over the state for doing away with the ordinary county fair, and there always is opposition to the omnibus appropriation bill for county fairs. It seems ridiculous that a rumpus over who shall be secretary should be the excuse for doing away with the fair, but we seem to be moving in the direction of general abandonment of the institution.

EDUCATION AND SNOBS.

In a recent issue The Sentinel spoke of educated snobs and referred to an incident of two boys whose fathers probably were working their way through for them, who left a table in an eating establishment in Eugene because a student who was working part of his way through was sitting at the table.

All comment on this editorial has been commendatory. A fair feminine reader in California has offered the following:
 "A girl down here has economized terrifically to save enough out of her salary to send her kid sister to the U. of O. (Not sure, but think the kid came all the way from the islands to go to the U.) and the girl, I know, remained from giving this girl an introduction to her sorority sisters because the kid was equipped with a coat trimmed with imitation fur, instead of an all-around sports coat. Laugh that off. Someone has to teach this generation how to weigh character. So you might just as well keep right on doing it."

But here is a satisfying thing: Figures registered at the office of the registrar of the University of Oregon show that self-supporting students at that institution outnumber those who receive support at the ratio of two to one. Of 2992 students, 1993 earn all or part of their way through college, while 942 are less than 10 per cent self-supporting. Students entirely self-supporting number 792 or more than a fourth of the enrollment, and 185 of these are females. Students earning more than half their way number 1488, or half of the student body.

These figures show that the cad who refused to eat at the table with the ambitious one who was earning part of his way through college will have to eliminate from their social equals about three-fourths of those with whom they are compelled to associate in classrooms or upon the campus. But the chances are that in later life these college snobs of 1929 will be seeking opportunities to meet on equal terms a large number of those students whom today they class as their inferiors socially because they have spunk enough, because they have manliness enough, because they have enough thought for their parents, because they have enough desire for education to welcome the opportunity to earn all or part of their way through college.

Captains of industry, financial leaders, political leaders, leaders in every endeavor worth while will come from among those who do not hesitate to stoop to menial tasks in order to put something in their heads that may mean for them futures of promise. The statement who can invent a tariff that will provide adequate revenue for the government, protect American workers from the "pauper labor" of Europe, and reduce the price of commodities to our consumers will hear something to his advantage by addressing The O. O. P., Washington, D. C.—Portland Spectator.

A Chicago doctor has the right idea of curing girls of this ridiculous diet idea of theirs. He advises men not to kiss the dieting girl because she will give him trench mouth. If the doctor could also make it dangerous to kiss the girl who dyes her face the cure would be complete.

A shipment of one-three-hundred-thousandths of an ounce of vitamin, received by the University of Oregon, is hailed by newspaper headlines as the finest thing ever transported any distance. Why, some folks have carried around less than that above their shoulders all their lives.

"Golf Leaders Put Pep Into Sport on Greens," headlines the Cottage Grove Sentinel, run by a pair of beautiful leas. Here's a hint for greens keepers. If your greens aren't doing well, treat them with golf ladders.—Corvallis Gazette-Times.

A report in a daily newspaper says that bees are making booze out of honey. That is hardly news, but if the bees had succeeded in making honey out of booze the fact would have been worth first-page position.

The Portland News criticizes Americans because they spend four billions of dollars a year in gambling. Heck, we have opportunities to give away more free space than that every year.

Salem is now getting gas from Portland, a 50-mile haul having been completed during the past week. Must figure on losing the legislature.

Keep your nose out of other people's business—and let your eyes and ears follow your nose. Time will let us do absolutely anything with it that we will, except to hold it back.

This is book week but of course some of us already have a book.—Eugene Register.

A man is proud of his wife when she is dressed up, but he dislikes to admit it. A love letter is one kind of fiction seldom returned to the author. That statement should have gone in the Believe It or Not feature.

SOCIETY

Galloway-Dresser.
 The marriage of Miss Margaret Spatash Galloway of Eugene to Marshall Rowan Dresser was quietly solemnized Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hon. Galloway, in this city. Rev. Dunson P. Cameron officiated in the presence of members of the immediate families. The ring ceremony was used and the wedding party assembled in the living room beneath a bower of trailing geraniums and yellow and white chrysanthemums. The bride's sister, Miss Rachel Galloway, was maid of honor and Robert Galloway, her brother, was best man. The bride was becomingly gowned in a traveling, ensemble costume of dark brown silk with hat and shoes in a corresponding shade. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. The bridesmaid wore a costume of less than that above their shoulders all their lives.

The open house and entertainment, which was planned by the Degree of Honor for the night of December 4, has been indefinitely postponed because of the death of George Knowles. Mrs. Carl Witte, daughter of Mr. Knowles, is president of the order. It was also voted that the program planned for the juvenile department be postponed on account of the diphtheria epidemic. The dance, planned by Mrs. A. W. Kime held high score. The rooms were especially attractive with decorations of chrysanthemums.

The Tuesday Bridge club was entertained Tuesday at the home of Mrs. C. J. Kern, who invited as additional guests, her mother, Mrs. Holleran, Mrs. A. W. Kime, Mrs. Ralph Saitman and Mrs. Victor Chambers. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock and bridge followed. Mrs. A. W. Kime held high score. The rooms were especially attractive with decorations of chrysanthemums.

Mrs. C. E. Frost was hostess Friday for the U. H. club. The afternoon was spent with bridge and Mrs. W. W. McFarland held high score. Potted plants added to the attractiveness of the rooms and at the close of the afternoon a luncheon was served. Mrs. D. H. Henway will entertain the club December 6. After the Christmas holidays the club will resume its meetings on Tuesday in place of Friday.

Mrs. C. E. Frost entertained informally with two tables of bridge Monday afternoon complimenting Mrs. Clara Burkholder, who is in the city for a week. Following cards a light refreshment was served. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Burkholder, Mrs. C. A. Bartell, Mrs. W. B. Johnston, Mrs. H. A. Miller, Mrs. E. W. Armes, Mrs. James P. Graham and Mrs. A. W. Swanson.

The research club will meet Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. D. C. Holey instead of at the city library as scheduled owing to the death of George Knowles, father of Mrs. Carl Witte, president of the Degree of Honor.

The women's relief corps met Saturday afternoon and made plans for a Christmas party to be given December 14. A business meeting will precede the Christmas tree and election of officers will be held.

The wedding of Miss Georgia Raines, formerly of Cottage Grove, and Everett Spence was solemnized Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the Trinity Episcopal church, Everett, Wash. Rev. Edgar M. Rogers officiated and the bridal couple were attended by the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raines, Mr. and Mrs. Spence were honor guests at a dinner party Sunday night at the home of Mrs. Spence's sister, Mrs. Charles Keniston, in Everett. Covers were laid for 11 and those present were Mr. and Mrs. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gierster, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Raines, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raines, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Godard and daughter Betty Jo.

An interesting feature of the program presented at the regular meeting of the Eastern Star Friday night was a history of the Eastern Star order from 17th when adoptive Masonry originated, to the present date. The first chapter in the state of Oregon to receive a charter was Alpha No. 1 at Astoria. Cottage Grove is charter No. 4 and received its charter July 24, 1880. Miss Leona Johnson, sister of Mrs. S. L. Godard, an accomplished entertainer, sang a group of songs. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. A. A. Richmond. At the next meeting of the Star degrees will be conferred and election of officers will be held.

Miss Myrtle Hubbell and Miss Zena Moughmer entertained with a bridge party Tuesday night at the Hubbell home, 309 South Third street. At cards Miss Hilda Favre received first prize and Miss Merle Strader the consolation prize. At the close of the evening, a dainty two-course luncheon was served. Yellow chrysanthemums were artistically placed about the rooms. Guests for the evening were Miss Favre, Miss Strader, Mrs. J. Brighton Leonard, Mrs. Wilbur Watkins, Mrs. William Thum, Mrs. George Hewitt, Mrs. Ira Isom, Mrs. L. S. Crawford, Mrs. William Haldeman, Mrs. Mona Cullen, Mrs. Claude Kime, Mrs. John Procter, Mrs. Ralph Saitman, Mrs. Wilbur Spray, Mrs. Ivan Barker, Mrs. Ivan Sams, Miss Beckel, Miss Vesta Hopper, Miss Echo Zysset, Miss Jessie Fraser, Miss Ellen Purdin, Miss Bertha Howe, Miss Glenda Ross, Miss Naomi Wynne, Miss LaVerne Sealhart, Miss Merle Bowen and Miss Evelyn Veatch.

The Utopia club was delightfully entertained Thursday at the home of Mrs. S. L. Mackin, who invited as additional guests Mrs. D. A. Emerson and Mrs. Wilbur Watkins. The afternoon hours were spent socially and at the close of the session the hostess served a dainty two-course luncheon. The color scheme, pink, was carried out at the table with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums and tapers in pink wax. The rooms were especially attractive with decorations of chrysanthemums.

The Tuesday Bridge club was entertained Tuesday at the home of Mrs. C. J. Kern, who invited as additional guests, her mother, Mrs. Holleran, Mrs. A. W. Enemies That Swallow
Catfish "Out of Luck"
 The very unappetizing looking catfish has an unusual spine which fits into a peculiar socket joint, says a naturalist. By a slight downward or forward twist it may be set immovably. A slight turn in the opposite direction releases the joint. This fact is known to the catfish, and, it is stated, is readily learned by the bright American boy. The weapon, evidently, is effective as a means of wreaking revenge, if not in repelling attack. Large birds that swallowed catfish died of the wounds from the spine. Fishes that began to feed on young catfish had the walls of their stomachs torn by the spines, and died. The same fate overtook fishes that swallowed sticklebacks. In some parts of America the stickleback, for this reason, is known as a "mob-killer." It is another version of Goldsmith's story of the man and the dog. The man recovered from the bite; it was the dog who died. Forms of catfish, known as stone-eaters and mad-fish, found in the Southern states and the Western states, have special organs of offense. At the base of their breast, sometimes very jagged, there is a structure believed to be a poison gland, although its nature has not been definitely disclosed. Wounds made by this spine feel like a wound made by the sting of a wasp.—Montreal Family Herald.

Indian Monkeys Assume Role of Bold Bandits
 Depredations of monkeys at the hill station of Marthand, near Bombay, India, are causing annoyance and anxiety. Cases have been reported where various articles and food have been snatched away from women and children, and in one instance a child's monkey was carried out on a meat safe full of fruit. Monkeys abound all over southern India, but it is unusual for them to become so daring as to play the role of highwaymen. In many parts of the hills, monkeys, as well as peacocks, are encouraged by Hindus to live in the temple precincts, and often near the idol, Hanuman, "the monkey god." One railway station in India is literally in the hands of monkeys, who swarm all over the roof; and passengers are regularly warned to close the windows of the carriages. Failure to observe this warning inevitably results in the loss of food and small articles from carriages.

Hair Almost Indestructible
 All mammals are supplied with hair, although the quality varies greatly. It may be of the softest down, hardly perceptible on the child's cheek or the quills of the porcupine. The hair is the last part of the body to decay. It is believed to grow even after death, and is known to last a century. In a Chicago bank window display of Indian relics, there is exhibited a woman's scalp taken by some Indian brave more than 100 years ago. The hair shows no effects of age. It is not dissimilar in color and in texture to the short tresses of any modern girl's. Even when exposed to the elements, hair will not deteriorate, and can be dissolved only by heat under pressure or in the presence of alkalies or acids.

First American Printing
 The first printing press in the New world was brought to Mexico about 1520. In 1522 there is a record of one being brought to Lima, Peru, and one in Cambridge in 1629.
