

SOCIETY

Mrs. C. A. Bartell was hostess for one of the most delightful Christmas parties of the season Tuesday evening when she entertained members of the LaComus club with a 7 o'clock dinner at Bartell hotel. Additional guests were Mrs. William MacGibbon and Mrs. Hugh. The banquet room was a veritable picture of Christmasland with a miniature snow scene in one end of the room. Gazing through what appeared to be windows the guests looked upon a tiny house surrounded with shrubs being covered with softly falling snow. In another corner of the room was a fine place scene, all in readiness for Santa. The table was decorated in the Christmas colors, red and green. The centerpiece was a mound of snow which glistened in the candle light. A large poinsettia on the top of the mound, red candles and sprigs of holly completed the effect. Place cards were of a Christmas design and each guest received a favor in the form of a chocolate Santa Claus. Mrs. Santa, in an up-to-date costume of red and white, proved a genial waitress, who distributed small gifts left in a stocking by Santa. Following the dinner, guests were escorted to the reception hall upstairs, where a brightly lighted Christmas tree awaited them. Members exchanged gifts and honored Mrs. Hagen's toast with a handkerchief shower, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Mrs. H. A. Miller presented each one present with a glass of strawberry jam, made from berries grown in her garden.

Mrs. H. A. Hagen was hostess Tuesday afternoon to the Elmarite club for the annual Christmas party, entertaining with a 1 o'clock turkey luncheon at the Colonial. The table was centered with a colorful basket of holly and place cards were in keeping. Each member received a boutonniere of holly for her coat. The Christmas tree was held after the luncheon at Mrs. Hagen's attractive new home. Club members received many beautiful gifts. The afternoon was spent playing bridge and guests for the afternoon were Mrs. O. E. Woodson and Mrs. W. H. Dabberty. Mrs. Charles Hall held high score. The hostess served stuffed dates and homemade candy during the afternoon. The rooms were attractively decorated in keeping with the Christmas season and a lighted tree was a feature. The club voted to send Christmas cards to former club members. The club will hold its next meeting the Monday before New Year's day at the home of Mrs. Hagen.

One of the attractive Christmas parties this week was that given by Mrs. Raymond Grube yesterday afternoon for the Tuesday Bridge club. All members were present. A delicious turkey luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at the Colonial. The table was colorful with a centerpiece of red geraniums and green bowl and four red candles in green holders. Santa Claus place-cards and tallies were used. After the luncheon the club went to the home of Mrs. Grube for the Christmas tree and exchange of gifts. Each member was given a box of cherry tart confections from Pennsylvania by the hostess. The afternoon was spent playing bridge and Mrs. Harry Metcalf and Mrs. F. L. Grannis held high score. The rooms were attractive with Christmas decorations.

The Delphin society met Monday evening with ten members present. Roll call was answered with current event topics. Mrs. S. L. Godard gave a synopsis of the preceding lesson which was missed due to cancellation of club meetings during the recent epidemic. Mrs. John Kelly was program leader and the following program was given: "Relation of Drama to Political and Social Life," Mrs. Bert Trask; "General Character of Late Stuart Drama," Mrs. Alice Miller; "Late Stuart Drama," Mrs. C. E. Umphrey; "Types of Later Stuart Comedy," Mrs. W. J. White; "The Life of Congress," Mrs. Elbert Bede; "The Country Wife," a play, Mrs. Godard.

The Methodist ladies' aid society was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. E. Compton, the hostess committee being Mrs. Compton, chairman, Mrs. O. L. Nichols, Mrs. Newton Land, Mrs. S. J. Leonard and Mrs. Tom Laffoon. A Christmas story was read by Mrs. Compton and a pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed. Dainty refreshments were served.

The following officers were elected at a meeting of the Women's Relief Corps Saturday afternoon: Mrs. Minnie Sweet, president; Mrs. Lou Bailey, senior vice president; Mrs. Lela Speakes, junior vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Fahrwald, treasurer; Mrs. Ella Tiller, chaplain; Mrs. Dicy Phillips, conductor; Mrs. Liza McKibben, guard; Mrs. Ashby, Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Kernan, delegates to state convention. Installation will be held at the next meeting, January 11. At the close of the business session a Christmas tree was enjoyed and gifts were exchanged.

The Research club met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. L. H. Randle. Members answered to roll call with current events. The study of China was concluded and Mrs. Randle, program leader, talked on "Chinese Art as Applied to the Theater, Music, Poetry and Art in General." Mrs. Georg Bjorset gave a brief talk on "Chinese Lyrics." Mrs. Randle had on display an interesting exhibit of Chinese vases, pottery, images, jewelry, coins and colorful embroideries. Guests for the evening were Mrs. J. P. Graham, Mrs. J. C. Baker and Miss Flanagan.

Miss Ray Godard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Godard, and Roy Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Graham of Eugene, were married Saturday afternoon in Corvallis. They left immediately on a trip to Portland and Astoria, returning to Eugene yesterday. They will reside in the Lincoln Court apartments. Miss Godard made her home in Cottage Grove for a number of years and was graduated from the local high school. Since that time she has lived in Eugene where she is employed in the office of Dr. L. R. Fox.

Teachers of the Presbyterian Sunday school were entertained Monday evening at the church at a dinner for which Rev. Duncan P. Cameron was host. Class problems and plans for the purchase of new supplies for the Sunday school were discussed. Plans were made for the Sunday school Christmas program and tree to be held Sunday evening. It was decided that each teacher arrange two numbers for the program.

The Carnation club held its Christmas party Tuesday evening at the Colonial cafe. Members were dressed as kids and there was much hilarity over the costumes. An old fashioned Santa Claus distributed the gifts which were hung on an attractive decorated Christmas tree. Games were a feature of the evening and prize winners were Glenda Ross, Evelyn Veatch, Mrs. Carl Witte and Mrs. Earl Garoutte.

The Daughters of the Nile are planning for a benefit card party to be held January 11 at the Osburn hotel in Eugene. There will also be entertainment for those not caring to play cards. Mrs. H. E. Slattery, Eugene, is chairman of the general committee. Mrs. K. K. Mills of this city has been appointed to have charge of the five hundred tables.
