Miss Naomi Hillen, whose marriage to Merle Benedict will be solemnized in Tacoma this month, was pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening by about 60 friends. Mrs. M. P. Garoutte and Mrs. Geo. H. Hols were hostesses, inviting the guests to come to the home of Miss Hillen's mother, Mrs. Charles Stevens. Many beautiful gifts were presented to the bride-to-be. Miss Hillen, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Stevens, and her sister, Mrs. Steve Edwards, and Mrs. Warren Oliver, will go to Seattle the latter part of next week for the wedding. Owing to the illness of Mr. Benedict's mother, the wedding which was to have been this Sunday, has been postponed for at least a week and will be a quiet ceremony. Decorations of yellow and white were used throughout the house. From the archway a ruffled yellow and white umbrella was hung and from this streamers of the same colors were draped back portiere-like. Under the gifts were arranged on a table and a background for the group there was a large basket of flowers. Floor lamps also carried out the yellow and white motif. At the luncheon hour the bride and groom were seated at a table and a wedding lunch which consisted of the bride's cake. White candles tied with yellow tulle added to the effectiveness of the table. Place cards bore the names of the various members of a bridal party and the guests matched cards for partners and for places at the bride's table. The wedding cake, which also was a complete surprise, was revealed when the bride-to-be was told to draw a silver cord which lifted the wedding veil from the table. Mrs. A. J. Wiseman sang "Love Came Calling" and "Mary," accompanied by Mrs. Cecil Caldwell and a guessing game was played. Out of town guests were Miss Stella Oliver, Portland; Mrs. C. E. Leabo, Mrs. Hubert Leabo and Mrs. Ross Stone, Creswell; Mrs. Addie Woodson and daughter Alice and Mrs. Vera Kellems, Eugene; Mrs. Frank Garrett and Mrs. D. C. Miller, Sutherlin; Mrs. Stephen Edwards, Clatskanie; and Mrs. Clyde Dresser, Los Angeles, Cal.

Plans for a rummage and cake sale to be held in the Lawson building, August 31, were made Friday at the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Carrie Hemenway. Proceeds will be used in the general fund and contributions will be received from all those who wish to help with the sale.

A committee to outline the yearly program was appointed, the members being Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Mrs. Harvey Taylor and Mrs. J. M. Eastham. This committee will report and election of officers will be held September 14 at the home of Mrs. F. F. Wells.

A number of members went to Corvallis yesterday to visit the children's farm home. The women took a box of papers, magazines and books with them for the new library. For the benefit of the farm home the various groups of the W. C. T. U. will hold a bazaar at the state fair at Salem this fall and the local women have been asked to help with the plans. Mrs. Frank Houser was in charge of the fund-raising campaign. Tuesday, Mrs. Elizabeth Galdbini, chairman, and members present were Mrs. William Hill, Mrs. P. A. Auland, Mrs. Charles Remington, Mrs. Flora Henderson, Mrs. E. E. Thomas, Mrs. Elizabeth Galdbini, Mrs. N. E. Henderson, Mrs. L. E. Wertz and Mrs. William Perini. The guests were Mrs. Ivan Barker of Oakland, Mrs. Jack Striger, Mrs. Ed Brown, Mrs. Frank Dousette, Davis, Anand, Pauline Galdbini and Mrs. M. Perini of Anlauf, Mrs. P. C. Housler and Mrs. C. N. Land of Cottage Grove. The time was spent quilting a quilt for Mrs. Ivan Barker and sewing a quilt for Mrs. J. E. Hanes. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Pauline Galdbini and Mrs. E. E. Thomas. Mrs. Ivan Barker will entertain the club in her home in Oakland with an all-day session August 22.

Mrs. Mentor Boney (Georgina Klusey), who before her marriage was a teacher in the Cottage Grove high school, was guest of honor for a pleasant luncheon and social afternoon for which Mrs. Charles Adams was hostess Friday at her new home in Eugene. Mrs. Adams' guests, who are Cottage Grove friends of Mrs. Boney, were Mrs. Herbert Eakin, Mrs. B. E. Job, Mrs. Adrian Merryman, Mrs. K. E. Mills, Miss Loh Howe and Miss Lida Curran. Mrs. Boney leaves soon to make her home in Bellingham, Wash.

Children of the Sunday school will take combs and handkerchiefs and the women towels, pencils, tooth brushes and soap.

The J. M. Davison home just north of Cottage Grove on the highway was the scene Sunday, August 4, of a gathering of all Davison descendants who are in America. The group met for a picnic on the river bank. Mrs. Davison head of the clan, and his three sons and daughter and their families of Douglas county and his son and daughter-in-law of Santa Ana, Cal., and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davison of Cottage Grove were the honor uncle, Alexander McLean of Scotland, who is spending the summer with a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Cuckorum, who live near Buelburg. Mrs. Cuckorum, who was formerly Miss Janet Davison, spent part of last year in Scotland with an uncle, Prof. McLean has taught 38 years in the same high school in Scotland and while he is 80 years old he still seems a boy. He and the elder Mr. Davison are brothers-in-law and about the same age but one was born in Scotland and the other in England. The two were the youngest sitting in the party. A few Douglas county friends and relatives of Mrs. Davison, including her brother, Alta King and his family of Eugene, and her mother of Cottage Grove brought the number to 30. One feature of the picnic was swimming for those who cared to and another was the lining up of three pairs of twins to be photographed.

Mrs. Charles Stevens, captain of the drill team of the Neighbors of Woodcraft, was presented with a decorated cake box and cake knife at the regular meeting of the Monday night in appreciation of her services as captain of the drill team. "Days of Real Sport" in Rural Community. To many who have never lived in the country the life of the farmer seems to be an endless round of labor, with little, if any, pleasure to break the monotony. However, like many opinions formed by one half of the world in regard to the other half lives, this point of view is erroneous.

True, the farmer's toil is incessant throughout the year. It has ever been thus. On the other hand, there always has been much to relieve it of which the city-bred people know little or nothing. It also contained in the olden days certain pleasurable elements lacking in the country life of today. There was a color and sparkle which the more or less sophisticated rural life of the present time knows not.

Think of the sleighing parties, the masking balls, the apple-paring bees, the quilting parties and the singing school, to say nothing of the "raisings." Some of these involved labor, of course, but the social elements overshadowed the work element; and a "raising" was an eagerly anticipated event.—Boston Globe.

Pleasure of Achievement. A man who buys his pleasure is apt to be a dull fellow—perhaps that explains why so many of us take our pleasures sadly—but a man who makes his pleasures for himself, by his own skill and ingenuity, by wrestling skillfully with the opposition of the universe, is always an interesting companion. There is a depth of social significance in these simple things which should not be overlooked. The pleasure a man enjoys through the exercise of his own skill—and there is no pleasure comparable to that—excites our admiration; we admit his right to it and wish him more of it. With the people who buy their pleasures ready-made it is different. As we watch their proceedings, a certain contempt for pleasure, as a certain contempt for the man who indulges in it.—The Hibbert Journal (London).

Water Connoisseurs. Managers of archeological expeditions into the Orient find that the water they use is of the most important character. The digging and one who must be taken care of. Without this institution the laborers would refuse to work, says a member of a recent expedition into Turkey. The Turk and the Greek and all other peoples of the Levant drink four or five times the amount of water that we Occidentals drink. And, what is more, they insist on its being pure. They have a fine taste in water villages. Turks have been known who could distinguish between water from a stream which had flowed through an oak forest and that which had flowed through a forest of firs. They also drink from one spring and refuse another.
