Health Group of City Makes Impressive Record

Cottage Grove public health group made a splendid record during the past 13 months as shown by the annual report given by Mrs. Schofield Stewart, local chairman, at the annual meeting of the Lane county public health association Wednesday night at the Osburn hotel in Eugene. The report of the local group follows: Eighty-one children in the district received "blue ribbons"; dental inspection was given in the schools; toxin-anti-toxin was administered to 384 children; 100 were vaccinated for smallpox; the traveling "health clown" was financed; a sale of health seals was conducted; a number of physical corrections were made through the health seal; 6 sheets were added to the loan closet.

Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar of Portland, prominent health worker in the state, was the principal speaker at the evening. Mrs. Dunbar reported the state in a recent child health conference with President Hoover in Washington, D. C. She was one of 32 representatives at the conference. Its purpose was to perfect a more efficient health program for the entire country through the public health groups.

The present officers of the Lane county association were retained for another year. It was reported that Lane county now has a complete health unit. Miss Beattie Williams and Miss Jane Gavin are the public health nurses, each caring for different parts of the county. Money is available for a full time doctor and his appointment will be announced later.

Boy Scout Advancement Outlined by Scoutmaster

Achievements Listed at Special Sunday Service; Rev. Randle Talks on Ideals. The twentieth anniversary of the organization of the Boy Scouts of America was observed with special services Sunday night at the Baptist church. Boy scout troops Nos. 16 and 18 with their scoutmasters and many of their parents were present.

At the opening of the service the boys gave the scout oath, led by Scoutmaster G. E. Arnest of troop 18. A short history of the organization was given by Scoutmaster K. D. Baker of troop 16. Mr. Baker also gave a report of the activities of the local troops during the past two years including the advancement of merit badges.

The report is as follows: Thirty-four passed second class tests; 20 passed first class tests; 17 obtained sufficient merit badges to become star scouts; 6 received the rank of life scout; 2 were awarded the Eagle rank, the highest rank in scouting; 244 merit badges have been awarded; a drum corps was organized and made trips to Medford, Salem, Sunset Trail and other points; a fair and two Fourth of July celebrations in Eugene and the corps paraded on each occasion; school traffic in the vicinity of the high school was directed for a year; 20 acres of trees under the reforestation plan were planted; a father and sons banquet, as one among outstanding local affairs, was sponsored.

Rev. L. H. Randle gave the address of the evening, taking as his subject "When a Man's a Man." He said he knew every boy was eagerly looking forward to his age of manhood and he endeavored to show the fallacy of some of the popular ideas of manhood, requirements of one reaches that age. The mere fact one is 21 years of age does not make him a man, said Rev. Randle, as many men at the age of 50 years fall short of that ideal while some boys are men even before they reach the age required by American laws to entitle them to the privilege of voting.

The ability to smoke a cigarette, carry a "hip flask" and go around shouting about personal liberty does not make a man of one. If the art of smoking a cigarette was the only requirement for a man, then silly girls, foolish women and trained monkeys could all qualify, said the speaker. He spoke disparagingly of propaganda afloat through efforts of propagandists hired by tobacco companies and bootleggers. This unfortunate advertisement is not for any special service but merely to line the pockets of the business men who represent it. It is all so cleverly designed that many fall for the "milk and honey" and by accepting them merely establish a premise that a man is a man when he is a bandit, an outlaw and a beast, continued Rev. Randle.

As a summary Rev. Randle outlined three things a man cannot be and a man must be. First, he cannot be a coward; second, he cannot be a bandit and not a bandit; third, he will not be disloyal to his country, his scoutmaster, his parents or himself; fourth, he will not be a snob, a scout is friendly, courteous, kind and helpful. On the other hand when a man's a man he will do the following: first, he will be a better man; second, he will choose a worthy ideal; third, he will leave the world better than he found it.

Rev. Randle held up Jesus of Nazareth as the highest and noblest ideal that any man could have. Elbert Smith Jr. played a violin accompaniment to the music during the program.

DEMONSTRATION OF FROZEN FRUIT IS TO BE GIVEN HERE

Frozen fruits will be demonstrated next week at the Smith-Short grocery with special emphasis on fresh frozen strawberries. O. H. Heine, a former resident who is now general sales manager of the Ruy-let Fruit company, will be here Wednesday and Saturday, February 19 and 20, to demonstrate the frozen fruit which is packed by the Eugene Fruit Growers association.

In preparing the fruit for market fresh fruit is frozen solid and the appearance of fresh fruit. The frozen fruit can be kept in an ice box for several days.

It is hoped that this demonstration will arouse interest in the planting of larger berry acreages, especially strawberries, for the frozen fruit trade, as Mr. Heine believes this has a great future. He recommends the Marshall variety as being the best for freezing and the most adaptable to soil in this vicinity.

Oranges and other citrus fruits are a particularly good source of vitamin C.
