MARSHALL DANA TALKS BEFORE COUNTY C. OF C.

Standardization of farm products, with great profit to producers, was to have been described last night by Marshall N. Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal before the April meeting of the county chamber of commerce, which was held here. Mr. Dana has been for years working for standardization of agricultural products and told of the improved prices received by producers as a result of standardization.

Flood control in the Willamette and McKenzie valleys was also to have been discussed and Kenneth Harian, secretary of the Eugene chamber of commerce, was to have described a proposal for the advertising of Lane county being promoted by the Rivulet Fruit company of Minneapolis. O. H. Heine, general salesman for that company, was to speak briefly.

The salesman went to press just before the meeting was held.

Money, Lifeblood

If you have examined the statement which a bank must publish frequently, if the amount of reserve cash on hand and due from banks is satisfactory to you, if capitalization with double liability of stockholders, is satisfactory to you, if undivided profits and surplus make a showing satisfactory to you, if bonds on hand (listed at market value) are satisfactory to you, if the officers and directors are men in whom you and the community have confidence, your money is much safer in the bank than it is put away where someone may steal it, where it may be destroyed or where it may become lost.

Money out of circulation does no one any good. Money in the bank is used to promote business and industry of your community. Taking money out of circulation is like taking blood out of the human body. Your money works for you and your community when you have it in a strong, safe bank. We invite inspection of our statement.

THE 1932 YEAR BOOK

OUR HISTORY OF 1931

IN many lines of industry the largest companies reduced their output in 1931. Those who furnished them with raw materials had, at best, restricted markets.

Swift & Company's 1932 Year Book, now ready, tells how this nation-wide, diversified marketing organization met conditions in a better way.

1. It kept its doors open and handled more pounds of products than in 1930.

2. It continued to pay cash for all it bought.

3. In more than a hundred produce stations it held to the policy of purchasing all the poultry, eggs and dairy products offered by farmers.

4. Still more important, Swift & Company cut its own costs.

Thirty years of experience have proved that the most economical way to market produce is through the same channels that handle meats. The same salesmen sell, the same refrigerator cars transport, the same branch houses sell and deliver the whole Swift & Company line of fine foods, such as Swift's Premium Hams and Bacon, Swift's Premium Milk-Fed Chicken, Golden West Fowl, Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs, Cheese and many other products.

Read the 1932 Year Book. It explains how a rounded line makes Swift & Company operations stable and how diversification lessens the costs of handling both meat and produce. It takes the mystery out of the factors that go to make price levels. And it tells in detail the steps this Company has taken to make itself still more efficient in covering the gap between hundreds of thousands of producers and millions of consumers.

Your copy awaits you. Ask your local Swift Produce Plant or use the coupon below.
