The Economy League. A newspaper usually hears the unkind things said of it, and once in a while it hears the kind things.

Under the Big Dome

Representative Weatherford of Linn is losing a record he made two years ago for voting "no." He has cast hardly a negative vote this session, while Belton of Clackamas seems inclined to jump into the breach.

Members economically inclined are endeavoring to combine bills so as to save expense in publication following the session. There are members, however, who realize that it is impossible to get several bills through when it would not be possible to enact a single bill carrying the same material as the several bills. A big bill drags to the one bill objection to any provision, while in three bills the opposition would be scattered.

High School Notes

Sociology, a new one-semester subject, has been introduced this semester. It is the study of social problems, customs, and traditions and is being taught by Miss Theima Kern.

All for Self

Santi Deva, the great Buddhist saint, declared that what is wrong with the world is that we all make self the center round which life revolves; that we think for self, and act for self, and live for self.

Burial Ceremonies

Burial service is of very ancient origin. The Greeks and the Romans had ceremonies at the grave. The early Christians had a proper ritual, consisting of hymns, prayers and addresses, at the grave.

Rose Coral Costly

The general run of coral which is used in the manufacture of necklaces and other fancy objects, is particularly valuable, the average cost being about a dollar and a half an ounce.

Cesar's Funeral Pyre

Julius Caesar's body was burned on a funeral pyre upon which were piled chairs, actors' dresses, musicians' instruments, soldiers' swords, women's scarfs, children's toys.

Wood Resists Ax

Owing to the diagonal and oblique arrangement of the successive layers of its fibers, lignum vitae cannot be split. On account of its hardness, durability and density, it is much valued for the manufacture of ship's pulleys, rulers, skittle balls, mallets and similar articles.

The Eternal Process

Whether the longer life that is won by new knowledge of diet is pure gain or not remains to be seen. Maybe the surplus is merely to be devoted to study of diet with the thought of prolonging life, and so on.—New York Sun.

Oil and Disposition

A physician says that taking cod liver oil will give one a feeling of contentment, but that is not "one-two-three" with the feeling of contentment from a decision to stop taking it.—Macon Telegraph.

Never Clean Old Coins

A coin catalogue says that one should "never attempt to clean, polish or improve a coin. Cleaning always detracts from the value and has been known to make a good coin practically worthless."

Principles and Thoughts

How can thy principles become dead, unless the thoughts which correspond to them are extinguished? But it is in thy power to fan these thoughts into a continuous flame.—Marcus Aurelius.

As the World Revolves

A French philosopher says that man first became conscious of sin 5,000 years ago. The cycle is just about completed—he is practically unconscious of it again.—Atlanta Journal.

Time

Time cures every wound, and though the scar may remain and occasionally ache, yet the earliest agony of its recent infliction is felt no more.—Sir Walter Scott.

"Outlaw Language"

Slang is popular, but unauthorized language, usually inelegant. Slang has been defined cleverly as vigorous outlaw language.

Crockett in Congress

Davy Crockett was elected and served in congress in 1828 and 1829. He was defeated in 1830, but was re-elected in 1832.

Like Many Others

"My niece," said Mrs. Blunderby, "has had a splendid education. She speaks several languages flippantly."—Exchange.

Sea Birds' Haven

There are said to be more sea birds along the coast stretches of Louisiana than any other section of the world.

Service

The deepest satisfactions of life—those which come from sharing and serving—remain secure.—Roy L. Smith.

All Too Often!

And now a watch with two faces has been developed. But one-faced ones are deceitful enough.—Exchange.

Works Two Ways

Her vanity may make a woman disagreeable, but it also makes a lot of men rich.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Take Your Choice

Down through the ages the owl has symbolized luck, magic, omen and prophecy.

Think It Over

He who gives pleasure meets with it; kindness is the bond of friendship, and the book of love; he who sows not, reaps not.

All Government-Owned

Land in Canberra, the capital of Australia, cannot be held in fee simple, the title always residing with the government.

Green Peas Very Old

In a Norfolk village most of the green peas are grown from a stock of seed said to be 2,100 years old. They were discovered in the case of an Egyptian mummy.

Bookkeeping Outfits, Sentinel.

Corn's Heating Value

The bureau of mines says that shelled corn has a heating value of approximately 6,000 B. T. U.'s per pound as compared with 18,000 B. T. U.'s in a pound of coal.

Get the Notebook Habit

A notebook for home use is an excellent habit. Jot down in it everything you intend doing to the house, folks you mean to write to, errands you must do, etc.

Back of Pictures

Each housecleaning the back of the pictures should be looked over and new papers pasted over any breaks that have occurred in the old. It is the only way to prevent dust from entering and spoiling a valued picture.

Popes Not Always Italian

Nearly all the popes have been Italians, but there have been a few Spanish and French popes, one Dutch and one English, and one from North Africa, St. Peter, the traditional first pope, was a Jew.

"Tollgates"

Turnpike has come to mean the highway, but in the 1800s it was originally the tollgate, the pike or staff which held the travelers until they had extracted the required toll from their pockets.—Exchange.

Emotion and Reason

Emotion serves as the guide only when the heavens are clear; but reason is the magnetic needle that directs when stars are hidden and shines no more.—Richter.

Values

Gold mining and good men are much alike. The deeper you dig into their value, the more values you are sure to find. Get acquainted with them.

Friendship and Duty

The man who prefers his dearest friend to the duty will soon show that he is himself to his dearest.—Robertson.

Butterfly's Legs Sensitive

University of Minnesota research shows that the butterfly's legs are 1,600 times as sensitive to sweetness as the human tongue.

Afterthoughts

Sarcasm is what you remember you ought to be kind after the other fellow had the best of the argument and gone home.

Earth's Age and Wisdom

The question is not so much "How old is the earth?" as "Why doesn't it know any better?"—Oakland Tribune.

Friendship's Language

The language of friendship is not words but meanings. It is an intelligence above language.

Briefly Told

Garden Club

Many persons have unusual success with poinsettias in the home, but temperature which fluctuates and becomes a little cool will cause drooping of leaves. The poinsettia likes to be a little "on the dry side" as the gardeners say, which means that it does not want an excess of moisture.
