The Royal Neighbor camps of Lane, Linn and Benton counties are making plans for a mass lodge meeting to be held in Eugene Monday, March 9, honoring Mrs. Alice Nash, Hock Island, Ill., chairman of the supreme board of managers for Royal Neighbors of America, who will pay an official visit at that time. The expectations are that it will be the largest meeting of its kind ever held in Eugene. The meeting will open at 1:30 p. m. when a school of instruction will be held. Following this meeting a reception will be held at Dreamland hall. A banquet will be served at 6:30 at the chamber of commerce rooms and in the evening an open meeting will be held at the hall. In the degree work to be exemplified Mrs. Fred Anderson and Mrs. A. W. Swanson of the local camp will act as marshals. Five members of the local camp will represent the rainbow colors which will form a background for the ritual work.

Annual past matron and past matron night was observed Friday at the regular meeting of the Order of Eastern Star. Roll call was a special feature and past matrons and past patrons responded by quoting favorite passages from the ritual work. Mrs. Alberta McMurry, Eugene, past grand matron of Oregon, gave an interesting address on the history of the Eastern Star order, dating back to early years in the eighteenth century. Other honor guests gave brief talks. Mrs. Lydia Stouffer, charter member and past matron of the chapter, and Mrs. McMurry were escorted to the east and presented with flowers. Mrs. W. S. Bennett of Portland, past patron, was an out-of-town visitor. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Workman were welcomed as newly affiliated members. At the close of the evening refreshments were served. Mrs. Elbert Bede was chairman of the committee.

The Delphian society met Monday night in the city library with Mrs. F. E. Mendenhall as program leader. The evening study included topics on "Old World Music" which followed: "Folk Song in Art Music of the Middle Ages," Mrs. Mendenhall; "Instrumental Music of the Middle Ages," Mrs. James Duncan; "Early Forms of Polyphonic Music," Mrs. R. S. Trask; "The Old French School," Mrs. C. E. Umphrey; "The Gallo-Belgic School," Mrs. Elbert Bede. The club presented a picture, "The Last Supper," by Leonard Da Vinci. Rev. D. P. Cameron gave a lecture on the picture. C. Kem, representing the library board, accepted the picture and thanked the club for the gift. The library board members were guests for the evening. Mrs. R. S. Trask was elected secretary for the remainder of the year.

The Ministerial association met in a luncheon session Monday at Hotel Bartell, complimenting Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Randle, who left this week for their new home in Sacramento. Rev. Randle will be pastor of the Calvary Baptist church in the southern city. Rev. D. P. Cameron was instructed by his fellow pastors to write to the ministerial group in Sacramento, introducing Rev. Randle. He also was instructed to write to the press to tell them of Rev. Randle's leadership in community affairs and his loyal support of all things for city betterment while he resided in Cottage Grove. Those present at the luncheon were Rev. and Mrs. Randle, Rev. and Mrs. I. G. Shaw, Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Aldrich, Rev. W. V. McGee and Rev. Cameron.

The Order of Rainbow for Girls observed "Dad's" night at their meeting last week in Masonic hall. Following the business meeting a short program was given. Vocal selections were given by George Matthews and Mrs. Duncan Cameron; Wilberta Wilson entertained with violin selections, accompanied by Jean Allison, and Jennie Burrows gave two readings. Talks were given by various members of the Masonic and Eastern Star organizations. At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

Mrs. C. E. Umphrey entertained officers of the Order of Eastern Star Saturday afternoon, honoring Mrs. L. H. Randle, who left this week for Sacramento, Cal., to make her home. Social entertainment made the occasion a most pleasant one. Mrs. Randle was presented with an Eastern Star ring by her sister officers. At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

Mrs. A. W. Swanson entertained the O. L. H. club Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Effie Knowles. Mrs. Knowles, a former club member, was a special guest. Mrs. James P. Graham held high score at bridge. At the close of the afternoon a delicious luncheon was served. The club will meet next with Mrs. George Morgan.

The Constellation club met Thursday afternoon in regular session and completed plans for a benefit card party last night at the Masonic hall. Mrs. D. H. Hemenway was chairman of the hostesses committee. Mrs. James P. Graham was chairman of general arrangements for the card party.

The Past Noble Grand club met Thursday of last week in I. O. O. F. hall for a business meeting and social afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served at the tea hour by the following hostesses: Mrs. George Currin, Mrs. Charles Caldwell, Mrs. Stella Baker and Mrs. T. M. Boyd.

The Rebekah staff group met Friday night in I. O. O. F. hall for drill practice. A social hour followed and dainty refreshments were served. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Susie Garoutte, Mrs. Merle McKibben, Mrs. Alice Conner and Mrs. George Currin.

The W. R. C. met Saturday afternoon in I. O. O. F. hall with 18 members present. Mrs. Emaline Elser, a recent arrival from California, was received into the corps. A plan for furnishing the auxiliary room in the new armory was discussed.

Guest. Following the banquet the group attended the evening meeting of the Eastern Star chapter. The committee in charge of the banquet was Mrs. J. T. Smith, president of the Past Matrons' club; Mrs. J. H. Chambers, vice president; Mrs. Roy Short, secretary.

Mrs. K. K. Mills and Mrs. W. M. MacGibbon were charming hostesses this week for a series of "rainbow" parties given at the home of Mrs. Mills. Many unique features had been planned for the pleasure of the guests. The "rainbow" idea was cleverly carried out in the room decorations and the menu service. Each card table was equipped in a separate color with seven tables and a potted plant in a corresponding shade was placed nearby. In the parlor a large rainbow extended across one end of the room and at its foot stood a pot of gold from which guests took their prizes. Tables advanced according to the range of colors. Dainty servings of cakes and ice cream, in rainbow colors, and coffee formed the menu and lingers and dishes in the room completed the effect. Guests were privileged to delve into the mysteries of the "pot of gold" for their fortune and three at each party were led by their fortunes. The guests were entertained at sewing. Guest prizes were found by Mrs. F. E. Mendenhall and Mrs. Elbert Bede. Tuesday night a group of married couples was entertained at a card party. Mrs. C. S. Roberts received a prize for the women, James G. Duncan received the men's prize and M. and Mrs. Schofield Stewart received the married couple's prize. Wednesday afternoon a group of guests were invited for bridge and the following received prizes: Mrs. S. V. Allison, Mrs. Cleo Morelock, Mrs. L. S. Crawford, Mrs. Fred Anderson, Miss Lula Currin and Mrs. Sam Veatch. Most of the hundred guests accepted invitations.

Ladies' aid society of the Christian church met at the church Wednesday for an all-day session at which the officers of the chapter were honored guests. The honored guests and their respective ages, totaling 1000 years, follow: Mrs. Kohl, 87; Mrs. Alice Hawkins, 85; Mrs. Susan Root, 84; Mrs. Phronia Willard, 75; Mrs. Allison, 73; Mrs. Shaffer, Mrs. Smith, 70; Mrs. Crenshaw, 78; Mrs. Lora Finerty, 73; Mrs. Huff, 77; Mrs. Brown, 70; Mrs. Gowing, 77; Mrs. Rhodes, 70. A dinner was served at the noon hour and the following program was given in the afternoon: Piano solo, Mrs. Florence Small; reading, Mrs. Lester Childs, duet, Mrs. Small and Mrs. Jim Powell; reading, Mrs. Gowing; song, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," by the audience; reading, Mrs. Crawford. The closing of the afternoon was devoted to singing old time songs. Fifty-seven were present.

The Degree of Honor entertained at the close of their meeting Wednesday night for the pleasure of Mrs. Lois A. Geiser, national regional director. The following program was given: "The Tragedy of the Family Plate," a skit by members of the lodge; vocal solo, Mrs. R. Isom; vocal trio selection, Mrs. Glen Haney, Mrs. Cleo Morelock, Mrs. Armored Mendenhall, accompanied by Mrs. Cecil Caldwell; tap dance, Dorothy Haney and Mildred Bennett; accordion, by Miss Ethel Bennett; drill by the Degree drill team. Mrs. Geiser was presented with flowers. Miss Hilda Fawcett, representing the lodge, made the presentation. The officers of the lodge met at 6:30 at the Colonial for dinner, honoring Mrs. Geiser. Covers were laid for 14.

The study of contemporary Irish literature formed the lesson presented for the Tuesday Evening club at their meeting in the city library Tuesday night. Mrs. C. E. Umphrey and Mrs. Charles Beidler were in charge of the program. Mrs. Umphrey spoke on "Gaelic Revival" and "The Irish Theater." Mrs. Beidler talked on the life, works and style of Lady Gregory, Richard Butler Yeats and "A. E.," three of the foremost authors of Irish literature. The evening was considered additional contributions to the student loan fund which brought the total to $35.75. The committee expressed themselves as well pleased with the sum, which was slightly above the contribution of last year.

The Mothers' club met for an all-day session Wednesday at W. O. Hall. Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Randle, who left this week for their new home in Sacramento, were honored guests. A quilt was finished by the club and presented to Mrs. Randle. Dinner was served at the noon hour and special guests were Rev. Randle, N. E. Glass, D. A. Emerson, and S. L. Mackin. Mrs. Rosa Curran gave the following report on welfare work during February: 67 garments, 18 pairs of shoes and 6 hats distributed to the needy. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. N. E. Compton, Mrs. Rosa Curran, Mrs. Fanny Anlauf and Mrs. Helen Bosley.

Mrs. L. P. Sanford entertained Saturday afternoon with a bridge party, honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. B. Johnston Jr. of Medford, who was here for the week end. At cards the guest of honor held high score and Mrs. Victor H. Chambers held second high. The room was attractive with red carnations and ferns. Dainty refreshments were served. Guests were Mrs. Johnston of Medford, Mrs. H. H. Harms of Portland, house guest of her sister, Mrs. O. E. Woodson, Mrs. George Matthews, Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Merville Veatch, Mrs. H. A. Hagen, Mrs. O. E. Woodson and Mrs. H. C. Wells.

Mrs. Roy Short entertained the M. P. G. club Tuesday with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Colonial. A centerpiece of violets and pink sweepstakes were artistic table decorations. The afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. Short. Banquets of anemones and laurustinus added to the attractiveness of the rooms.

Mrs. Jack Mauding was hostess Friday for the Sew and Sew club. At the close of a social afternoon dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Floyd Orey and Mrs. Gene Remington were special guests.

The Past Matrons' club will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Beidler, in place of Mrs. J. T. Smith, who was to have been hostess. Mrs. J. H. Chambers will assist Mrs. Beidler in entertaining the club.

Miss Belle Burkholder will entertain the Joker club this evening (Friday).

Mrs. Dale Hawkins entertained members of the J. C. Penney store force with a breakfast Tuesday morning at her home.

The La Comus club will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles VanDenBurg.

Past matrons and past patrons of the Eastern Star and guests met Friday evening for a banquet at the Colonial. The banquet was served at 6:30 and covers were placed for 35. Bowls of spring flowers and clever hand painted placecards made the tables especially attractive. Mrs. Lydia Stouffer, a charter member of the Eastern Star and a past matron, was presented with a corsage bouquet. Mrs. Alberta McMurry of Eugene, past grand matron of Oregon, was a special guest. The Free Methodist missionary society met for an all-day session Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ben Whitten. Work was done on a quilt which will be used for missionary returns. A covered dish luncheon was served at noon. Devotionals were led by Mrs. T. J. Orr. The group will meet next week at the home of Mrs. Orr.

Mrs. O. E. Woodson entertained Tuesday evening with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Colonial. Covers were laid for 18. Daffodils and ferns formed an attractive centerpiece for the table. The afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. Woodson with bridge. Mrs. F. L. Grannis held high score for members and Mrs. H. A. Hagen held high score for guests. The rooms were attractive with potted plants and bowls of sweet peas. Afternoon tea was served at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Angie Wilhelm, sister of Mrs. Woodson, Mrs. Herbert Eakin, Mrs. Hagen, Mrs. H. C. Wells, Mrs. Wilbur Spray, Mrs. Raymond Grube (Penger) and Mrs. V. H. Chambers.

The grade teachers club met Monday night at the Colonial in regular monthly session. A dinner was served at 6:30 and was followed by the business meeting. Supp. D. A. Emerson presided in the place of J. Thum, president of the association, who was on the program. Methods of individual instruction are being studied by the group and Mrs. Thum, Mrs. Elbert Smith and Wilbur Watkins reported on various counts of study. Miss Gertrude Dilley spoke on a new textbook on moral instruction, applying it to fit the need of the school. A round robin discussion on the evening's program followed.

Mrs. W. W. McFarland entertained Thursday afternoon of last week with a bridge party, honoring her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Glen Smith of Klamath Falls. Guests were invited to the banquet room of the Colonial, which was especially attractive with potted plants and bowls of spring blossoms. At cards Mrs. Charles Hall held high score and Mrs. Ralph Salsman held second high. Mrs. Smith was presented with a guest prize. Following cards a dainty luncheon was served.

The Mizpah class of the Presbyterian church met Tuesday night for its regular monthly business and social meeting. A covered dish dinner was served at 7:30 and the meeting followed. Plans were discussed for helping with the church budget for the ensuing year. The "Polyanna friendship" game for the year closed and members voted to whom they wished to play Polyanna. Names were drawn for the evening were Mrs. Will Chestnut, Miss Stella Adams and Miss Esther Silsby.

Mrs. D. H. Hemenway entertained Thursday of last week for the Social Twelve club in place of Mrs. A. Hemenway. Mrs. R. H. Fields was a guest. A pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed and light refreshments were served. Oregon grape and pussywillow were room decorations and the table was artistically decorated.

The Presbyterian ladies' aid society will meet Wednesday in the church parlors. Annual election of officers will be the special business of the session. Hostesses will be Mrs. A. W. Swanson, Mrs. Fred Wright, Mrs. T. C. Wheeler, Mrs. D. H. Hemenway and Mrs. E. C. Shay.

The J. C. Penney store force held its regular monthly business meeting at the store Tuesday night. A number from the company store in Eugene were present.

If weather conditions are favorable, the Bohemian Hikers' club will hike to the top of Mt. Hood next Sunday. The group will meet at 2 o'clock at the home of William Balmbridge, who will lead them to the top of the hill. Cars can be driven to the base of the hill and the club will hike up the hill. A number of persons interested in the hike have been invited to join the Bohemians.

F. L. Chambers, president of the First National Bank in Eugene, was speaker at the Lions club luncheon Thursday noon at Hotel Bartell. Mr. Chambers, who made a trip to the Orient during the past year, described various places visited on the tour in a most interesting manner. Visual Aids spoke on business conditions in the community and elsewhere. N. J. Nelson entertained with a vocal solo.

Legion Plans Play. Calvin Funk post of the American Legion will sponsor a two-hour program to be held Friday night, March 13, in the high school gymnasium. The main feature will be a play, "The Neighbors," to be presented by Westminster Guild, a group of University of Oregon students. Other numbers on the program will include a fencing exhibition, musical numbers and selections by university radio artists.

Elkton Defeats Warriors. The Elkton basketball team defeated the Cottage Grove Warriors quintet in a return game 38 to 30 Monday night at Elkton. The locals took the lead in the first quarter. Elkton went into the lead in the second quarter and maintained it through the remainder of the game. The Warriors' lineup follows: H. Wolfard and Gates, forwards; Shofstall, center; Bagley and Rollins, guards; L. Wolfard, Glass, Goff and Kelly, substitutes.

Preaching Mission to Continue. The preaching mission being conducted at the First Methodist Episcopal church will continue until March 15, according to Rev. Ira R. Aldrich, pastor. Attendance is increasing and interest is deepening in the mission, he said. Mrs. Aldrich is again singing at the mission services, following recovery from a recent illness.

Developing Powers of Observation in Child

Teach a child to be observant of everything around him, and you give him one of the soundest starts in life, for observations are very rarely wasted.

The Japanese are a race who appreciate to the full the value of observation, and their babies are taught it unconsciously almost from their cradles. They learn it as a game. The Japanese mother will give her child a tray of objects to look at for a few minutes, then the tray is taken away and the child tells her all about its contents. It is quite a thrilling game when there are lots of things to remember, and children take to it very quickly.

To be able to observe swiftly and accurately will often help one very substantially in life. To take in one's surroundings quickly, and to be able to sum up characters fairly accurately, are two very useful assets and each derived to a certain extent from observation.

When there are decisions to be made, it is possibly the man or woman who has been taught to observe from childhood who stands the best chance of making happy ones.

Cobra Worshipers Hold Deadly Reptile Sacred

Every year the dreaded cobra is responsible for the death of many thousands of persons in India, but so sacred is the snake considered that it is difficult to get the Hindu to assist in its destruction. In many Hindu houses these deadly reptiles have regular homes, and are daily fed with milk, and solemnly worshipped morning and evening.

At a place known as Subramanyam, cobras are to be found in practically every house, and on certain festival occasions special services are held in their honor in the temple, thousands gathering from long distances to participate.

Although at any moment some member of the household harboring the snakes might accidentally be bitten—which means certain death—no one dare destroy the cobra on account of its sanctity.

Even where the living snake is not worshipped images of the cobra, carved in stone, are common, and of a series of images one can frequently see men and women offering gifts before these "snake shrines."

Quality in Marble

Marble which may be grained with beautiful shadings, while it is beautiful in appearance, in reality is not pure marble. The colored marble is made by mixing with the pure marble, which is a soft stone, a hard material and during the period of consolidation following coloring matter has made its way into the fracture and brought about the grain that is so desirable in certain classes of marble installations.

Black and grayish shades are due to the presence of carbonaceous matter, usually flake graphite. Red, pink or reddish-brown shades indicate the presence of manganese oxides. Shades of yellow, brown, yellow and creamy shades, while other colors, such as the bluish tints, are so far of undetermined sources.

All for Fashion

As to teeth, the Wakamba tribal custom was for all men to have them sharply filed to a point, after the fashion so prevalent in parts of the Congo and popularly supposed to denote courage and propensities. As they were not enough, they often extract their own teeth, then take those of animals, sheep or hartebeest, file their ends, shape their bases, and screw them into the vulva. When first I read of this in a popular book I refused to credit it, but it is a sober fact.—Julian Huxley in Saturday Review.

Forestry Is a Business

Successful forest management demands application of the same investment principles that are applied in other successful businesses, viz., to perpetuate the value which will no longer exist satisfactorily, writes R. P. Kirkland in the Journal of Forestry, are mostly incapable of recovery except through continued use as part of forest property. The chief knack of forest management consists in analysis of and proper order of the recovery of the tree investment.

Popular Northern Names

Eric denotes "ever royal" or "all ways kingly," from the two Teutonic words, "el" (ever) and "rik" (a king or ruler). It was a famous name among the old Scandinavians and northern races who adopted it as a family name. It has also a feminine form—Erica. Eric has been used for centuries among the old royal families of the North, because of its splendid meaning. Our most familiar form is "Edith" (eternally true) and three kings of that name have sat upon the throne of England.—Montreal Herald.

Efficiency

"The modern criminal is much more efficient than the old." "I suppose so." "Yes; the old-time used to say 'your money or your life' and the present-day kidnapper kills first and then takes your money."—Portland Express.

Briefly Told

The ripest peach is highest on the tree.

Laws and Customs

Laws are subservient to custom.—Plautus.

Not a Lawyer. "When did the robbery occur?" the cross-examining lawyer asked the witness. "I think," he began. "We don't care what you think; we want to know what you know," remarked the lawyer. "Well, I may as well get off the stand then," said the witness, "I can't talk without thinking. I'm no lawyer."

That's Not Very Fast. Just as we refer to the speed of an engine by saying it turns over so many revolutions per minute, we can describe the circulation of money by saying roughly that it turns over twenty times a year.—Collier's Weekly.

LACK OF MONEY HAMPER ROAD WORK IN BOHEMIA

That less federal government money would be available this year for road work in the Bohemian mining district than last year was the sentiment made by O. E. Crowe, county commissioner, at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the chamber of commerce. He reported that he had investigated the situation and the prospects were that less money would be available from forestry funds.

Paul S. Pieper, district forest ranger stationed at Rujada, reported that he had been forced to lay off part of the forestry road crew due to lack of funds.

It was decided that the chamber of commerce should use its influence to secure a larger government appropriation.

Summer Camp Given Praise

The Y. M. C. A. camp, conducted last summer on Frank Brice creek, received special comment in a recent report of the Northwest Y. M. A. received by Henry S. Howard, general secretary of the Eugene association. Sincere praise was given because of the fine setting afforded the camp, which was located in virgin timber of the Umpqua national forest reserve. The surrounding area was ideal for interesting hikes. The camp discipline was also warmly praised by members of the Northwest Y. M. A. The success of the camp was due to the cooperation received from forest service officials, according to Mr. Howard. Special attention was given to improving the road leading to the camp.

Drain and Lions Divide

The Drain high school basketball team and the Cottage Grove Lions, Presbyterian Sunday school, divided two games recently. Drain winning 31 to 25 last week and the Lions winning 28 to 21 Monday night on the local floor. The Lions' lineup Monday was DeYoung, center; Scheufele and Chestnut, guards; Pillsbury, substitute.

Simple Matter Declined

Bostonian's Alma Mater. The late Sherman Whipple, one of Boston's best known lawyers and famous characters, was unique among his colleagues, owing to the fact that he went through Yale instead of Harvard. It was almost sacrilege and proved a decided drawback at the beginning of his career. This is no slam at Yale, but merely states the fact that in the eyes of Bostonians, a local boy who went there instead of to Harvard has committed a social error.

Of course, Whipple had intended to go to Harvard, but as expense had to be considered, his prudent mother wrote to both Harvard and Yale asking them to send catalogues.

Short Short Story, but Neatly Pointed Moral

A certain king sent to another king, saying, "Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else—" The other replied, "I have not got one, and if I had—" For these words he went to war. After many men had been killed they wished for peace. But before peace could be got they had to explain the words they had used. "What did you mean," asked the second king, the first, "by saying to me, 'Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else—?' " "Why," said the other, "I meant a blue pig with a black tail, or else some other color. But what did you mean by saying, 'I have not got one, and if I had—?' " "That if I had one, I should have sent it." Both kings were pleased, and peace was made. Many quarrels are pretty nearly as foolish as the one about the blue pig with the black tail.—Montreal Family Herald.

Great White Way

In 1915 a considerable part of London was lighted by gas, and experiments were being performed in this country. Six years later gas-lighting in Baltimore proved a success.

The new agent of civilization was sneered at by the skeptics, frowned on by the conservatives and generally scouted by the great body of people who had used oil lamps and candles and who were incredulous of any change for the better.

In 1923 the first gas-light establishment was organized in New York city, and in 1926 there were 120 gas lamps installed on Broadway from the Bowers to Grand street, replacing the old oil lamps. Thus started the "Great White Way."

EUGENE RECORD, WEEKLY NEWSPAPER, IS PLANNED

Announcement has been made by H. E. Maxey of Springfield, that the Eugene Record, a weekly newspaper, will start publication about the middle of March. Mr. Maxey will be president of the company. Articles of incorporation of the Record Publishing company were filed in the office of the corporation commissioner at Salem Friday. The company will maintain offices in Eugene and the paper will be printed at the plant of the Springfield News, which is edited and published by Mr. Maxey. Mr. Guyon, who has been connected with Eugene newspapers for a number of years, will be editor and vice president of the company and George Schaefers of Eugene will be secretary and advertising manager. Should the business justify such a move in the future it is possible that the paper will eventually develop into a daily, according to Mr. Maxey. This however would depend entirely upon future developments, said Mr. Maxey. All business and news gathering will be transacted at the Eugene offices.
