Mock Spirits in Daytime but Fear Them at Night

Night has great terrors for the inhabitants of the islands of Bali, because of the Dutch East Indies, because of the great number of demons (dutas) prowling about in the dark. To appease these evil spirits, the mother of each home places on the doorstep, or shrine, a platted tray filled with fruit, often with a small lamp to show the way. When the demons find what they want they are supposed not to molest the people of the house. If a man has to go about by night he always carries a lighted torch and sings to keep the spirits away, as they do not like either light or music.

In the daytime, however, the natives can make fun of these spirits without coming to harm. On feast days they dress up and imitate the demons, mocking them. But as soon as the shadows lengthen, the clothes are returned to the temple and those who have worn them pray a little longer than usual and offer a little more food than regularly to the spirits who may come to their doorsteps.—New York Magazine.

"Witch Finder" Haled to Court by His Dupes

Germany is doubtless an extremely modern country, yet not quite so progressive as might be surmised. At present the Criminal court of a small place in Mecklenburg has to decide a medieval witch trial.

For several years the small village on the Baltic has been pursued by evil fortune. Cattle have died and the harvests destroyed by storms. The peasants could not explain all these ills except by the belief in witchcraft. They therefore engaged the services of a renowned wizard of Rostok, who, for considerable remuneration, promises to exorcise the malignant witch. Panic struck the poor peasants when, after weird incantations, an old woman was really found in a small wood and declared by the omnipotent wizard to be the baleful witch.

Mere chance later disclosed that the old woman had been carefully brought along by the wizard on his motor cycle. The peasants recognized that they had been duped and, proving themselves fairly modest after all, went to court to sue the wizard.

Statesmen Not Money Getters

George Washington left an estate valued at more than $800,000. John Adams' estate amounted to $75,000. Thomas Jefferson died poor. If congress had not appropriated $20,000 to purchase his library he would have occupied a pauper's grave. Madison left an estate of $150,000. President Monroe died so poor that his relatives supplied the money to bury him. John Quincy Adams left $55,000. Jackson, $80,000; Van Buren, $40,000. Polk left an estate worth $150,000. President Taylor's estate was worth $150,000. Tyler married a well-to-do wife, as did also Fillmore, who left an estate of $200,000. President Pierce's estate was valued at $50,000; Buchanan's at $550,000, and Johnson's at $50,000. Lincoln and Grant were poor men.—Capper's Weekly.

Men Once Carried Muffs

Though we are told that muffs are to be worn again by women, it is highly unlikely that any of the once sterner sex will follow their example. Yet up to the close of the eighteenth century it was common for the well-dressed man to sport a muff suspended round his neck by a ribbon. Horace Walpole, writing to George Montagu in December, 1755, says: "I send you a decent smallish muff that you may put in your pocket, and it cost but 14 shillings."

English May-Day Custom

As far back as the medieval period in England, Chaucer says it was customary to go out early on the morning of the first of May "to fetch the flowers fresh." Hay thorn branches were carried home about sunrise amid much merry making. The name "The May" was given to the hawthorn, and the ceremony was called "the bringing home the May." A relic of the Roman custom, when on May day the goddess Flora was especially honored, is seen in the selection of a beautiful village maid to be crowned as "Queen of the May."

Origin of "Chop Suey"

It has often been said that chop suey is unknown in China, and that it was invented in the United States by Chinese cooks. But the particular recipes of Chinese cooks in this country are not commonly followed in China, very similar dishes, at least are served there. Chop suey is simply a combination of meat, Chinese vegetables and other common ingredients; it requires no ingenuity to think of mixing them, and it is not likely that any modern cook could claim the credit.

Monarch's Three Crowns

The king of England has three crowns: the imperial crown, the coronation crown, and the St. Edward's crown. The first crown was made for the coronation of Charles II in 1662. The imperial state crown of India owes its origin to the law which forbids the crown of England being taken out of England. When George V was crowned in Delhi a new crown had to be made.

Complicated

Small Bobby was having difficulty in mastering the use of the word "complicated." He had used it incorrectly several times and it seemed to weigh on his mind. One morning at breakfast he remarked thoughtfully: "Mother, an egg hatches into a chicken, and the chicken lays an egg and I eat the egg. That's 'complicated,' isn't it?"

Gypsy Patterans

Gypsies use patterans as signs along the highway to indicate to gypsies who follow, what route has been chosen and the conditions along the way. Patterans sometimes take the form of twisted twigs or fallen leaves.

SOCIETY

Haney-Garman. The marriage of Miss Emma Garman and Paul O. Haney, both of Black Butte, was solemnized this forenoon at the Christian church parsonage. Rev. L. G. Shaw read the civil service and Mrs. R. B. Garman and O. A. Haney were the only witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Haney will make their home at London. Mr. Haney is employed in the quicksilver mines. Tentative plans for celebration of the golden jubilee of Cottage Grove chapter of the Eastern Star, to be held July 24 in Masonic hall, were outlined at the Friday night meeting of the chapter. Mrs. W. J. Woods of the program committee gave an outline of the program. Several grand officers are expected to attend. A birthday cake will be a feature. A program followed the regular chapter meeting. Vocal solo by Helen Ostrander, accompanied by Melba Cochran; "Three Old Maids of Lynn," given by Josephine Coons, Pauline Brown and Mrs. Agnes Barker with Miss Ostrander as accompanist; reading, Mrs. Barker; lighthouse skit, with Miss Ostrander as keeper, Mrs. C. S. Roberts as villain, Mrs. C. S. Roberts as the keeper's daughter and Mrs. Barker as the hero. The entertainment was concluded with a clever poem by Mrs. Barker in which she honored the present officers of the chapter. Mrs. Barker was chairman of the entertainers' committee. Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. E. Frost, Mrs. Roy Short, Miss Sather Silaby, Mrs. A. A. Richmond, Mrs. A. Brund and Mrs. Schofield Stewart. This was the last regular meeting until fall. Mrs. W. J. White entertained Wednesday afternoon with the first of a series of "vanishing" luncheons, entertaining a group of 12. Each of the 12 will in turn entertain eight others, the proceeds of the luncheons to go to the Presbyterian ladies' aid society. Guests were Mrs. George Matthews, Mrs. B. R. Job, Mrs. E. W. Arnes, Mrs. N. E. Glass, Mrs. Helen Bosley, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. George Bjorset, Mrs. S. L. Godard, Mrs. James P. Graham, Mrs. Grace Van Oadel, Mrs. Bert Trask and Mrs. Victor Shaw. A social afternoon was assisted by Mrs. J. Q. Willits. Mrs. Elbert Bede, who was assisted by her daughter Beth, entertained Tuesday afternoon for her daughter Elsie's birthday anniversary. A peanut hunt and outdoor games were played. Each child received a balloon and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The invited guests were Jeanette Lafon, Marjorie Woodard, Shirley Ann Woodard, Pauline Moore, Roberta Guigley, Marjorie Quigley, Marie Lombard, Arlene Anderson, Betty Owen, Velma Bennett, Betty Weiden, Irene Leonard, Dorris Bjorset, Virginia Brown and Shirley Burkholder. A group of friends honored Mr. and Mrs. Clark Goodman Saturday evening with a surprise farewell party. Mr. Goodman, who is clerk at the local Shell Oil company distributing plant, has been transferred to Reston, Wash. A farewell gift was given Mr. and Mrs. Goodman. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolfard, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Shofstall, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swartz, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wheeler, Miss Josephine Wiseman and Ross Glass. The evening was spent playing cards and refreshments of cake and ice cream were served. Mrs. C. E. Frost was hostess last Thursday afternoon for the Utopia club, inviting as additional guests Mrs. Virgil Powell of Ashland, Miss Beth Paulson of Portland, Miss guest of her sister, Mrs. Omer Moore, and Mrs. W. L. Workman. A pleasant social afternoon was spent with needlework. A delicious two-course luncheon was served at the Colonial. The dining table was attractive with pink roses, pink candles and pink rosebud favors. House decorations were baskets of delphinium, madonna lilies and pink roses. The Social Twelve club picnic last Tuesday was changed from Lorane because of unfavorable weather conditions and was held at the home of Mrs. B. R. Job. Mrs. Jack Coyle of Hollywood, Cal., and Miss Naomi Hoskins, daughters of Mrs. C. E. Hoskins, were additional guests. A picnic lunch was served and a social afternoon was enjoyed.

DORENA.

(Special to the Sentinel.) June 30.—Dorena defeated Yoncalla 5 to 4 in a baseball game played on the local field Sunday. Hitch Hiker Is Banned By Four States

Four states have laws to prohibit the hitch-hiker from begging along motor routes. Maine, New Jersey, Minnesota and Wisconsin have enacted statutes making it a misdemeanor to stand in the highway and solicit a ride, reports the Oregon State Motor association. The District of Columbia has a similar law. The Minnesota statute is typical of such laws; it provides: "No person shall stand in the traveled portion of a roadway for the purpose of or while soliciting a ride from the driver of any vehicle other than a common carrier."

Honor Students at University

Here are some of the honor students graduating from the University of Oregon this year. Left to right are Naomi Hohman, Portland; Wilfred Brown, Canas Valley; La Wanda Fenelon, Portland; Wendell Smith, Klamath Falls; Eleanor Poorman, Portland, and Ralph Millsap, Gates. Four others not in the picture are Julian Smith, Portland; Louisa Bradway, Eugene; Grace Caldwell, Prineville, and Ruth Jaynes, Eugene. Miss Fenelon was chosen by the honors council of the University as the outstanding honors student and winner of the $25 Phi Beta Kappa prize given by Richard W. Montague of Portland.

The O. L. H. club was entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Jacobson for its last meeting of the summer season.

Additional guests were Mrs. W. B. Johnston, Mrs. T. C. Wheeler, Mrs. O. E. Woodson, Mrs. Earl Garoutte, Mrs. Charles Reider and Mrs. C. A. Bartel. The afternoon was spent playing bridge and Mrs. H. A. Miller held high score. At the tea hour dainty refreshments were served. Caroline Testout roses, gladioli and sweetpeas, grown by the hostess, were attractive room decorations.

The LaComus club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. Miller for its last meeting of the summer season. Mrs. George Jacobson was a guest. Plans were made for a picnic to be held in two weeks. A pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed and dainty refreshments were served. Roses, sweetpeas and mixed summer flowers were attractive room decorations.

The ladies' circle of the Baptist church will hold an all-day session of quilting Wednesday in the church parlors. Work will be provided for those who do not quilt. Members have been asked to take lunches.

A group of friends gathered at the S. L. Mackin home Tuesday evening for a picnic, honoring Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Umphrey, who will leave Friday for a visit in the middle west. A pleasant social evening was spent with games.

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

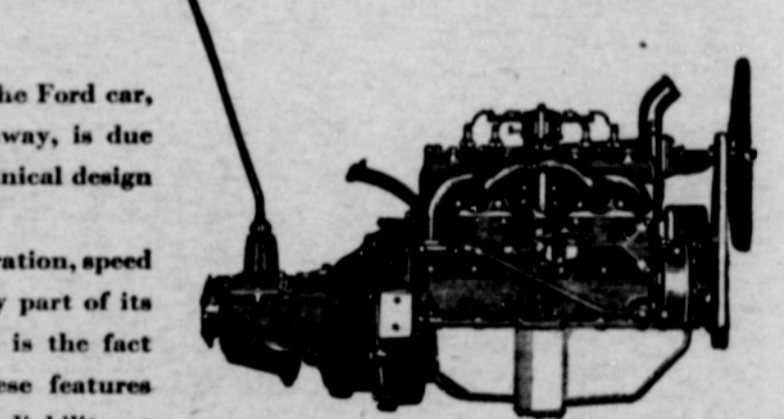

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

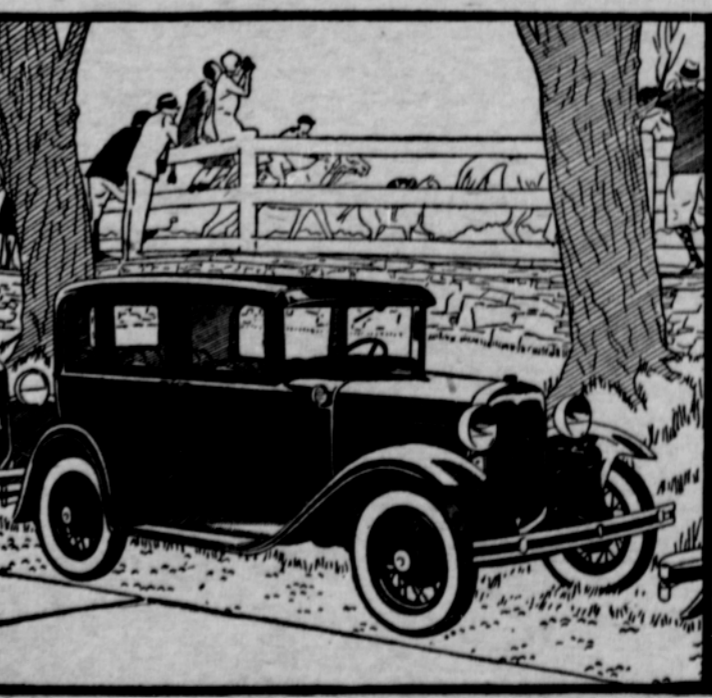

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.
