GOVERNOR IS FRIEND OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Ways and Means Proposal to Cut Schools Meets Opposition from Meier.

By ELBERT BEDE, State Capitol, Salem, Ore., Feb. 6. (Special.)—Governor Meier is one of the strongest and one of the most powerful friends which higher education has in the state house.

From an authoritative source the statement has been made here that members are overlooking more than $800,000 which has been lost in millage revenue through reduction in property valuations.

Of course, ways and means can be as yet undone anything it has done, and the two bodies can undo anything that ways and means does.

As a matter of fact, there is considerable fear that something of that sort may happen and throw into the air any program of expenditures and sources of revenue that may be worked out by ways and means and taxation and revenue.

If the two houses should take the bit in their mouths and add a million dollars to appropriations reported out by ways and means, we might not be out of the trenches for at least the extra 20 days for which a special session may continue.

Vesper Service Planned. Holman Hunt's picture, "The Light of the World," will be used as a background for the vesper services at 8 o'clock Sunday evening at the Methodist church.

It was on the occasion of his ninth birthday anniversary that Eddie Peabody, destined to become one of the luminaries of the stage, received a most precious gift from his father—a violin.

He was an eager pupil and played the little instrument jubilantly—so fully every opportunity for anyone who wished to listen to his efforts.

Then came 1917—the world war—and Eddie, although much too young, rushed to enlist in the Navy. He left behind him his friends, his books, all of his most treasured boyhood possessions—everything but that precious violin.

The beautifully toned instrument became famous in Navy circles. It became Eddie's constant companion—in the training camps—on board the "battle wagons"—with him through arduous submarine duty—even surviving shipwrecks with its blond owner.

Eddie has become world famous for his unique mastery of the banjo, but there is no instrument in his huge collection he prizes more than this birthday gift from his father.

Recently the Safeway Stores announced that Eddie Peabody had signed a contract for a series of radio programs each Wednesday night at 7:30 over stations of the National Broadcasting Company.

Garden Club

Pruning principles by Ralph R. Rothacker, professor of landscape architecture at Iowa State college. Since the laws of plant growth are the same in all the woody plants cultivated for garden usage there has grown up a group of principles which the amateur gardener soon finds to be true in the light of his own experience.

1. Heavy top pruning of a plant causes more leaves and branches. 2. Heavy root pruning lessens vegetative growth but increases the production of flower and fruit.

3. A pruned plant always tends to resume its natural habit. 4. The uppermost buds of a plant grow first. 5. Heading back of young growth forces the development of the side buds.

6. Checking growth in a healthy plant induces flowers and fruitfulness. Girdling a twig or bending or twisting it causes the food which is manufactured by the leaves to remain in the injured twig rather than being carried away to the trunk and roots.

Pruning Operations. 1. Make all wounds clean. 2. Make all cuts parallel and close to the branch that is left. 3. Never leave a stub if it is possible to avoid it.

4. When heading back twigs cut just above a healthy bud pointing in the desired direction. 5. Wounds made in spring heal faster than those during summer.

6. In removing large branches, first undercut until the saw binds, then cut down from the top until the branch snaps off. This prevents the stripping down of the bark on the trunk. Wounds should be painted with an antiseptic dressing, particularly those over two inches across.

7. Use best quality tools. A pair of hand shears, a pair of long handled steel lops and a swivel-blade saw, constitute a good outfit for the home gardener.

High School Quintet to Play Church Five. The Cottage Grove high school basketball team will play the Danish Lutheran team from the Eugene church league Tuesday, February 14, in the high school gym.

The Danish Lutheran team is composed of ex-high school stars from around Eugene and should prove stiff competition for the local cagers in good shape for their game with Eugene high in Eugene on February 17, when they will try to upset the dope and topple E. H. S. from their position at the top of the "A" league percentage column.

Roseburg high school's basketball team invaded Cottage Grove last Friday night and defeated the Grovers 37 to 15. The junior high team also lost to the Roseburg junior high team.

1933 CROP PROGRAM FOR LANE ARRANGED

Crops Committee of Agricultural Council Outlines Projects for Year.

A farm crop improvement program for 1933 was outlined at a meeting Saturday of the crops project committee of the Lane County Agricultural council in the office of O. S. Fletcher, county agent.

E. R. Jackman, extension agronomist at the state college, was present to assist the committee in outlining the program. Plans as applied to the coast section exclusively will be worked out at a later date. Mr. Fletcher announced after the meeting, although a part of the general program applies to that section.

Members of the project committee are Bart Flanagan of Junction City, J. S. Walls of Eugene, R. F. D. 2, A. C. Miller of Goshen, John Keelbeck of Cottage Grove, H. W. Dunn of Junction City, R. F. D. 2, and Raymond Johnson of R. F. D. 1, Eugene.

The crop program as agreed upon was outlined as follows: 1. Weed Control.—Start four demonstrations on the control of noxious weeds with vetch and oats. 2. Cooperate with farm organizations in conducting weed control tours.

3. Conduct six demonstrations on the winter and spring application of chlorates directly to the soil for the control of noxious weeds and plants. 4. Sell chlorates to farmers at cost for weed control work.

Forage Crops.—1. Start two grass nurseries to demonstrate pasture grasses. 2. Conduct four demonstrations of stem-rot resistant sweet clover. 3. Promote further interest in Ladino clover pastures.

4. Conduct a tour to observe Ladino clover pastures. 5. Potatoes.—1. Help growers locate pure seed of desired varieties. 2. Inspect fields of potatoes for certification of seed.

3. Help growers determine best variety of early potatoes for market and locate sources of seed of this variety. 4. Encourage production of better potatoes for local market through use of better seed and later planting.

5. Conduct four demonstrations to compare Katahdin potatoes with varieties now grown in the county. 6. Cereals.—1. Secure cooperators to grow pure seed of as many as possible of the following crops: Oats, Victory and Gray Winter; winter wheat, Jenkin, White Winter, and Hood; spring wheat, Red Huston, Hood and Jenkin; barley, Hanchen and O. A. C. No. 7.

2. Interest more people in growing Victory oats, leading toward standardization on this variety for spring planting. 3. Conduct three demonstrations to compare Hood wheat for spring seeding with varieties now commonly grown in Lane county.

4. Introduce new O. A. C. winter-hardy barley. 5. Introduce Ben Beardless barley. 6. Secure two cooperators to grow Schoolman oats seed for use in coast section of the county.

7. Conduct a tour to Polk and Yamhill counties to observe corn pickers and driers in operation in fall of 1933. 8. Forage Crops.—1. Emphasize importance of planting Grimm alfalfa and alfalfa and farmers in locating high quality seed.

2. Conduct two alfalfa tours in early April to observe different aged fields and study alfalfa production programs. 3. Visit cooperative alfalfa demonstrations started in 1925 and observe and record results.

4. Check yield of Ladak alfalfa in demonstrations started in 1930. 5. Try bluegrass with alfalfa. 6. Clover Seed.—1. Encourage the planting of hardy Ohio and Tennessee anthracnose resistant red clover for seed production.

2. Inspect fields of hardy Ohio and Tennessee anthracnose resistant red clover for seed certification. Hairy Vetch Seed.—1. Encourage the growing of hairy vetch for seed on hill land not adapted to other vetches, as a valuable cash crop for such land.

Seed Flax.—1. Call attention to possibilities of growing seed flax and help growers obtain good seed. C. G. MOTOR COMPANY HAS NEW CHEVROLET. A new Chevrolet is now on display at the Cottage Grove Motor company.

Success. The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well, and doing well whatever you do, without a thought of fame.—Longfellow. Mrs. Trunnell Is Committee Head. Mrs. Hugh Trunnell of this city has received notice from Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Better Homes in America of her appointment as chairman of the Better Homes in America committee for Latham.
