Indian Peace Medals

The early peace medals given to the Indians were struck in any design to suit the fancy of the donor. Beginning with Jefferson's day, a standard official medal was adopted and those following were the same size, design and metal, with the names of the respective Presidents, until the administration of Fillmore in 1850, when the reverse was entirely changed.

Point Moral Idea

Little Apes of Nikko, sometimes known as the "Three Wise Monkeys," is the name of monkeys which appear in a mural decoration among ancient tombs at Nikko, Japan. The three monkeys are as follows: Mizaru, who sees no evil; Kikazaru, who hears no evil; Mazaru, who speaks no evil. The legend connected with these monkeys is simply a moral idea to point out the wisdom of minding one's own affairs and the folly of scandal.

Unromantic

Most couples get married without the girl knowing how the man looks with a three days' growth of whiskers and the man doesn't have the faintest idea of how she'll look in hair curlers.—Ohio State Journal.

Synchronous Clocks

The bureau of standards says a synchronous clock, operated on a circuit for which it is designated, can neither gain or lose, nor be set. It must be kept in exact step with the generator in the power house. However, if the current stops, the clock will stop unless it has some auxiliary attachment to keep it running.

Ape and Human Foot

The foot of a gorilla resembles the foot of a man more closely than does the foot of any other primate, probably because of the gorilla's habits of walking.

Odorous District

Gorgonzola is the center town of cheese-making in Lombardy. The cheese takes its name from the place—not the other way round.

A pueblo containing 500 rooms is now included in the Aztec ruins national monument in New Mexico.

"Queen of Heaven"

The Egyptians in invocations to the deities used the term "Queen of Heaven," and in Jeremiah 7:18 it is recorded: "In the streets of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, the children gather wood and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough, to make cakes to the queen of heaven"; also 44:17: "We will certainly perform every word that has gone forth out of our mouth, to burn incense unto the queen of heaven."—Washington Star.

Poser for Psychoanalysts

Psychoanalysts might do something useful and explain the suicidal urge that prompts chickens to rush under the car.—Columbia South Carolina State.

Better Hustle

Perhaps the world may owe you a living, but you will die of starvation if you sit down and wait for it to call and settle.—Terre Haute Tribune.
