Smart Shop Observes Its First Anniversary

The Smart Shop, a specialty store featuring women's clothing, will celebrate its first anniversary Saturday with a one-day sale.

The shop was opened February 7, 1931, by Mrs. Ruth Garoutte in store space over the C. J. Breier company store. August 1, Mrs. George Jacobson bought a half interest in the shop.

With the growth of business the shop was moved October 5 to a downstairs location in the First National bank building. New fixtures and new interior decorations were added to make it a first class women's specialty shop.

In an interview Mrs. Garoutte said, "We wish to express our hearty appreciation to our customers and friends for cooperation and assistance in our success during the past year and we are hoping to be of service to many the ensuing year. This shop was opened with the purpose of providing a convenience for women of Cottage Grove and vicinity."

We ask you, the women of the Cottage Grove district, for the opportunity of serving you, as it is only through your hearty cooperation that this specialty shop can continue to be of service to you."

During 1931 the Smart shop sponsored two style reviews, giving Cottage Grove the opportunity of seeing new styles in advance of the season.

The Smart Shop recently added nightgowns to the lines already featured which include hats, suits, dresses, scarfs, hosiery, lingerie and special orders on coats.

Mrs. Garoutte spent several days recently in Portland making selections for the shop's spring line of merchandise.

THE FINANCIAL TRIANGLE

The financial triangle we have in mind is not the one that may be thought of by those who believe it to be the problem of adding and subtracting a person's income to make it meet multiplying expenses. The triangle we are thinking of is federal inspection, the federal reserve system and the known reliability of its directors which make this bank the outstanding financial institution of the country it serves. While inspection and regulation may at times be irksome to business, they are welcomed by this bank which thinks first of the safety and security of the funds entrusted to it. Every resident of south Lane should have a checking account with this old reliable banking institution.
