pastor of the First Church of the Nazarenes here, has gone to Wenatchee, Wash., where he will be pastor of a Nazarene church there. Pastor Nellie Robbins, a member of the First church in Portland and prominent convention worker, will succeed him in the local church.

Pastor Robbins preached at both the forenoon and evening services last Sunday and will conduct both services this Sunday. She has had considerable experience, having held pastorates at Condon, Ore., Cheney, Goldendale, Wenatchee and Ridgefield, Wash. Pastor Robbins is accompanied by Mrs. Iva Hoy, a niece.

A special children's day program will be given in the Sunday school Sunday.

The church is planning for a tent meeting which will be held for ten days the latter part of July. Mrs. DeLance Wallace, an evangelist from Seattle, will be the speaker and the Turner brothers will be the soloists.

AIRPLANE PATROL OF FORESTS IS STARTED

Airplane patrol of the forested regions of the northwest has been scheduled to begin today, according to a report issued by the Portland office of the forest service. Patrol bases for Oregon will be at Eugene, where two planes will be stationed. Lieutenant H. C. Miller, who arrived in Eugene yesterday from Portland, will be in charge. One of the planes arrived yesterday from Crissy field, San Francisco, and another is due in a few days.

According to the forest service statement the airplane patrol will be used for reconnaissance on large fires, confirmation of reports of fires on which there is difficulty in getting accurate information from other sources, and detailed observation after electrical storms. They will not make regular patrol.

Lorane Road Finished.

The work of improving the south Lorane road between Cottage Grove and Lorane was completed this week, according to O. E. Crowe, county commissioner who has charge of work in this section. More than two miles of road were rock this year and more work may be done on the route later, it was stated.

Grading of the Row river road between Culp Creek and Rocky Point is nearly completed, the commissioner said, and a rock crusher soon will be set up there to furnish surfacing materials.

Golf Plans Progress.

Plans are going forward for the formation of a golf club for Cottage Grove and a large number have signed for membership in the new organization, its sponsors state. As many members as possible will be signed in the next week, for it is desired to complete organization of the club and prepare for work upon the grounds before July 1. A tract of 74 acres, a part of the D. G. McFarland farm north of Mount David, has been selected as the site for the course, which will consist of nine holes to begin with.

Celebration Plans in Air.

Decision as to whether Cottage Grove will have a fourth of July celebration this year has not yet been made, it was stated today by business men interested in plans to observe the holiday. Different civic organizations and merchants have been asked to present their views and if a majority of opinion favors a celebration plans will be pushed forward rapidly, it was said. Original plans included participation of members of the Buster Keaton company in the celebration.

Many Pass Tests.

Names of a large number of eighth grade pupils who passed examinations held June 10 and 11 have been announced by E. J. Moore, county school superintendent.

Districts in south Lane, with those passing were: district 34, Silk Creek, one conditioned; district 36, Lorane, May Earls, Clifton Shortridge, Lawrence King, two conditioned; district 75, London, Clayton Townsend, Ruby Brown, Velma Wheeler; district 122, Star, one conditioned.

Corners Are Widened.

The work of rounding the corners of Ninth street where it intersects Main was practically completed this week, providing wide turns on each side for cars traveling in either direction on the Pacific highway. The old building on the Jenks' property was also removed by workmen.

FOLLOW THE CROWD TO ANLAUF.

Climbers of Table Mountain Pay Toll

News of a mountain tragedy rings through Capetown like a funeral bell. It becomes almost a personal tragedy to everyone. Table mountain looms into the clouds so close to the city that every detail of its great rock face can be seen from the main street, and thus makes the fact of a death on its slopes very close and vivid.

Table mountain has a dark history. From the earliest days climbers have met disaster, and there is one precipitous part, known as Skeleton gorge, where the bones of a number of long-dead men have been found.

The noted white cloth of clouds which settles over Table mountain has been responsible for many fatalities. Inexperienced people lose their way and, finding darkness approaching, stumble madly downward toward the city lights. Falls of hundreds of feet await them.

Whenever a person is reported missing parties composed of members of the Mountain club leave their work and set out to search the dangerous ledges and ravines. An appeal for a search party never fails. If the missing person is not found by the week-end, hundreds of people join in the quest.

Table mountain attracts scores of new climbers on every public holiday, and it is then that the most tragedies occur. Often the body of a lonely climber is not found for several weeks, so vast is the area to be searched.—From the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

What the Fairy Told Three Married Women

Three women once went to the Marriage Fairy. The first woman said: "My husband is not very charming or entertaining, but he is proud in furs and satins and jewels. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "It will last till the next panic in Wall street, when your husband will lose his money and put a bullet through his head."

And the second woman said: "I do not care for wealth or luxury if I can be adored. And I am. I have been married fifteen years, and my husband still thinks me the loveliest woman on earth. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "You have already had it longer than nearly all the most-loved women. It will last for eighteen months longer, and then cease quite suddenly, you will never know why."

And the third woman said: "I don't seem to need what most women need. We are poor, and I never had a really beautiful dress in my life. But I don't care. My husband never pays me a great deal of attention. I don't remember that he ever complimented me in his life. I sit with him in the evening after my work is done. And if by chance he meets my eyes and smiles, I am perfectly happy. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "It will last till the day of your golden wedding, and then longer still. Do you really want it forever?"—Kansas City Times.
