Candidate Is Tardy. Successful candidates for office have never been known to display much reluctance when the time comes for them to assume their places, but it can happen. Monday at the office of the county clerk a bond was filed and the oath of office taken by J. H. Devore of Camp Creek precinct. Mr. Devore was elected justice of the peace at the election last November and after mature thought of more than seven months he decided to accept the verdict of the electorate. Justice court cases are few and far between in the Camp Creek precinct, so there was no particular need for speed.—Eugene Guard.
