Symbols of Jewish Faith

A phylactery is a reminder. It is, in reality, a small leather box containing slips of parchment on which are written Scriptural passages. Two such boxes are worn by Jews, one on the head and one on the left arm, during the time of prayer on all mornings except those of Sabbaths and holy days. The passages are Exodus, 13:1-10, 11-16 and Deuteronomy, 6:4-9 and 11:13-22, and are reminders of obligations to keep the law.

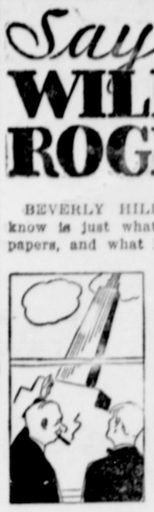
Says Will Rogers



BEVERLY HILLS.—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I happen to see prowling hither and thither. I was in New York recently and I decided that before I left there I would like to see Al Smith. I hadent seen him in a long time and had always been an admirer of him. I just wanted to see him and see how he was, and how he was feeling. So I phoned him, and he said "Come right on down." He is right across the street from that wonderful Empire Building, in a corner suit overlooking it.

This building belongs to Jesse Jones a mighty well known Democrat, he is the fellow that bought the Democratic Convention for Houston, Tex. He owns these buildings all over the Country and rents em mostly to Republicans.

Well Al never looked better in his life, and I have known and been seeing him around New York for many years. He started in of course by showing me the 90 story building, out of the window that gave us the best view of it. It did look wonderful. Its got some sort of outside structual steel work that looks like Illinum, and in the sun it just glistens. Then he started in showing me old pictures on the wall of his office that showed early scenes in New York. He showed some of the old houses on the lower east side where he lived, one under the very shade of Brooklyn Bridge. Then the old home in Oliver Street. He is without a doubt the most sentimental prominent man I ever met. He glories in the past. He had one picture that showed the old Theatrical team of Harrigan and Hart, who made their great fame in the "Mulligan Guards." It was in a large frame with dozens of the old time favorites, including the old Theatres that they played in. He would hum to you the tunes of those old favorites.

I dont care whether you agree with him politically or not, the person dont live that could meet him and be with him awhile that wouldent go away not liking him.

I had just come from the White House a day or so before and was telling him about how Mr. Hoover was worked up over this relief business. Well Sir I bet Mr. Hoover has not even among his own party a single man that has as much sympathy and good feeling for him than Al Smith. There was no put on about it, he really meant it when he would talk of the many things that had seemed to go wrong through no fault of the Presidents, yet he had to bear the brunt of them.

Here was a man that had been in office long enough to know what you can be blamed for. No Sir Hoovers best booster is Al Smith, and he had just been working with Ex President Coolidge on a Committee to give away an Estate that had been left to Charity, and he had the highest praise for Coolidge too, and he says, as I have always maintained, that Mr. Coolidge has a great sense of humor, and he would tell some of it that happened during their deliberations.

We went over to the Democratic Club for lunch, and he got to telling about the animal pets that the children had at the mansion in Albany. He built almost a Zoo there to house them. How a big pet Bear that they had raised from a cub had got loose and got over into a girls Orphanage, and they was all scared to death for fear he would hurt somebody and instead these Kids has him pulling and wooling him around and they couldent hardly get him away from them. They was feeding him bread and jam. He would tell of his doge his Kids had. One a great Newfoundland, that in the summer when it was so hot they would fix him in the basement, and then keep the hose on him. He could tell you every characteristic of every dog, the more trivial a subject the more interesting he could make it. No hard feeling, no rancor toward anybody. A Unique man, with a unique record, polled more votes than all the other Presidents that were elected, with the exception of Mr. Hoover. I doubt if he wants to run again.

Even if he dont he will retire into private life one of the most, yes the MOST, popular man of our time. He is the most human of our present day figures. He is not from the soil, but from the cobblestones, and he knows after all they all are human and just alike.

GAME ASSOCIATION BACKS PLAN TO RAISE BOUNTIES

Among issues that came before the Lane County Game Protective association at its meeting Thursday night of last week in Eugene was that of raising bounties on many predatory animals. A resolution supporting a raise was adopted by the association. The association discussed favorably the plan to close to fishing several smaller streams feeding the McKenzie and Willamette rivers. It was also explained that the fish commission has a plan to sein these rivers for graylings and suckers which prey on small trout and trout eggs.

Cooperation with the state game commission in the propagation of Chinese pheasants was also discussed. It was said the commission has a plan whereby the game organizations would maintain pens for raising pheasants, releasng the roosters a short time before the opening of the season and holding the hens until after the season closes.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PLANS TRAVEL BARGAIN SPECIALS

Making an innovation in the field of railroading, the Southern Pacific company has announced plans for a "dollar day" special, heretofore solely a feature in the field of merchandising. Bargain sales in roundtrip transportation are scheduled for two successive Fridays, Febraury 20 and 27, with fares reduced to approximately one cent a mile.

Railroad officials have watched closely the growth of the "dollar day" sale and believe that application of the idea to passenger transportation will prove a marked advantage to those interested in travel economy. They believe these will be just as acceptable to the buyer as merchandise bargains. The plan will apply to travel on all S. P. lines and will provide for travel on all trains, both coach and Pullman. The Friday specials will be good for four days from the date of purchase, according to T. M. Boyd, local agent. The return limit will be the following Tuesday midnight.

City Band Make Big Hit With Wednesday Concert

A large and enthusiastic audience attended the band concert given Wednesday night by the Cottage Grove city band. The program was well received. The numbers were presented with a dash and spirit that made the entire program one that would be a credit to any larger or more experienced organization. Lions Club Assists In Relief Work

The Cottage Grove Lions club has undertaken the project of securing the remaining $100 of Cottage Grove's $200 quota in the nation-wide campaign to raise $10,000,000 for relief of drouth sufferers. One hundred dollars of the local quota was contributed by the local Red Cross unit. The national Red Cross is sponsoring the $10,000,000 relief campaign.

It was the plan of the Lions club to ask a small donation from civic and fraternal organizations of the city as a means of raising the quota. Results of the campaign have not yet been announced.

The tuberculin test, given students in the city schools by county health officials, was completed Wednesday of last week and the number of positive reactions was reported less than the normal average for the test. One hundred and eighty-five pupils were given the test. Positive reactions were reported for 23 in the grades and 10 in the high school. Announcement has been made by the school administration office that cases showing a positive reaction will be X-rayed at Pacific Christian hospital in Eugene at a nominal fee of $2. Parents have been urged to cooperate with county health officials by taking advantage of all assistance offered.

The test given last week was under the direction of Dr. Kerron, assisted by Dr. Harold Axley, Miss Bess Williams and Mrs. Fitzgerald, county health nurses of Eugene, and Mrs. K. K. Mills, Mrs. Armand Wynne and Mrs. J. S. Stewart, representing the local public health group.
