Over 150 years ago a proclamation was issued which contained among other "self evident truths" this statement:

"...all experience has shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed."

Human nature hasn't changed much in a century and a half, and perhaps this bit of philosophy could be studied to advantage by those unfortunate people who are always complaining, "How I wish I could get out of 'lebt'!" They realize the foolishness of spending Tomorrow's dollar Today, but they seem incapable of "abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed."

The J. C. Penney Company policy of paying cash as you go is the quickest and easiest way of getting the family budget on a sound thrift basis.

Why not make a Declaration of Independence today, all of your own, and throw off forever the slavery of those First-Of-The-Month bills.
