Legend Shows Indians' High Sense of Humor

A stele he may have been, but in many of the hardships that made him a stoic the American Indian displayed a humorous situation that ranked him with the best of all philosophers—those who can and do laugh at life.

Long, long ago a great drought reigned over the mountains of the Appalachian country, many mountain streams drying up so that large numbers of fish and animals perished.

One of them said to the other: "Where is the water? I am so thirsty that my apron (meaning his gills, presumably) hang down almost to the ground and I fear I shall tread upon it."

Then both water dogs laughed. Tusquitte means, therefore, "Where the water dogs laughed."—Detroit News.

Firefly's Tail Light Diffuses Little Heat

The fireflies, or "lightning bugs," which dance in the twilight, carry torches that burn on the same principle as a lighted candle.

The substance consumed to produce the firefly's light is luciferin. The shining of fireflies, and of other animals and plants, used to be called phosphorescence, because it looks like the light given off by a piece of rubbed phosphorus in the dark.

But it is not caused by phosphorus. Luciferin really means "light-bearer." By itself it does not glow, but a second substance known as luciferase, present in all luminous organisms, causes it to combine with oxygen, and this makes the luminescence.

Watermelon Long Known

According to Master Graves, the watermelon abounded in Massachusetts in 1628, only nine years after the landing of the Pilgrims. The Indians told little time adding it to their list of cultivated plants.

Mrs. Genevieve Booth was hostess Wednesday of last week for the La Mercedi Pont club. Bridge was the social diversion for the afternoon, after which a delicious one-course luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Schofield Stewart entertained the Friday Dinner club at their home last week. The evening hours were spent playing bridge. A silver basket of mementoes was an attractive centerpiece for the table.

The Eastern Star will hold a reception for its new members following the regular meeting Friday night. A program is being planned and refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Schofield Stewart is chairman of the serving committee.

"King of Kings" Great Masterpiece of Screen

Film Version of Life of Christ Contains Highest Dramatic Climaxes.

Cecil B. De Mille's motion picture life of Christ under the title of "The King of Kings," a work of tremendous magnitude and rare beauty, which ran for many months at enhanced prices in New York, Chicago, Boston and other cities, will be shown for three days starting Tuesday at the Arcade.

Mr. De Mille begins the story with the greater Galilean ministry of Jesus, makes the counter motive the opposition of scribe and Pharisee and high priest and develops the first grand climax in the cleansing of the temple. Here arises the second opposition: The resentfulness of Judas when Jesus refuses the temporal kingdom.

From scenes of great beauty in and around Bethany—the children in the olive grove and the raising of Lazarus—the action goes to the upper room of the Lord's Supper and thence to the garden of Gethsemane. This wonderful sequence is preceded by the scene when Judas bargains with Caiaphas to betray Jesus for 30 pieces of silver, and it is followed by Peter's denial of his Lord.

The scene before the Sanhedrin is brief. But a second and grander climax is reached in the trial before Pilate, the opposing force of good and evil being so stoutly matched and the apparent triumph of the evil so heart-breaking. The "return of the action" is already at work in the remorse and subsequent suicide of Judas and in the spiritual triumph of the divine subjects.

The producer was fortunate in obtaining the active cooperation of the Reverend Doctor George Reid Andrews, chairman of the federal council's committee on drama and motion pictures, and of the Reverend Father Daniel A. Lord, S. J., the drama professor of St. Louis university. The well-known rabbi, Dr. J. M. Alkow, supervised the Jewish antiquities, while Clifford Howard, the writer on biblical subjects, edited the story which was adapted from the new Testament narrative by Jeanie Macpherson.

Traffic Problem Answer Given. Asked, "What is the answer to the traffic problems in the cities?" an expert who has studied the matter in several of the metropolitan cities shows that on an average it requires but seven square feet of street space for a passenger in a street car, slightly more in a bus, but 47 square feet of space is demanded for each passenger in the automobiles that ply the streets.

In other words, it requires seven times as much street space for automobile passengers as for those who travel by trolley, elevated or subway.
