

UNCLE SAM IS FEELING FINE

Now for a Real Thanksgiving Day!

There's every reason to be thankful as you sit down to your Thanksgiving dinner, steaming turkey, and filling, and pie, and everything!

The nation generally, and each one in particular, can give thanks wholeheartedly for the progress and peace of our land this past year.

More people in this community than ever before can give thanks, too, for the fact that their growing bank accounts here are paying the way to gratified ambitions later on.

This institution will not be open on Thursday, November 29th Thanksgiving Day

The new Ford has a very simple and effective lubrication system

THE lubrication system for the engine of the new Ford is as simple in principle as water running down-hill.

A gear pump in the bottom of the oil pan raises the oil to the valve chamber reservoir. From here it flows on to the main crankshaft bearings and the front camshaft bearing. Overflow oil drops into the oil pan tray and runs into troughs through which the connecting rods pass.

As the ends of these rods strike the oil they scoop up a supply for the connecting rod bearing. At the same time they set up a fine spray that lubricates the pistons and other moving parts.

From the tray the oil runs into the bottom of the pan, and is again drawn up through a fine mesh screen and pumped to the valve chamber.

This system is so effective that the five-quart contents of the oil pan pass through the pump twice in every mile when you are traveling at only 30 miles an hour. Yet there is only one movable part—the oil pump.

As a matter of fact, the lubrication system for the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no service attention.

There is just one thing for you to do, but it is a very important thing... watch the oil! Change the oil every 300 miles and be sure the indicator rod never registers below low (L).

If the oil level is allowed to fall below low, the supply becomes insufficient to oil all parts as they should be oiled.

To insure best performance it is also advisable to have the chassis of your car lubricated every 500 miles. This has been made easy in the new Ford through the use of the high pressure grease gun system.

Proper oiling and greasing mean so much to the life of your car that they should not be neglected or carelessly done.

See your Ford dealer regularly. He is especially well fitted to lubricate the new Ford and he will do a good, thorough job at a fair price.

THANKSGIVING.

What does Thanksgiving day mean to the people of this modern time? Is it a day of real thanksgiving or does it mean only a good time and plenty to eat? We should go back once more to the time our forefathers came to America one cold winter in 1620. They came through many dangers and perils for their freedom of worship. They barely kept back starvation and many did die from the lack of food and from terrible diseases caused by lack of shelter and insufficient clothing. But even death did not frighten the remaining few, because they knew that if they stood for the right, their God would help them through. What griefs and sorrows were theirs at that little Plymouth town; a mother, a sister or brother, maybe a father, were taken from that little family group. But at last spring came, and oh! what joy it was for those few. They started at once to plant their crops to keep starvation from their doors the next winter. And when at last their crops were harvested, they didn't just have a good time but they decided to have a real Thanksgiving day and thank God that he had supplied all their needs for the next winter.

So on this next Thanksgiving day let us not only think of the good things we are to have and of the good things we are to eat, but let us stop for a while to think of that first Thanksgiving day and give thanks that we have had such ancestors to bring us into America and its prosperity.

LET US GIVE THANKS.

The first Thanksgiving day, so date pilgrims and joyous, noisy Indians gathered at a feast of thanksgiving in a small New England colony, praising their God for saving them from death by sending a bountiful harvest.

Those brave, sturdy pilgrims, fighting danger and hardship on either hand, with memories of home and fatherland saddening each succeeding thought; thanking God for their blessings while before them stretched a boundless ocean separating them from home, oftentimes from loved ones. If they had blessings, living in a cold and cheerless land as yet inhabited only by Indians, to which they had gone to worship their God as they saw fit; if they had blessings, have not we, the people of the United States, protected as we are by a just and mighty government, living in peace and plenty, have not we blessings unnumbered? Two many of us take our good fortune for granted and do not stop, even one day in the year, to give thanks for the benefits which we receive.

On this Thanksgiving day let us think of those hardy forefathers of ours, the pilgrims, who originated that day of gladness and gratitude, and give thanks that there were such brave and unscarred hearts in the fatherland to found a new nation in a new world, and so make possible to us the blessings which we receive daily.

Embarrassing

Pedestrians in one of the busy streets of Glasgow, Scotland, recently were amazed by sweet strains of music issuing apparently from a young woman, who was blushing furiously. She had just bought a portable radio set that had not been shut off when she left the store. While she was on the street the Glasgow station began broadcasting and she did not know at first how to shut off the machine.
