George and Ross Overholser have been confined to their home with the grip.
Mrs. George Teeters is improved in health and able to be about again.

Mrs. Ralph Teeters has been sick for several days with bronchial pneumonia.

Mrs. Ed Conklin has been ill with a severe cold but is improving.

Several cases of chickenpox have been reported in the district. Children ill with the disease are Clara Jane Allen and her brother and sister, Boyd and Eunice Allen, children of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Allen; Rollin Conklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Conklin; Marion Babcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Babcock; and Calvin Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Swanson.

Henry Myers broke a leg one day of last week while getting stuck in a pole struck him and owing to the slippery condition of the ground, he was knocked over. He was rushed to Eugene by some of his fellow workers and it was found he had suffered a compound fracture. His wife knew nothing of the accident nor of her husband's being taken to a hospital until informed by a neighbor.

Horses in the district are suffering from the severe weather. S. C. Swanson lost a valuable horse during the past week and three owned by Clarence Rowe are sick. Attendance at the district school was reduced to 30 per cent during the past week owing to the difficulty of walking on the icy roads.

Lucille Favor was an all-day visitor at the district school Friday. Alvin Allen was in the Grove Saturday to visit his grandmother. Mrs. Elvira Allen, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ashby Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. C. Spriggs of Cottage Grove.

Among those who attended the junior class play "The Patsy," were M. E. Paul and his mother, Mrs. E. E. Paul, Chester Allen and John Woolcott, the latter spending the night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weston Allen in Cottage Grove.

A 50-foot chicken house owned by J. C. Bassett, who has been laden with snow and ice that the roof collapsed recently. No chickens were in it at the time. Mr. Bassett intends to pull it down and build smaller houses of the lumber that is used.

Mr. Bassett has been sawing wood for a brooder house during the freezing weather and has been busy hauling it this week.

Mrs. Everett Allen and daughter Maxine visited Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weston Allen in Cottage Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Babcock, former residents of this district and now of Phillips, S. D., are visiting in the neighborhood. They are traveling by auto. They came through California and expect to return through eastern Oregon via Portland. They were surprised to find a "Dakota" winter in Oregon on arriving here ten days ago.

Itha Grimes and the children of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Whaley are sick with the measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Darnell and family left for California Tuesday of this week for a short visit.

Mrs. Oscar Wheeler, who recently underwent an operation in a Eugene hospital, is home again and is recuperating satisfactorily.

Residents of this district who have lived here for more than 30 years report they have never seen a winter such as this one. For two weeks there has been an icy crust on top of the snow, strong enough at one time to hold a horse. Traveling has been a dangerous occupation. In every direction the country is covered with a sheet of ice and though it thaws a little, each night's frost makes it more slippery. About the lowest recorded temperature for this district was 2 above zero.

So-Called Middle Ages
Imaginary Says Writer

The Middle Ages never existed. The journalistic John Addington Symonds and others to the contrary, modern historians of science temper now that the content which the phrase commonly holds for the popular mind is a myth, a phrase and a provocative tool of that imploding superstition of the modern world—the superstition of Humanism.

When Flavio Blondo surveyed the world from 410 to 1410 and, conveniently, laid it out in a series of "decades," he was doing no more than to flatter the self-centering illusion of those of his contemporaries who were zealously devoted to the newly fashionable litterae humaniores.

Hence the picture of a vast expanse of time, a mortal reckoning, extending from the wall of the Roman empire in the West in 476 to the fall of Constantinople in 1453, a dark and desolate waste peopled by the scholastic ghosts of thought, the intellect numbed and shivering.

Read a popularizer like Symonds, and you will get this latter picture: A world that has been blinded for centuries suddenly tearing the bandages from its eyes and awakening to the fact that life is life and filled with a springlike joy.

It is a charmingly naive conception—charming, but naive. Unfortunately, the working out of human destinies in a corporate society is not quite so simple an affair as all that.—From "Rabelais: Man of the Renaissance," by Samuel Putnam.

Abundant Proof That Sound Waves Can Kill

Living creatures can be struck dead by sound waves too highly pitched for the human ear to hear them, writes C. G. Briggs. These high frequency waves—called supersonics—have been tried on animals and produced instant death. The sound appears to shatter the blood corpuscles, and death is as sure and sudden as if the creatures had been struck by lightning. Sound can do many things which seem mysterious and almost miraculous. For instance, fire can be extinguished by sound, writes C. G. Briggs. The late Mr. Charles Kellogg of California gave a demonstration of the power of sound over flame, and by drawing a violin bow across a piece of aluminum extinguished a burning gas jet at once.

Sound vibrations can not only break a wine glass but can damage a building. It is suspected that the deep, vibrating notes of organs can cause vibrations which can actually weaken the structure of a church or cathedral.

Power From Niagara
The first application of Niagara power was to a sawmill built by a Frenchman in 1720 on the New York bank near the rapids. At present Niagara power is used in Syracuse, 165 miles from its source, and also in Windsor, Ont., 240 miles away. By treaty the amount of water that may be diverted from Niagara for power purposes has been limited to 38,000 cubic feet per second on the Canadian side and 20,000 cubic feet per second on the United States side. The power is used in the manufacture of aluminum, ferro-silicon, carborundum, artificial graphite, liquid chlorine, calcium carbide, cyanamide and other products.

"Personality"
The term "personality" was used by Weyl in 1390 to designate the quality peculiar to a human being or person, and yet it was not until recently that the word began to enjoy any popularity. Neither Shakespeare, nor Milton, nor the extraordinarily comprehensive vocabulary, nor Milton, nor his stupendous command of the English language, even to its most recondite recesses, ever employed the word, that has such a long history and, more recently, has come to acquire an interesting past in assuming the abbreviated and piquant form "It."—A. A. Roberts in the Cosmopolitan.

Aspire and Elevate

Did you ever hear of a man who had striven all his life faithfully and singly toward an object and in no measure obtained it? If a man constantly aspires, is he not elevated? Did ever a man try heroism, magnanimity, truth, sincerity, and not find that there was no advantage in them—that it was a vain endeavor?—H. D. Thoreau.

Balloons Still Have Uses

Modern devices and methods are not to put the balloon out of business, for they have many fields of usefulness from which they will not be readily displaced. They are essential means of training men for flights of other kinds, for gathering data of value to students studying the upper air, as a sport and as targets for anti-aircraft gunners.

First Stethoscope

Rene Theophile Laennec in 1808 made with his own lathe the first stethoscope, the forerunner of the modern instrument carried by every practicing physician today. Most of the modern terms describing the conditions in the chest, both normal and tuberculous, were originated by Laennec.—Hygeia Magazine.
