Presbyterian Church SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24 Evening service at 7:30

Address: "Shakespeare and the Bible." It has often been remarked upon Shakespeare's familiarity with the scriptures. We shall quote from many plays to show where he got his knowledge and 65 beautiful pictures will be shown of Shakespeare's country.

Several questions have been handed in, the following will be answered at this service:

- (1) Do you think the churches of the world will survive the present unrest?
- (2) If the bible is to be read to school children and interpreted, will it take on a sectarian point of view?
- (3) Is there bootlegging in Cottage Grove?
- (4) Will you give a review of the life of Aimee McPherson?
- (5) Is it right to have a politician in a church pulpit?

Galloway Gets Editorial Job on U. of O. Paper

University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Robert Galloway of Cottage Grove, sophomore in the school of journalism, has been appointed one of the day editors of the Oregon Daily Emerald.

Complete staff appointments have been made after a three weeks' period of try-outs. Selections were made by Ray Nash, managing editor, with cooperation of Sol Abramson, editor, and members of the school of journalism faculty.

The list includes four members of the upper staff, six feature writers, seven day editors, five night editors and 25 members of the general staff. The sports staff consists of six members.

80 Families Arrive During Year

At least 80 families have moved to Cottage Grove from outside the state during the past year, in the opinion of F. E. Mendenhall, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who has a list of 39 such families and believes there must be twice that number. Those knowing of families that have arrived here from other states will assist the secretary by reporting the fact to him. No record is kept of families moving here from other points in Oregon, of which there has been a number. Twenty-five per cent of the arrivals from other states are from California.

Join the Church Next Sunday

Ponder This Question! Are You a Member of the Church? No! Do you feel just right about the fact? Does it in any way affect the happiness and conduct of the family? Does that ever keep your children from Sunday school, or your wife away from church? Does that make any difference in the attitude of your children, or of your neighbor's children toward the questions of right and wrong?

Next Sunday Is Join the Church Day at the Chapel Car.

All Nature Keenly Responsive to Truth!

Laws execute themselves. They are out of time, out of space, and not subject to circumstance. Thus in the soul of man there is a justice whose retributions are instant and entire. He who does a good deed is instantly ennobled. He who does a mean deed is by the action itself contracted. He who puts off impurity thereby puts on purity. If a man dissemble, deceive, he deceives himself, and goes out of acquaintance with his own being. Character is always known. Theft never enriches, aims never impoverish; murder will speak out of stone walls. The least admixture of lie—for example, the taint of vanity, any attempt to make a good impression, a favorable appearance—will instantly vitiate the effect. But speak the truth, and all things alive or brute are vouchers and the very roots of the grass underground. There do seem to still and move to hear you witness and all things proceed out of the same spirit, which is differently named love, justice, temperance, in its different applications, just as the ocean receives different names on the several shores which it washes.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

British Public Baked at Sanitary Methods

The meeting of the congress of the Royal Sanitary Institute recalls the strong opposition which sanitary reformers once encountered. The Times in 1854 rejoiced that Chadwick had received a pension which would enable him to leave dirt and disease alone; "Aesculapian and Chiron, in the form of Mr. Chadwick and Doctor Southworth Smith, have been deposed, and we prefer to take our chance of cholera and the rest than to be bullied into health."
Another complaint was that their activities had established "a perpetual Saturday night, and Master John Bull was scrubbed and rubbed and small-tooth-combed till the tears ran into his eyes, and his teeth chattered, and his fists clenched themselves with worry and pain."

What would the writer of this protest say if he could see the public health service today? According to his standard by this time Master John Bull ought to have been washed altogether out of existence and poured away with the soap-suds.—Manchester Guardian Weekly.

Provinces "of Age"

The two Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan attained their majority September 1. Each of these provinces is twenty-one years old. Prior to 1905 the area embraced by Alberta and Saskatchewan had the status of territories administered largely by the Canadian federal government. At that earlier date the combined population of Alberta and Saskatchewan was approximately 400,000. Now, according to a census taken by the Canadian Pacific railway, the combined population of these two provinces is 1,500,000. Since their birth as provinces the annual agricultural production for Alberta and Saskatchewan has increased from $40,000,000 to $785,000,000.

Brief Rest Was Fatal

When Gen. John Morgan, with his raiders, stopped to rest for an hour and a half at Chester, Ohio, during the Civil war foray, he committed an error that brought disaster. After resting, the raiders proceeded to Portland, reaching there just after dark. It was unusually foggy and this prevented the raiders from finding the ford leading to Bluffington island. Had they reached Portland an hour earlier, they could have crossed the Ohio river to safety that night, says a writer in the Columbus Dispatch. Morning brought General Judah's troops up the river and General Hobson from the rear and Morgan's defeat.

Life of Human Hair

The length of life of the hair varies with the age, sex, character of hair and individual peculiarity. Each hair has its determined length of life, and this is not the same for every hair of the same sort. The rate of growth, especially in young women, is from 2 to 6 millimeters, or about 1/4 to 1/2 inch during each 10 days after first piercing the skin, or about 3/4 to 1 inch a month. When it reaches a length of 10 to 14 inches its rate of growth is reduced one-half, and later toward the end of its normal life its increase is hardly perceptible.

French Legion of Honor

The Legion d'Honneur in France is an order of merit, both military and civil. As at present organized it consists of five classes—chevaliers, officers, commanders, grand officers and grand crosses. The President of the republic is grand master. In ordinary circumstances twenty years of military, naval or civil service is necessary for eligibility to the rank of chevalier and promotions can be made only after definite service in a lower rank. Extraordinary service admits to any rank. The word "chevalier" means knight.

"Salted" Violins

Absurd as it may sound, German manufacturers who are experts in judging the worth of violins have come to look for lime salts in determining the value of an instrument. The exceptional resonance of some of the famous Amati violins, it is stated, is due to the lime salts with which the instruments are stained. The material is imbedded in the pores of the wood, and is believed to be at least partly responsible for the hitherto unsolved secret of why old violins give such a remarkable tone.

Plants, Like Mankind, Respond to Affection

A pretty story is told of a man who, in a frame, found himself in another sphere, standing by a bank covered with exquisite violets, the scent of which filled the air. Stopping to admire the flowers, he saw each dainty bloom lift its tiny head in acknowledgment of his delight in their beauty.

Sir Jagadis Bose, the Indian scientist, calls plants anchored animals, and has proved beyond doubt that some plants are actually more sensitive than human beings. He has shown that they are actually affected by the approach of certain people.

This is a fact of intense interest to many flower lovers who have long suspected that something of the sort was the case. They have noticed that flowers in adjoining gardens or allotments, on similar soil and apparently similarly treated, do not grow alike, but that in one garden they bloom more luxuriantly than in the other. They have noticed also that certain people are far more successful than others in growing what may be called shy flowers.

It would appear that the personality of the gardener has much to do with the success of the flower garden—that, in fact, there are people whom flowers love, just as there are those who have a natural power with animals. Often a comparatively frail woman can manage a horse which strong men have attempted to hold in vain, and we all know cases of apparently insignificant people who are adored by all dogs.

Wouldn't Drink Milk "Squeezed" From Cow

A little girl and her mother were visiting in the country, on a farm. Having always lived in the city the cow was a great curiosity to the child and she was very much interested in watching its movements.

One day she saw the farmer milking. She watched him as he carried the milk into the house and strained it and it was put on the table for the evening meal. She was much surprised, as in the city the milk always was delivered in bottles.

A glass of milk was set at each place. She refused to drink her portion and was asked by her mother why she did not drink the milk.

Putting her arm around her mother's neck and drawing her head down she whispered:
"Mamma, where do you think he got that milk?"

"Don't know," replied the mother. "Where did he get it?"
"Why," exclaimed the little girl, "he squeezed it out of an old cow. I saw him."

Early Peruvian Pottery

Prehistoric pottery provides virtually all the known history of the Chinua, a race occupying the northern part of Peru before it was conquered by the Incas. These people made their pottery by the coiling process. Long strips of clay were coiled around, one upon another, and the mass thus formed molded to the desired shape by means of shells or smooth pebbles. When finished, nearly all evidence of the coils was obliterated. It is by means of this pottery that modern scholars are made familiar with the daily life of these early Peruvians. Vessels often are found in the shape of the vegetables used. Some clearly indicate the squash, ears of corn, beans, potatoes and other vegetables familiar today. There are many so-called portrait jars, giving a clear idea of the facial appearance of the race.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Dispute Over Book of Job

The authorship and date of the Book of Job are controversial matters, a great many students of Scripture being of the opinion that the book dates back to the patriarchal age, making Job contemporary with Abraham, possibly being Jonah the Edomite, alluded to in Genesis, tenth chapter, twenty-ninth verse. Others ascribe the book to Moses, and still others to Solomon. It is said that the animals mentioned in the book would be better known in the Assyrian mountains than in the plains of Palestine, while the leviathan or crocodile was a native of Egypt. The spirit of the book, however, undoubtedly is that of the Hebrew race, combining faith, endurance and tenacity of purpose, which are characteristics of the race today.—Washington Star.

Early Autopsy

New York's social register for 1857, in reality the town enrollment for New Amsterdam, as New York then was known, contained the names of 29 "great citizens" and 204 "small citizens" and it was among the latter that the physicians were mentioned. In that same year doctors were called upon to do detective work, since it was requested that they should ask wounded patients how they had received their injuries and by whom. In 1651 Dr. Johannes Kerfysie, a Hollander, performed an autopsy upon the body of Governor Slaughter, believed to have been poisoned, and this is thought to be the first autopsy performed in this country.—New York Evening Post.

Famous Mountain System

The Alpine system covers nearly the whole of Switzerland, a great part of northern Italy, several departments of France, and a large part of Austria. The historical passages of the Alps have been those by Alexander the Great; Julius Caesar, in attack the Helvetians; Hannibal; Napoleon, who crossed the Alps into Russia only to find that the retreating Russians had left Moscow in ruins. The greater part of the French army died in recrossing the Alps into France.

Meet Sarah Ann Duplicate

You may never see Sarah Ann, though perhaps you might. Sarah Ann was pronounced the world's greatest Holstein last year—the All-American Aged Cow. And where did she appear? Why, at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland—where many, many world's champions appear!

Sarah may be there again this year from October 30 to November 6. But, if not, you will see thousands of the finest bred, best producing dairy stock in America—for they come from the four corners of the continent to be at this—the greatest combined livestock exposition now known in the world. Also come the finest Beef Cattle, Horses, Hogs, Sheep, Goats and Foxes. Then there's the famous Horse Show and Land, Industrial and Dairy Products Exposition—all housed in the tremendous 10-acre exposition building.

It is our sincere belief that there is not a farmer in this community who can afford to miss, or who will fail to profit by this opportunity.
