

HELP WANTED

Oregon citizens are on the brink of ruin facing the bitter prospect of losing properties by tax confiscation.

With a high-powered taxing machine, designed for more than the traffic will stand, the tax boosters have speeded along, without effective control. They are now on the edge of the ditch.

Talk of tax strikes is heard, but far more serious is the utter inability of property owners to pay their taxes.

Many governmental units, by reason of tax delinquencies, are on the verge of bankruptcy.

Fortunately, the opportunity is at hand for clear thinking citizens to take control and direct a safer course.

Two constructive measures now on the ballot will insure efficient driving of the tax machine and a slower gait.

These measures embody the improved Oregon Plan of tax and debt supervision and control—the best plan ever presented in any state.

They will secure very substantial reductions in the property tax load and thereby promote better government.

They will definitely separate tax levying from tax spending powers.

They will provide effective limitations and control of taxes and indebtedness, but positively will not disturb the existing 6% limitation nor lift the lid of any debt restriction now fixed by constitutional provision.

They will preserve the true substance of home rule in taxation, distinguished from the empty form of that great principle as it has been perverted by tax boosters to their own selfish purposes.

Voters, the appeal is to you to help yourselves and your fellow citizens, to save Oregon property owners from impending ruin and your governments from fiscal chaos by voting:

1¢ WILL DO THE AVERAGE FAMILY WASHING

do not understand how cheap electricity really is. The average electric washer, for instance, can be operated from one hour, to two and one-half hours, for 1 cent. A large four-tub washing can be washed spotlessly clean in the modern electric washer in one, to one and one-half hours. Electricity is so clean, is so easy to use, operates so quietly and is so very efficient that many times we fail to realize how much service we receive for the small amount of money we pay.

MOUNTAIN STATES POWER COMPANY

No Knowledge of First English Poet Laureate

There is no authentic record of the origin of the office of poet laureate of England; it is said to have been created during the reign of Edward IV (1461-1483), though earlier than this date, during the reign of Henry III (1216-1272), there was a king's poet who was paid 100 shillings a year. Geoffrey Chaucer, who lived from 1338 to 1400, assumed the title of poet laureate, and in 1389 received a royal grant of a yearly allowance of wine. But the first poet laureate in the modern sense was Edmund Spenser, who was granted a pension of £50 by Queen Elizabeth in 1591. Ben Jonson was the first to receive the office by formal letters patent.

The appellation is derived from a custom of the English universities, which continued until 1512, of presenting a laurel leaf to graduates in rhetoric and versification—the "King's Laureate" being a graduate rhetorician in the service of the king. It was formerly the duty of the poet laureate to write an ode on the birthday of the king, but this custom was discontinued in the reign of George III.

Maoris Firm in Belief

That "Tiki" Brings Luck

Although the Maoris are becoming civilized to an extent where they can send intelligent representatives to the New Zealand parliament, they nevertheless cling religiously to the green-stone charm called "tiki," which they superstitiously believe will ward off all evil. The stone is of small value, so it is an easy matter for even the poorest to provide themselves with it.

They usually cut it into grotesque figures, or heads, with eyes hollow open and the tongue sticking out in defiance, or derision, the idea being to frighten away anything that might be harmful. The women wear these charms on chains around their necks, and no native woman is considered fully dressed without this superstitious challenge to fear.

Like other South Sea Islanders, the Maoris believe in the tapu, or tabu. They are taught not to touch the things that are forbidden, and if the tapu is broken the transgressor suffers great agony of mind. Some have died in agony after hearing that they had eaten some food that was forbidden.

World's Silver Output

All the silver mined in the world since man began to use the metal would make a cube only 115 feet on a side. This is no mean quantity, however, for it would pave an avenue 144 feet wide 6 inches deep for four miles.

It is estimated that the amount of silver mined in the world since 1492 is about 15,000,000,000 fine ounces, and of that amount, 40 per cent has been obtained in the last 30 years.

The May marriage season in India is one of the biggest features in the movement of silver in the world. The metal is used in large quantities for bridal ornaments that become the "rainy day" fund of the family.

Stained With Royal Blood

A unique carpet, stained with the blood of the murdered Russian czar, Paul I, has been added to the Museum of Applied Arts in Leipzig. In 1782, the carpet was presented by the French king, Louis XVI, to Paul of Russia, who was then crown prince. Paul succeeded his mother, Catherine the Great, to the throne in 1796. His short rule was marked by various oppressive measures taken against the Russian peasants. Thousands of free peasants were made serfs and given away to his favorite courtiers. A palace conspiracy put an end to his reign and life. When he was assassinated the carpet now acquired by the Leipzig museum was drenched with his blood.

Where Rhine Is "Lost"

The mighty Rhine river, flowing through half of Europe, is camouflaged when it reaches Holland. The traveler need not ask, when in Holland, where is the Rhine? Not even the natives know. The river branches into many outlets when it reaches Dutch soil, and each outlet has been given an individual name, the Dutch being careful to avoid the use of "Rhine." The Waal is part of the Rhine, uniting the Maas, which is known in its southern course as the Meuse, and then on its way to the North sea is neither the Rhine nor the Waal but the Maas.

Modern Gabriel's Horn

British scientists have developed a device which will multiply the sound of the human voice 3,000,000 times. One of the uses to which it will be put will be to warn, exhort or frighten British subjects who threaten to become unruly. Used from an airplane, it is easy to understand what this "thundering voice from the sky" would mean to the superstitious. Speaking in Arabic, it might pretend to come from Mohammed himself, in Chinese from Confucius, or in Hindi from Brahma.

Woodchuck Good Eating

In pioneer days, the groundhog or woodchuck was considered the makings of a toothsome dish, says the American Game association. Nowadays they are not generally eaten, but since woodchucks are strictly vegetable feeders, there is no reason why farmers who kill woodchucks should not follow the example of pioneers and eat the 'chucks.

Felony Penalty

While conviction for a felony does not carry forfeiture of American citizenship, there are some states in which a convicted felon forfeits certain rights, such as the right to vote, unless he is pardoned.
