A MILLIONAIRE'S SON WORKS HIS WAY.

Parents who believe their kids should earn what they get, and boys and girls who are earning their way through school, may gain consolation from the views of John Rockefeller Prentice, grandson of John D. Rockefeller.

The grandson of the oil magnate has no reason to fear being left to fight the cold, cruel world without funds. He is accustomed to wealth, which can be said of many who think parents should hold their noses to the grindstone while the kids cut a swath at an institution of higher learning.

Associates of the scion of one of the wealthiest of families probably expected John to lead the social set, to go out for athletics and have a good time generally during the only youthful years he is likely to have, but nothing like this for his heir to millions.

He is earning his way through Yale by acting as night cashier at a hospital.

And he does not talk about old-fashioned parents. He has made a brilliant record and has captured almost every prize carrying money and honor. He is proud of what he is doing.

"I believe there is too much time given to athletics, too much to the pursuit of pleasure, too much to outside affiliations. I'm in favor of athletics in proper proportion, but oppose its being made a god. Many men go out for football or track for the prominence and publicity they get; others go out for 'news,' become newspaper correspondents, and others for other alien purposes. They will tell you they are fitting themselves for postgraduate careers. I tell them that if that is all they have on their minds, they are wasting time at college and should go at once into their chosen field and obtain real training for their future activities. The school should be the prime thought of every student."

That boy talks like one who intends to make something of himself. He talks like many of modest means who are earning what they are getting.

From his talk we should imagine that young Mr. Prentice is a careful reader of The Sentinel.

WHY TOO GOOD?

"That's too good for sa and so." It was a casual remark. It wasn't spoken jealously.

The one that had the something that was too good for him was in a business with which luxuries have never been associated.

That was the only reason for the remark.

But why is anything too good for anyone?

Nothing is too good for anyone who by his own talent and energy has honestly acquired sufficient to possess what he wants, provided he has given due consideration to those less fortunate and particularly if while acquiring the means to purchase what he wants he has been of service to his community, to his associates and has done something for the progress of the world; if he has made his own way in the world; has by his own energy developed the talents where with God has blessed him; has been liberal in his dealings with others; has spoken good of others whenever possible and has so lived that much good can be spoken of him.

"Nothing is too good for the one who by these rules has earned the things he possesses."

This writer can remember when, during the time he was operating the first newspaper he ever owned he was criticized for printing in an advertisement a picture of a woman's lower limb—that was what they were called then—clad in a good old cotton stocking and exposed to the knee. In one Sunday's reading in these razzzy jazzy flapper days we find a display of legs to make a man appreciate his eyesight; in one magazine section a cartoon of a stepped flapper reclining on a couch and kicking a shapely silk-stockinged leg at her abashed grandmother's nose; and two comic cartoons in which the humor seemed to be in the display of feminine undergarments—or in the effort to find enough undergarments to make a display.

This congressional district should be proud of the fact that its congressman, W. C. Hawley, has been elevated to the chairmanship of the ways and means committee, probably the most important position in congress and one which only can be obtained by long service. This is the only time this has been held by an Oregonian and probably the only time by a westerner.

The person who can hear his name mentioned by two persons talking in low tones and have no curiosity as to what the conversation is about, is too everlastingly complacent to be worth a whoop.

Income taxpayers are warned that winnings from poker games must be listed, but that no deductions may be claimed for losses. This may make a difference in the number who allow win.

An invitation to come again may sometimes be a hint not to make the present visit an endless one.

It may have been the high cost of living that drove the prodigal son home.

Striped suits and checkered careers go together.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Harold E. Johnson entertained with a delightful bridge party Tuesday afternoon for a group of friends. Guests were Mrs. Inez Meeks, Mrs. C. E. Frost, Mrs. D. H. Hemenway, Mrs. H. A. Miller, Mrs. James P. Graham, Mrs. George Knowles, Mrs. W. W. McFarland, Mrs. T. C. Wheeler, Mrs. W. H. Ostrander, Mrs. George McQueen, Mrs. Clara Burkholder, Mrs. C. P. Hoskins, Mrs. C. H. VanDenburg, Miss Eunice VanDenburg, Mrs. H. A. Hagen, Mrs. Elbert Bede, Mrs. Nelson Durham, Mrs. A. A. Richmond, Mrs. O. W. Hays, Mrs. N. E. Glass, Mrs. L. W. Coiner, Mrs. F. L. Grannis, Mrs. Harry Metcalf, Mrs. C. J. Kern, Mrs. Herbert W. Lombard, Mrs. J. T. Finerman, Mrs. Rufus Van Deine, Mrs. W. E. Lebow, Mrs. H. B. Griggs, Mrs. E. W. Arnes, Mrs. Charles Beidler, Mrs. George Matthews and Mrs. Glen D. Smith. Eight tables of bridge were formed and Mrs. Grannis held high score and Mrs. Smith second high. The rooms were attractive with ferneries. A delicious two-course luncheon was served. Miss Virginia Magness and Miss Violet Hakari assisted the hostess.

One of the attractive entertainments of the week was the annual guest night of the Tuesday Evening Study club held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Umphrey Tuesday night. Teachers of the city schools and voice and piano teachers of the city were guests. About 40 were present. Mrs. Anna Lansbury Beck, instructor in the school of music at University of Oregon, gave an interesting talk about the South Sea Islands and showed a number of pictures she took while on a visit there. Mrs. Beck gave a graphic description of the islands and of the inhabitants and their customs. Another attractive feature of the program was a vocal solo by Miss Adelaide LaCasse. Flowers were colorful room decorations and light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Herbert Eakin and Mrs. W. B. Johnston entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eakin for the Past Matrons' club. Special guests were Mrs. Joe T. Smith and Mrs. Charles Beidler, who became members. Plans were made for a no-hostess meeting to be held March 19 in Masonic hall. The club voted to hold a banquet for past matrons and past patrons on March 23, the group then to attend in a body the annual past matron-past patron night of the chapter. A social hour followed the business session. A dainty two-course luncheon was served. Table decorations were in keeping with the Washington birthday season and vases of red carnations centered the luncheon tables.

At the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Research club members responded to roll call with current events. Mrs. W. J. White was program leader and the following program was based on the study of Emerson: "Biography of Emerson," Mrs. W. J. White; "Emerson as an American," Mrs. William Baker; "Emerson as a Lecturer," Mrs. A. W. Shofstall; "Wit and Humor of Emerson," Mrs. A. L. Van Osdell; "Emerson as an Essayist and Poet," Mrs. Duncey P. Cameron; "Emerson's Philosophy," Mrs. F. E. Mendenhall; "Review of Life of Emerson by William James," Mrs. D. C. Bosley, and "Review of Maeterlinck's Essay on Emerson," Mrs. D. D. Roberts.

The Tanglefoot club held its first dance of the spring series Monday night and a number of guests were present. The hostess committee was Mesdames E. W. Frans, H. W. Lombard, C. J. Kern, J. T. Finerman, Schofield Stewart, L. W. Coiner, W. H. Daugherty, Elbert Bede, F. L. Grannis, George McQueen, Roy Short, K. K. Mills and F. C. Ford. The hall was decorated in keeping with Washington's birthday anniversary. Shaded lamps and greenery added to the attractiveness of the hall. A special dance was given and members watched hatchets for partners. Punch was served. The club will hold its next dance on March 19.

The Presbyterian missionary society held its annual business meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Schofield Stewart. Additional guests were Mrs. F. C. Ford, Mrs. Beatty, Mrs. A. W. Shofstall and Mrs. H. G. Proger. Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Charles Beidler, president; Mrs. Duncey P. Cameron, vice president; Mrs. L. L. Stewart, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. L. W. Coiner, secretary for young people; Mrs. Schofield Stewart, secretary of literature; Mrs. F. E. Mendenhall, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. W. V. McGee, secretary of the Little Light Bearers; Mrs. Bert Trask, secretary of the Light Bearers, and Mrs. J. H. Craig, secretary for associate members. Mite boxes were opened. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. William Thum entertained Wednesday evening with a dinner party. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beidler, Mr. and Mrs. George Matthews, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Lebow, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Smith, H. J. Shinn and Mr. and Mrs. Thum. The evening was spent with games and Mrs. Lebow and Nelson Durham won prizes. The dining table was attractive with a bouquet of sweetpeas and ferns.

The La Mercedi Post club held a no-hostess luncheon at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Gray Goose. Mrs. Ralph Sherry was a special guest. The afternoon was spent playing bridge at the home of Mrs. J. G. Denny and Miss Helen Broadlove held high score. Dainty refreshments were served. The club will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Lattie.

A deputy of the grand worthy matron of the grand chapter of the Eastern Star will visit the Cottage Grove chapter Friday evening. Regular work will be put on and a social hour will follow.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges and encampment will hold a social evening tonight in I. O. O. F. hall.

The Social Twelve club is being entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. E. Compton.

Mrs. Albert Woodard is entertaining this afternoon for the Utopia club.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Barker will be hosts this evening for the Bonn Tempo club.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has filed herein his final account as administrator of the estate of Lizzie Bland, deceased, with the county clerk of Lane county, State of Oregon, and an order has been made and entered of record directing this notice and setting the 26th day of February, 1928, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m. as the time and the county court room in the county court house at Eugene, Lane county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of objections, if any, to such final account and the final settlement of said estate.

Dated and first published this 26th day of January, 1928.
O. O. VEATCH, Administrator of the estate of Lizzie Bland, deceased.
HERBERT W. LOMBARD, Attorney for Estate. j26-623 (T)

Mrs. Harry Hart, Mrs. Andrew Brund, Mrs. Loren Harvey and Mrs. Tom Laffoon were hostesses Wednesday afternoon for the Methodist ladies' aid society meeting. Mrs. J. R. Leonard led devotions. At a business session plans were completed for an experience social to be held in May and Mrs. N. E. Compton and Mrs. S. J. Leonard were named captains of the two sides. The church parlors were decorated in keeping with the Washington birthday season. Light refreshments were served.

The Royal Neighbors lodge held a card party Wednesday evening in I. O. O. F. hall. At cards Jerry Wilkinson of Eugene and Mrs. George O. Knowles held high scores. The hall was decorated with flags and hunting in keeping with Washington's birthday anniversary. The Dolphin society will meet Monday evening in the library. Mrs. L. E. Liston will be program leader and the subject for study will be "Modern Romances in the Making."

Mrs. D. H. Hemenway entertained (Continued on page 3.)
