Bank Teller Champ Gardener

Jimmie Dungan, after handling filthy lucre all day at a teller's window at the First National, enjoys getting out in the clean dirt of his garden after working hours, and he is likely to make a reputation as a famous gardener. Of course, as a beginner, he didn't follow the usual rules for planting, and his neighbors smiled when they saw him putting in peas and spuds long before weather conditions and the moon were right. But ten days ago Jimmie was eating peas and new potatoes from his garden, and he believes it is now his turn to laugh.

All of Lane Delegation Are From This Section

Mrs. Betty Kappauf Is Named to Attend National Union Convention.

All from Lane county attending the recent state convention of the Farmers' union at Dufur were from this section of the county, with one exception, and this one recently lived here. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Averill, O. A. Nichols, John Kebelbeck, Jack Robison and Bert McDole, Cottage Grove; C. A. Peterson, Dorena; Mrs. Clyde Wright, Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Seales, Lorane, and Mrs. Betty Kappauf, Eugene. W. S. Averill was toastmaster at a dinner given the visitors.

The Lane delegation were successful in their efforts to elect a president from the Willamette valley and to elect Mrs. Kappauf as a delegate to the national convention. The new president is L. H. McBee of Dallas. Oregon will have the distinction of having the first woman delegate to a national convention.

Valley members of the union plan to make arrangements with unions in Montana and North Dakota so that shipments of fruits and berries may be made direct to them from Willamette valley producers. National Secretary O'Shea, who was present at the state meeting, promised to do all within his power to promote reorganization in Oregon this fall concurrently with the establishment of a grain and livestock marketing terminal. Such an organization would handle grain and livestock at regular commission rates, the profits to go to the union for organization and educational purposes. Farmers union organizations handled half the cooperative business of the country last year.

Dog Control Board Is Ready for Canines

A county dog control board, provided for under an act of the recent legislature which became effective Tuesday, was organized that day at a meeting of appointees to the board held at the county court house. The members are E. H. Ross, Irving; J. W. Veatch, Cottage Grove, and George Arnhart, Creswell. Ross is chairman and Veatch is secretary.

The principal business of the board will be to administer laws regulating dogs passed at the recent legislative session and to pass upon claims for killed and injured livestock to be paid for from the fund provided by dog license fees, which were increased at the same time the new board was created. Claims passed by the board are referred to the county court for payment. Claims for losses to sheep amounting to $1143 were filed during the past month. None can be paid until the depleted dog license fund is augmented from license fees.

Under new laws which are now effective any dog which kills, wounds or injures livestock on the property of another may be killed as a public nuisance and anyone harboring such a dog is guilty of a misdemeanor. License fees are $2 for a male or spayed female dog and $3 for a female. A penalty of $2 applies when a license is not secured before March 1 of each year or within 30 days after a person becomes the owner of a dog.

Three-Quarter Year License Fee in Effect

SALEM, Ore., June 4.—Motorists who have been debating whether to license their automobiles during the month of June and pay a full year's fee therefore, or await the first of July and enjoy the benefit of a half-year rate, will have their problem at least partially helped by an opinion of the attorney general wherein it is held that the new three-quarters license fee became applicable after the new laws went into effect on June 4.

The last session of the legislature provided for a three-quarter fee to be paid after 3 months of the license year had elapsed, but it was not clear that the legislature intended the law to be effective this year. All indications point to the likelihood that the lawmakers expected to have this new arrangement go into effect along with the new mid-year license date on July 1, 1930, but the effect of the proceedings has been to let the bars down for those who seek licenses now.

In commenting on the opinion of the attorney general, Secretary of State Hoss said: "This construction will serve to aid a great number of people who wish to license their cars just prior to the date of the half-year fee.

"Those applying for a license now need only remit three-fourths of the regular annual license. The half-year rate will become effective July 1."

Residence Properties Are Sold.

The real estate market in Cottage Grove continues active and two residences were recently sold through the Hall & Johnston Realty company. The Russell M. Proudfit residence on Chestnut avenue has been sold to Clinton C. Wright, who came to Cottage Grove from Colorado to make his home. The Wright family have taken possession of the property and plan to make many improvements.

The J. Roy Craine residence on south First street has been sold to Leo F. Wilson, who took immediate possession of the property and is making his home there. The Craine family have moved to Eugene, where Mr. Craine is an employe of the Maytag company.

Nichols Cow Again Winner in Milk Test

The O. A. Nichols herd of six cows again stood first in the milk contest for May conducted under auspices of the cow testing association of the high school. The Nichols cows gave an average production of 924.8 pounds of milk and 51.27 pounds of butter-fat. Only two cows produced over 50 pounds, Pet giving 53.9 and Lindy 73.3, with 1286.5 pounds of milk testing 5.7. This is the highest month's record made during the testing conducted by the association.

The 11-cow herd of C. D. Van Valin of Dorena took second place with an average of 40.4 pounds of butterfat. Circumstances were against the VanValin herd and the result probably will be different for June. However, three cows produced over 50 pounds of fat, Old Beauty 51.9, Young Beauty 52.8 and Polly Ann 54. All these cows will show high production for the year.

While grass has not made much difference in total production, it has cut the cost of feed in every case. With the exception of one dairyman, hay supply was low, if not completely gone.

May completed five months of the test and it is possible to predict with some degree of accuracy the cows that will be kept and the ones that will be sent to the block.
