THE ECONOMY (?) LEAGUE. The Sentinel has been one of those newspapers which have advised going slowly these days in pensions and adjusted compensation.

When congressmen spend millions to keep relatives and henchmen on the secret payroll when thousands of dollars are spent to carry mail on which the postage is a few pennies, there must be other extravagances that total millions a year.

We hear much about the National Economy league, which is going to attempt to cut extravagance at Washington. We're for economy, but the efforts of the league to date seem to have been directed to decreasing pension allowances and payment of further pensions.

There may be a need to curtail pension payments, but there is greater need to curtail useless and senseless expenditures. With these eliminated we might be able to be liberal with pension payments.

Every community of the nation is interested in seeing veterans get a square deal, for the money that goes to veterans is disbursed over the nation. There is not a community that doesn't benefit to some extent. But money spent needlessly for carrying our mails, money spent needlessly in keeping idlers on the payroll, does not reach out over the nation.

If rigid economy were practiced elsewhere the veterans probably would be the last to complain about cuts in their allowances.

Anyway, the National Economy league has a lot of work to do before it reaches pensions to veterans.

A Cottage Grove man is said to have developed a remarkably successful frog industry. Still, he will have to go some to keep a jump ahead of Cottage Grove's already well advertised legs—Corvallis Gazette-Times.

Our good friend, Frank Mendenhall, Cottage Grove jeweler and veteran chamber secretary, has just cancelled all the accounts due his store. This is just one of the many kindly things which have made Frank beloved in his community.—Eugene Register-Guard.

PAYING FOR DEAD HORSES. (Reedsport Courier.) Under the above heading Elbert Bede has an editorial in the Cottage Grove Sentinel in which he shows that 61 per cent of the Cottage Grove city budget that is raised by taxation goes to pay bonds and interest. It goes to pay for dead horses.

For 22 years he says Cottage Grove has been paying interest on $30,000 of funding bonds that should never have been issued and for which no provision has been made for paying. These bonds were refunded in 1930. Bede does not say whether or not provision was made at the time of refunding for the gradual retirement of the bonds.

Reedsport is also paying for dead horses, as the saying goes. Today each taxpayer is waiting for the other to pay before he will. The owner of a horse in Reedsport made the statement recently, "I am not going to pay my taxes. In four or five years I may prefer to give the horse to the city."

Suppose everyone took that view. Then we could have no fire protection, no water system, nothing else. The only way out seems to be to cut expenses to the bone and then enforce the collection of taxes. There is little property in Reedsport that is not worth one year's taxes. Were the property sold as soon as delinquent and then the owner given reasonable time in which to redeem, there would be little property pass into the hands of the city or county.

there was a large tax sale notice in a middle western paper there was but one notice of expiration of redemption. In other words, while men might let property go to sale, they hustled and redeemed it as soon as possible. In those states a tax deed is as good as a warrant and sometimes better.

FROGS. (Portland Spokesman.) Down in Elbert Bede's balliwick, an enterprising gentleman has been in the frog business a year or two. He began with a few, now has several thousand in his Cottage Grove frogery. This is hitting a new line to beat the times. Before Elbert gets through with his job as reading clerk in the house there may be many more on the Ellis Parker Butler s. p. ratio.

Croaker Bennett, in the city commission, brings to mind the California frog story. One entrant in a frog contest declared his bull-frog weighed 2002 pounds. It proved to be 2 pounds frog, and 2000 pounds bull. Bennett knows his bull, but he's not so hot on technocracy, telephones, terminals and on mass transportation. If he knows a frog from a railway spike, this is a Gross exaggeration.

side of the capitol to the other. By coincidence, Emmett Howard, former house member, also visited here today. When a member Howard weighed about the same as Bailey, which was about 260, but Emmett had had a session with the flu that claimed 50 pounds.

One of the extravagances of past sessions has been done away with in the house. Outside of members, no one but the chief clerk is to have stationery and supplies. In one session a number of years ago even the pages were supplied with printed stationery that was worth little or nothing, but cost the state good money.

State Capitol, Salem, Ore., Jan. 19. (Special.) Representative Huntington has introduced a bill to prohibit livestock on certain highways in Lane county, but he hasn't been able to corral the bill that is rampant around here.

Representatives Dean Walker, F. J. Lomeran and Shy Huntington and Senator Hinchcock are among a number of former football players that are members, but the old rules don't seem to apply to the kind of football played here. These members should have been high hurdles or pole vaulters. That kind of athletic knowledge gets a person somewhere down here.

There is some complaint among members living near Salem because members living at a distance draw so much more mileage, in some cases more than $150 for coming to and returning from a session. It doesn't seem fair, but a member living at a distance justified the situation as follows: The member living in Salem, or a short distance from Salem, can be at home every night, or at least every week end. In many cases he can continue to personally conduct his business, but we who draw the big mileage may not get home during the entire session and can have no control whatever over the business, if any, we leave behind. Often a professional person has to lock his doors while he attends a session.

When the term "liquidation" is used here it doesn't necessarily infer that there is to be an infraction of the liquor laws.

REEDSPORT SHIPS CARGO LUMBER, BOX MATERIAL. Reedsport, Jan. 12.—The lumber carrier Dan F. Hanlon came in Sunday and loaded at Winchester Bay Lumber company's dock, departing Wednesday with a half million feet. The lumber is for San Francisco, and the box material for San Pedro. The other half of the load will be taken on at Newport.

The box factory is running night and day, and orders sufficient to continue for two weeks are on hand. Adverse weather conditions have created a scarcity of logs, causing the plans for the mill proper to be unsettled.

COTTAGE GROVE FIVE LOSSES TO SPRINGFIELD. Cottage Grove lost its second league game Tuesday night to Springfield 23 to 16 on the local floor. The locals had lost to Roseburg the Friday previous. The first half was a see-saw affair with Springfield edging out the lead 8 to 7 at the end of the half. Springfield went ahead in the third quarter 17 to 10. Cottage Grove staged a rally in the last two minutes of the game but could not overcome Springfield's lead.

The local lineup follows: Horn, 4, and Thies, 4, forwards; Power, 4, center; Cox, 2, and Dusenberry, 2, guards.

The game was a benefit affair for Paul Sanders and $13 was netted.

Cottage Grove will play the strong Eugene high school quintet here tonight.

Busy Codfish. The codfish is one of the most prolific of all fish, millions of eggs being produced by a single female. According to a careful scientific investigation a cod of 70 to 75 pounds will produce more than 9,000,000 eggs.

Moth Preventive. A couple of small bags of gum camphor may be hung inside the piano near the felt, but, of course, not touching the resonating keys, thus defeating the enemy moth, even if the piano is seldom used.

Easy Cleaning. Perhaps the most satisfactory way of cleaning bronze is to first immerse the article to be cleaned in boiling water and then rub with a soft cloth dipped in yellow soap-suds. Polish with a soft dry cloth.

At Her Worst. H. B. writes: "Byron said a pretty woman never looks so unattractive as when she is eating. And George had never watched one gnawing corn off the cob, either."—Boston Transcript.

Cancellation News Travels Far. News of the cancellation of debts by the Mendenhall jewelry store spread far in a short space of time. F. E. Mendenhall receiving a letter this week from I. N. Mendenhall, county auditor of Knox county, Ohio, stating that he had seen an item in the Cleveland, O. Plain Dealer telling of the store's debt cancellation.

Someone once said that it is better to move a plant five times on paper than twice in the soil, which has this moral for us: We had best plan our gardens a little more carefully and thus avoid frequent moving of our plants.

In a garden notebook is a paragraph by Mrs. Gertrude Skinner which is a beautiful expression of wintertime garden thoughts. Here it is: "The best part of winter in our garden is the work we do in our imagination, where drouth does not blight nor storms devastate. This is the perfect garden, where golden glow blossoms in all of its splendor, the oriental poppy is a blaze of glory, our roses are as fair as the tints of Aurora, the larkspur vies with the azure of heaven, the tulips are like a galaxy of butterflies. Each flower is in its proper place to make harmony complete. There is not a jarring color; not in our garden in the wintertime. Everyone of us knows that the most beautiful gardens are in the minds and that the best gardener is the one who imagines who translates his thoughts to his garden."

"A Cat May Look at a King" is the title of a pamphlet which was published in 1652. The expression crept into the language, and when a queen occupied the throne it was altered to suit the time.

Jud Tunkins says many men find fault around the home trying to make up for the criticisms they're afraid to shoot down to the workshop.—Washington Star.

Love of Truth. Believe it, my good friend, to love truth, for truth's sake is the principal part of all perfection in this world and the seed-plot of all other virtues.—John Locke.

Encouragement. "Many motorists," remarked a writer, "have been forced, for financial reasons, to sell their cars." Now they're on their feet again.—London Humorist.
