Three Egg Hunts Are Provided for Children

Last week end was a gala time for children of the city with three Easter egg hunts scheduled for their amusement. The primary department of the Methodist church school held a hunt Thursday afternoon, the American Legion and the American Legion auxiliary held a hunt for children of veterans Saturday forenoon and the Lions club sponsored an egg hunt for all children of the city and surrounding communities Saturday afternoon.

Approximately 225 children and 75 grownups attended the Lions club hunt. Eleven hundred eggs had been hidden on the golf course by boy scouts. Those participating in the hunt were lined up and started on a signal. Boy scouts patrolled the grounds. Three trays of candy Easter eggs were provided for the small children who were tiny to take part in the hunt.

Fifty-six children and 15 mothers attended the egg hunt sponsored by the primary department of the M. E. Sunday school and held in the church parlors. The hunt was in the form of an Easter party. Games in addition to the egg hunt were enjoyed. Refreshments were served. A picture of the group was taken at the close of the party.

Robert Lafky won first prize and the small son of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Bird won second prize for finding the most eggs at the hunt sponsored by the Legion and its auxiliary. Thirty youngsters took part. Ten dozen eggs were hidden. At the end of the hunt the eggs were divided equally between the contestants.
