Man Lost Overnight In the Cold

DORENA, Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Becoming separated from companions Wednesday while hunting cougars near the head of Smith creek, Lawrence Chaffee spent more than 30 hours in the open in frigid cold and snow. This included one night during which he built a fire to keep from freezing. Chaffee was without a coat, as he discarded that garment after becoming warm while climbing a ridge. He had intended to pick it up when he returned.

A group of men went out Wednesday evening and searched the hills until 4 a. m. Thursday but found no trace of the lost man. Another party renewed the search. Just as a third party was starting out at 1:30 Thursday afternoon Chaffee walked in.

14-Year-Old Girls Use City Hall for Cigarettes

Finance Committee Recommends Issue of $35,000 in Refunding and Funding Bonds.

Cigarette smoking by young girls was a subject of discussion at Monday night's session of the city council. A member of the council reported that girls were using a room in the city hall as a smoking room and said that he had seen three girls, none of whom was over 14 years of age, burn cigarettes from logs and go to the room in the city hall to smoke them.

This report by the councilman followed the suggestion that patrons of the facilities of the city hall are so careless in the use of that property that some method should be devised for the upkeep of these conveniences. A nickel-in-the-slot lock on the lavatories was suggested. The subject was referred to the city hall committee.

Those in charge of the property reported that patrons maliciously mark walls, spit tobacco juice on the floors, scratch woodwork and in other ways put the city to unnecessary expense.

The council adopted a recommendation of the finance committee that a special election be called at once to vote upon an issue of $35,000 in water bonds, $20,000 of which to be used in refunding an issue of $100,000 of bonds due in June and $15,000 to be used in retiring warrants. The bonds would be paid serially, commencing in 1940, at which time the $100,000 issue of bonds for the present supply system will have been completely retired.

Colin Garoutte on Cadet Team.

Colin Garoutte, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Garoutte of this city, who is attending Hill military academy in Portland, is a member of the Cadet Cubs, a lightweight basketball team developed by the academy to give the smaller cadets competition in their own class. This is Colin's first year at the Portland institution and he is making an excellent record in both scholastic and military departments. It is the policy of the academy to have "every cadet on a team" and this policy not only affords excellent training for the entire corps but also uncovers latent athletic ability.

Colin's father, Mr. W. A. Garoutte, died in 1927. Among out of town persons attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Clow and daughters Mildred, Gerda and Doris of Oakridge and Mr. and Mrs. Bonney Perini of Divide.

Mrs. Clow was born January 16, 1848, in Boscomb, Wis. She was married July 4, 1866, to Francis A. Clow, who served in the Civil war with company H of the Minnesota cavalry. They moved to Oregon in 1891 and settled in the Cottage Grove district, later moving to this city.

Mrs. Clow was a member of the Christian church for many years and also was active in the women's relief corps.

Surviving relatives include five children, Mrs. Anna Horning, Albert Lea, Minn.; Mrs. Julia Ashby, Cottage Grove; F. M. Clow, Oakridge; Mrs. Olive McCoy, Cottage Grove; Vernon E. Clow, Bakersfield, Cal.; 17 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Albert Guggisberg.

Mrs. Albert Guggisberg, aged 44 years, 4 months, 3 days, died Thursday, January 16, from pneumonia at her home at Lorane. Funeral services were held at 10:30 Monday forenoon at the Mills chapel and Rev. I. G. Shaw of the Christian church officiated. Interment was in the A. F. & A. M. I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Violetta Ann Smith was born September 13, 1855, in Elkton. She was married to Floyd Coffelt August 17, 1902. To this union one son, Louis Clark Coffelt, was born. She was married July 23, 1922 to Albert Guggisberg and to this union two daughters, Maxine Pauline and Barbara Jane, were born.

LUMBER BEING STACKED IN NEW SEASONING UNIT

Two Houses of Standard Seasoning Society Have 4 Acres of Dock Space.

Stacking of lumber in the new unit of the Standard Seasoning society's plant at Latham has been under way for ten days. W. M. MacGibbon, who is western manager for the Standard Bridge company, owners of the plant, said last week. Installation of electric lights and a 75-horse power electric motor and other machinery was completed last week. Main construction of the new unit, which has been under way for three months, will be completed February 10. Putting in windows and upper doors remains.

The new unit is 580 feet long by 42 feet wide. It has an addition of 20 feet for a power house and 100 feet for a house receiving dock. Construction of the dock is such that additional sections may be added and the docks covered in the same manner as the main section of the seasonhouse.

The first unit of the plant is 660 feet long and has a 40-foot space for house receiving dock. It is planned to extend the first unit so that it will have a 100-foot house receiving dock. This construction will start this week and will be completed in two weeks. Alfred Wulfs is manager of the building and Jack Mainelli is in charge of construction.

At the north end of the plant 25,000 square feet of docking space has been built at the south end, 18,000, giving the new unit almost an acre of docking space. In addition the old unit has almost an acre of docking space, giving the plant almost two acres of docks.

An experiment in ventilating is being tried in the new building by constructing the doors in the form of a ship's hatch so that they can be opened four ways. This will be tried in the new building. Mr. MacGibbon said.

Designs have been prepared for machinery installations for receiving and unloading ends of both units and will be installed as soon as main construction is completed.

STORM AT DORENA MOST SEVERE IN MANY YEARS

DORENA, Ore., Jan. 19.—Old timers declare that the storm now in its third week is the most severe of many years. The storm broke with flurries of dense snow on the night of January 10, and snow, cold rain and blinding sleet have continued throughout the entire period, with result that the entire forest region of south Lane county carries a coat of snow ranging from ten inches to several feet in depth and the limbs of the trees have been drooping for many days with frozen snow and ice, the temperature holding below freezing the entire period. Today a heavy rain with occasional flurries of snow is marked by slightly rising temperature and increasing wind, resulting in stripping the forests of the crystalline trimmings. During the hours of the heavier rains and rising temperature the forests have resounded with crash and rattle not unlike heavy artillery fire, occasioned by falling ice and snow and crashing timber. Travel in the interior is all but out of the question and lateral roads and mountain trails are considered hazardous.

Diamonds worth $100,000,000, it is said, are smuggled into this country every year.

children, surviving relatives are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Oakland, Ore.; five brothers, J. Irving and Harry J. Smith, North Bend; George T. Smith, Powers; Lawrence M. Smith, Elkton; Morris H. Smith, Portland, and three sisters, Mrs. Ruth E. Guggisberg, Cottage Grove, and Mrs. Abbie A. Clinkenbeard and Mrs. Eliza Belle Outlip, both of Marshfield.

Another brother Etal of Elkton died January 11 in a Eugene hospital from pneumonia.

Mrs. Clara Young.

Mrs. Clara Young, a resident of this city for many years, died suddenly about 4:30 Saturday afternoon and it was believed heart trouble was the cause. She had been active and well up to the time of her death. She was aged 76 years, 3 months, 4 days.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Christian church and Rev. I. G. Shaw officiated. Interment was in the A. F. & A. M. I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Mrs. Young was born October 14, 1853, in Blue Rapids, Kan. She was a member of the Christian church and the women's relief corps. She is survived by a foster son, Orville Spear of Alhambra, Cal.; a stepson, Ogle Young, Wenatchee, Wash., and a number of nieces and nephews. Mr. and Mrs. Spear and L. R. Ralston of Dunsmuir, Cal., a nephew, came for the service.

Curious Old Documents Found In Trunk of the Late Grandma Willis

Several interesting documents have been found in the effects of Grandma Melvina Willis, who died several months ago at the age of 103 years. Grandma Willis had a trunk in which she kept many things which she considered of value and she permitted none to disturb its contents. The documents were found in this trunk.

One of the documents is what was certified by the secretary of the inferior to be a fac simile of the Declaration of Independence. It was printed in 1874.

Another is a copy of the Boston News-Letter for the 10 days of April 15-April 24, 1704. This was also certified to be a genuine fac simile. Printed on the reverse side of the fac simile are pictures of the first steam locomotive, the first train, the first steamboat, the house in which Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, Independence hall and a picture of New York in 1650, when it had about the same appearance as the Slabtown of the 80's that has since become Cottage Grove.

A third document is a copy of the Ulster County Gazette of January 4, 1800. It is devoted largely to doings of congress, to the war in Europe and to resolutions on the death of George Washington. The advertisements in this issue are of interest. There are several warnings those indebted to certain persons to make settlement at once in order to prevent trouble.

Another advertisement says: "A quantity of Scholarly peas, for sale or will exchange for wheat."

Other gives the information: "For sale, the one half of a saw mill. With a substantial place for building. By the mill is an inexhaustible supply of pinewood. And also a stout, healthy, active negro wench." Whether the wench is separate from the mill the wording of the advertisement does not make clear.

Here is an ad that is similar to a number of others appearing in the same issue, showing a lack of the aggressiveness that characterized the business of today: "Samuel Freer has just received an assortment of goods, adapted to the season, which will be disposed of for cash or country produce, upon very moderate terms. Askes taken in kind."

Evidently the newspapers of that day were much the same in some respects as those of today. One ad reads, "Writing, wrapping and box-making for sale at printing office." A second one says: "Samuel Freer has just received an assortment of goods, adapted to the season, which will be disposed of for cash or country produce, upon very moderate terms. Askes taken in kind."

University high school of Eugene will meet Cottage Grove high in a basketball game at 7:30 Friday night on the local floor. This will be a return game, the locals having played the campus high in Eugene at the start of the season, when Cottage Grove lost by a one-sided score. A preliminary game will be played at 6:30.

Springfield high school defeated the locals 31 to 8 Friday night on the gymnasium floor. The visitors showed a clever brand of floor work and maintained an edge over the locals throughout the game. Dale Gales, forward, who has been high point man for Cottage Grove in several games, was closely checked by the Springfield hoopers and had little chance to break free and score.

COLD WEATHER ACTS TO STEADY MARKET

Curtailment Forced Upon Lumber Manufacturers at Slowest Season of Year.

(Crew's Lumber Digest.) There are two big reasons why no one can predict just what will happen during the next 30 days. One is the weather in the consuming fields and the other the weather here on the Pacific coast. It is reasonable to expect at least two or three weeks of clear cold weather with freezing temperatures following the storm which has now brought the industry to a standstill. With logging camps already down the added snow will preclude all chances of a resumption of logging at least within the next ten days. In addition to the effect on mill production, which will eventually be felt if the camps cannot operate, the mills will also find it either impossible or uneconomical to try to continue sawing if there is frost in the logs.

Telegrams from reputable concerns in the consuming fields indicate that at best it is not reasonable to expect a revival that will keep any depth before the first of March. If then, for that reason, it appears that the tieup which confronts the sawmills is a blessing, for under such conditions there is no wrangling about joining in production, regulation, which is necessary if the mills are to prevent oversupply before the spring demand gets under way.

The enthusiasm and announced intentions of launching an extensive construction program, which immediately followed President Hoover's conference in Washington, is not quite as effervescent now as it was 30 days ago. The timing which congress gave some of the proposed building programs has not helped the situation and some are inclined to question whether the acceleration will be as big and far-reaching as was at first anticipated. At any rate, sound judgment would warrant a minimum output until the effects of the annual mid-winter tieup have passed and business has good indications against the bad so that the supply can be intelligently regulated to meet the demand.

AMERICAN LEGION PLANS MUSICAL COMEDY IN MARCH

Plans for a farcical musical comedy, "Hello, Buddy," to be given March 26 and 27, were made by the local post of the American Legion at its meeting Monday night. Robert Fromm, Fred Bennett and Ralph Chestnut are the general committee in charge of arrangements and the play will be staged under the direction of the Rosella Zura producing company. The Legion is also planning to sponsor a dance to be given March 21 at the close of a concert by the O. S. C. cadet band. The band's 8-piece dance orchestra will be featured.

Senator Edward F. Bailey of Junction City, a member of the American Legion, who recently announced his candidacy for governor, spoke at the post on bond and loans and on other state legislation of interest to Legion members. He also spoke briefly at a joint social meeting of the Legion and Legion auxiliary at the close of the Legion meeting and expressed the belief that the two organizations would continue to show a marked growth because of the worthwhile work each is doing.

Rev. I. G. Shaw gave a short talk on the principles of the Legion. Dr. H. A. Hagen, president of the Lions club, talked on cooperation between the Lions club and the Legion.

The post also made plans for a play to be given jointly with the auxiliary Friday night in Phillips hall to honor Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bagley, who are leaving Monday to make their home in Jerome, Ida.

Morford Loses Teeth In Skating Crash

E. R. Morford is wearing a battle-scarred face these days as the result of a skating accident Tuesday night on the Anderson & Middle mill pond. He was wearing racing ice skates and was traveling at a greater speed than he thought when he attempted to make a turn. The ice did not wait to receive him but came to meet him. He tried to impress his facial features on the ice but failed to do so, losing two teeth and suffering bruises to his chin, nose and lips in the experiment. An odd feature of the accident was that he failed to break his glasses although his face struck with full force on the ice.

Chamber Commerce Does Much in Two Years' Time

Activities Are Listed in Report; Lions Club, American Legion Credited With Aid.

That the chamber of commerce has done many things during the past two years to justify its existence was shown in the recent annual report of Secretary F. E. Mendenhall.

Among other things listed were: Support of bond issue for standby water line, which has resulted in Seasoning society and is expected to bring other units; cooperation with government in securing landing field, and expenditure of a fairly large sum of money in conditioning the field; support of movement to secure armory and payment of expenses incident thereto; assistance in getting county funds for the Lorane road, the south Lorane road, the Shoestring road and a road in the Bohemia mining district; support of experiments in alfalfa and turkey growing; creation of interest in goat industry; financial support of such worthy causes as community chest; American Legion's Christmas tree, etc.; joining with the Western Traffic association in an effort to get lower freight rates; financial support of mess fund for military company; work of endowment committee to eliminate solicitation for unworthy causes; financial support of community publicity which has brought several new families to the community.

Credited for assistance in chamber of commerce work was given to the Lions club and the American Legion, both of which organizations responded to every request made of them.

TWO LADS ARRESTED HERE FOR FACE WASHINGTON CHARGES

Billy Coles, 12, and Marvin Teibel, 15, Puyallup, Wash., youths who were arrested here January 9, were taken to Portland Tuesday by John L. Marsh, juvenile court officer, and turned over to Pierce county, Washington, to be taken to Tacoma. The boys are alleged to have stolen a car in Pierce county.

The two boys were arrested here after a series of petty thefts and were taken to Eugene last week and turned over to the juvenile authorities. They escaped and are said to have stolen a purse containing $25 and an automobile. They were recaptured in Ashland.

SCARLET FEVER IS CAUSE OF CLOSING SCHOOL ROOMS

Scarlet fever again broke out in the city during the past week, but none of the cases is serious and Health Officer Frost believes the situation is well in hand. Children afflicted are all from the east side first and second grades, and these rooms have been closed, to be reopened Monday if the fever is no further cases. Those suffering with the malady are a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hopman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Averill and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hanson, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Moore.

PORTLAND NEW CLAIMANT TO C. G.'S CIRCULAR HOUSE

Cottage Grove's circular house, which has been pictured in papers over the country, must be a peripatetic domicile, for it was recently located at Cottage Grove, Iowa, and in a recent Washington paper was placed at Portland, Ore. Why some enterprising California city has not yet claimed it is a mystery that none here have been able to explain.

Drum Corps Reorganizes, Elects.

Fair Weather

GOLLY DAY! THOSE BANKERS AREN'T SUCH BAD FELLAS, AT THAT!

UNUSUAL WEATHER IS BECOMING THE USUAL

Sawmills Continue Inactive, Black Butte Mines Down, Skaters Are Happy.

The unusual cold spell is continuing for long here that it has become almost usual, and Monday night a low record of 5 degrees above zero was recorded. Sawmills continue inactive, and this has been a serious inconvenience to many who depend upon sawdust for fuel. The supply has been completely exhausted and other forms of fuel are being tried in sawdust burners with indifferent success.

A peculiarity of the weather here has been the way in which it varies within a distance of a few miles. While there has been a glaze of ice on city streets here and on roads leading into the city, roads have been in good condition a few miles away. While snow has not started away to disappear in the city, in the higher regions it has disappeared almost completely. In the W. A. Woodard Lumber company's logging camp, where there was two feet of snow before the storm, here, it has disappeared and logging operations have been resumed.

At Black Butte the quicksilver mines have had to suspend operations because of lack of electric power. Telephone and power line repair crews are working out here and have been kept on the job day and night in an effort to keep up service. The city was without power for half a day, and one night there was no power after it "clocked." A number of telephones in the city and on farmer lines have been out because of damage to lines.

Nearly every day the thermometer has risen to above freezing, but the result has merely been to make skating better and travel by foot or vehicle more difficult. Skates have been shipped in from as far north as Seattle and every night many enjoy the exhilarating winter sports. The Anderson & Middle log pond in the city has been transformed into a rink.

Wild life has been suffering, especially the birds, and feed is being put out daily. Chinese pheasants, found with their tails frozen to the ice and their plumage covered with ice, have shown no fear of those who rescued them and gave them food.

No relief from the storm is expected for several days.

Lane County Can Be Great Dairying Center

Dean Jamison Declares That All Needed Requisites for Success Are Present.

"Lane county has the necessary requisites of a great dairy section," said N. C. Jamison, dairy specialist of the extension division of the Oregon State college, who spoke before the Lane county chamber of commerce Thursday night in Eugene.

The primary purpose of the meeting was to acquaint chambers of commerce of the county with the dairy situation in Lane county, and to urge full cooperation of all chambers in the dairy industry. A broad-wide dairy day observed at the Eugene chamber of commerce today.

"The five essentials for a successful dairy region are present here," said Mr. Jamison. "The climate is right, no great extremes, and this lessens the production cost. There is a long growing season, which increases the pasture period, thus increasing the butterfat yield. There is plenty of moisture, an absolute essential. The soil types are of no parts of the county are suitable to profitable dairying, for the overhead cost of dairying is the same on poor as on rich soil. Finally there are adequate transportation facilities."

"Lane county has areas that can compete in production costs with all other sections of the country, and many have even lower costs than many of them."

"Small dairy farms cannot hope to succeed. Too few cows or a limited growing area has proved the cause of many failures. The conclusion is that a dairy specialist, 125 Lane dairy farms is that the gross income has to be at least $3500 if they are to be even partially successful. The five most profitable farms in the valley section have a gross income of $3500 to the five most profitable on the coast have a gross return of $4200.

"The cost per cow is the big factor in butterfat production. We must have cows that can produce at least 300 pounds of butterfat per year. The most successful farms of the county and of the state have rigidly eliminated all animals that produce a less amount."

AUDIT SHOWS COMMUNITY FUNDS IN GOOD CONDITION

An audit of books of the Community Welfare organization, formerly the community chest, shows the organization to be in sound financial condition and its administration to be in able hands, according to the report of E. R. Morford of the Accounting & Auditing Service, who made the audit.

The budget for 1930 totals $1300, of which $774 per cent will be expended locally. The 1930 budget items follow: Local charity, $600; playground, $50; Red Cross, $100; children's farm home, $75; Pacific Protective society, $75; Salvation Army, $50; Lane county boy scout council, $250; local boy scouts, $100. It is understood that items mentioned in the budget are not pledged to be paid to the various charities but that disbursements will be made in proportionate amounts from actual contributions.

Last year 200 persons were assisted and $403.03 was spent on local charity alone. In addition 125 cases were investigated.
