

LUMBER ORDERS SHOW TREMENDOUS ADVANCE

Conditions Satisfactory With More Business Being Offered Than Accepted.

(Cott. Grove Digest.)
The general outlook is still very satisfactory even though a sort of high-pressure stagnancy has been reached during the past two weeks during which time the uncertainties surrounding the probable effects of the industry control will have caused everyone to move along very cautiously. Wages have been advanced in most mills throughout the northwest but they are still the question as to what the minimum will be, the maximum working hours and the regulations which will surround production, consequently no one can figure out to what degree of certainty as to just what his future costs will be. The result of this is a marked reluctance to sell except hand-to-mouth. Added to this is the bitter experience which many have already had, from submitting themselves for future delivery and later seeing prices climb far beyond the point at which sales had been made.

Much more business is being offered than booked. The wholesalers have had to discontinue altogether the practice of determining the market and making sales without coverage. Even the securing of the generally accepted price lists issued by the mills is not safe, unless the quotation is backed by the promise of some reputable mill to take the order after it is received because prices are being advanced so rapidly that no one knows what he will have to pay tomorrow.

The advantages being enjoyed by the manufacturers are not all to be measured by price increases, but by the ability to have something to say about assortments in saving a great deal of money in assembling and loading expenses. The buyers are now quite willing to take straight cars of common dimensions and uppers at the minimum price where a few months ago they would buy nothing but hard assortments containing everything from mouldings up to sash and doors at the minimum price.

Were it not for the uncertainties injected into the picture at the moment by the prospective industry control act there is no denying that the setup would make anyone nervous as prices have been elevated at an astonishingly rapid pace. However, if the lumber industry were the only one which is to have wages increased arbitrarily there would be a lack of soundness to the outlook, but President Roosevelt's plan calls for better wages and more employment in every line of effort, consequently the people who use lumber are going to have more money to spend and when we reach the higher plane of values and take time to look about, lumbermen will on the same basis and that should remove all fear as to the outcome of having ascended so quickly.

Most of the lumber manufacturers in the northwest who have competent plants are able to show a small margin of profit on their prices. The mills are getting under way gradually and the added production is being easily absorbed. Thousands of new jobs are being created in the mills and camps and a feeling of genuine optimism is everywhere apparent. The only thing that could upset the industry would be a breakdown in the industry control program or too long a delay in putting it into execution, neither of which appear probable.

Mrs. M. Chamberlen Had Been Resident 30 Years

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Jane Chamberlen, 69, who died Tuesday evening, will be held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at the chapel. Interment will be in the Masonic cemetery.

Mary Jane Barrows was born June 1, 1854, at Carlisle, Ill. She was married December 10, 1872, to David B. Chamberlen at Sedgwick, Kan. She was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church and had been a resident of Cottage Grove for more than 30 years, coming here from Tulsa, Cal. She is survived by her husband, two children, Ross P. Chamberlen, Hutchinson, Kan., and Mrs. Alta King, Cottage Grove; a brother, Edwin P. Barrows, Sedgwick, Kan.; a sister, Mrs. Susie Stewart, Sedgwick, Kan.; four grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Students Get High Marks

Oregon State College, Corvallis, July 8.—Gwendolyn Isabelle Haight and Melvin Breese of Cottage Grove are among those who received a grade point average of 2.5 or better in their school work for the spring term just ended, according to information from the office of the registrar at Oregon State college. This means at least half way between A and B.

C. R. Woodsons Have 50th Anniversary

A large number of relatives gathered Sunday at Woodson's old camp for an all-day picnic in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of the family here. Mr. and Mrs. R. Woodson. They were married in Mailebrand, Mo., and came here 10 years ago from Texas to join a number of their children who had settled here. Dinner was furnished by the children and the honored couple received numerous presents and gifts of flowers.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blower, Roseburg, who were present at the marriage ceremony half a century ago. Other guests present were the F. M. Woodson family, Toledo; the J. E. Woodson family, Creswell; O. C. Baker, Roseburg, brother of Mrs. Woodson; the Clarence Baker family, Roseburg; Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Woodson, the Lundy Woodson family, Brainerd; Mrs. J. H. Woodson, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Bukowski and W. R. Woodson, brother of Mr. Woodson. Two daughters and two sons living in Texas were unable to be present.

ELIMINATION PENALTY BRINGS IN TAX MONEY

The recent act of the legislature eliminating penalties from delinquent taxes of 1930 and prior years, together with the untended business which makes it seem possible for delinquent taxpayers to take advantage of the tax-payment plan of paying delinquent taxes, has already resulted in enriching the county coffers. The names of those paying back taxes show that the heaviest of property taxes have been hit by the depression. Two checks recently received at the sheriff's office as first of ten payments were one of $7,841.41 from the Weyerhaeuser Timber company, large holders of timber in this section, and one from the Prudential Insurance company for $750. Many small payments have also been made under the tax-payment plan. A payment of the same size as first payment has to be made every six months or the penalties remitted will again be added.

Pencil Stock Factory Is in Operation

The pencil stock factory recently established in the old cannery building has been in operation all this week and will be in operation indefinitely. Robert H. Savage and H. A. McCormick, recently of Marshfield, are the owners. The factory was established here because of the large available quantity of rough bark cedar, which is becoming scarce over the state.

Dogs for Self, Cream For the Dog

For a man to order two hot dogs for himself is not particularly unusual, but when the same order includes a dish of ice cream for the dog it takes on new value. That is the order recently given at a lunch counter by "Ole" Lawson, who has a dog that demands ice cream as much as the owner. Ole offers the hot dogs for himself.

Mrs. Emilie Schoenick Dies

Word has been received of the death in Portland on June 27 of Mrs. Emilie Schoenick, mother of Mrs. Ralph Spearow, whose husband was killed by the freight car in the church here for several years. Mrs. Schoenick had not been well for some time and was in a coma for ten days before her death.

County Machinery Goes to Road

In order to rush completion of a road from the main London road to the fire clay deposits about to be developed by the Williamson Brick company, the county has sent a caterpillar tractor, a Caterpillar road grader and a John Deere road grader to the job. County Engineer Morse believes the road will be completed within ten days.

C. C. C. Sub-Camp Established

A sub-camp of the Wendling C. C. C. camp has been established at the head of Mosby creek. Twenty-five men are now there tending the camp ready and waiting to be added later. The men will be employed on a road construction project. They will return to Wendling for week ends.

CITY WILL NOT ASK FOR FEDERAL MONEY

Railings Ordered at P.T. Buildings, Condemnation Proceedings to Start.

The city council decided at its meeting Monday to drop all negotiations for any kind of a loan from the federal government under the industry recovery plan. The reason for the action was that the city would have to give the government the right to supervise construction. In fact, the city would have little to say about the expenditure of the money which it would later have to return to the federal government.

An invitation was extended to the state G. A. R. to hold its 1934 encampment here.

The city was given recent purchase for $25 of a Ford runabout for use of the water and street department. Payment was made from receipts from sale of motorcycles which the city owned for several years.

The chief of police and city attorney were instructed to take necessary steps to have M. H. Anderson place a railing to prevent persons from stepping off the walk where one of the P-T buildings has been removed.

The city attorney was instructed to start condemnation proceedings on the remaining P-T buildings, which are old landmarks.

Chief of Police Pitcher was instructed to see that weeds along sidewalks and trees along hanging sidewalks are removed.

Brice Creek C. C. C.

(By F. M. McLaughlin.)
In an article published in The Cottage Grove Sentinel, June 30, the editor made the remark that the boys intended to make the C. C. C. boys welcome. From the writer's viewpoint no welcome could have been better nor more sincere. To most of the boys this touch of western hospitality is somewhat of a new experience. Of course they are used to good treatment, generous hospitality, or whatever it may be called, but in some manner that shown the boys here is different. There seems to be such a great amount of pleasure derived from the little favors given the boys, that they can be felt by both the giver and the receiver. The boys are invited into good homes, they are fed, given good places to sleep, and, in short, treated wonderfully. There is no question that this hospitality is greatly appreciated by all. Somehow another thing makes things easier for those who are inclined to be low spirited. It puts life into them; makes them think more of themselves and their surroundings. In other words it serves as an inspiration, a boon to their well being. If you please, Sunday Oregon, and Cottage Grove especially, should be proud of its fine welcome to the C. C. C. boys.

The C. C. C. orchestra from Brice Creek camp had the privilege of playing for the dance at Mt. View pavilion Saturday night, July 1. A few weeks ago, a few more of the boys receive their instruments from home, Brice Creek camp will have an orchestra that will fit in at any dance.

Church services were held at Brice Creek camp Sunday afternoon, July 2, by Rev. Groves of Cottage Grove. A short song service by four Cottage Grove musicians preceded the sermon.

Saturday night, July 1, marked the first visit of the boys from Brice Creek camp to Cottage Grove. The journey was made by means of a Chestnut transfer truck, the boys leaving Saturday at 4 p. m. and returning Sunday noon. The main attraction in the city was the dance held at the army, given for the benefit of the Cottage Grove band. Here the boys had the novel experience of seeing plenty of dancing partners. Instead of too few, as they saw at Mt. View last Saturday night.

The forestry service made a few additions to the equipment at Brice Creek camp Saturday, July 1, when it brought in six new Chevrolet trucks and a new 25 ton crawler dozer attached. This bulldozer, with its ability for moving dirt, will be a substantial aid to the C. C. C. boys who are working on the Brice Creek road.

A detail composed of four men, under the supervision of Forest Guard Prince, left Monday morning, July 3, for Adams mountain, where they will be located for a time building trails.

The Booth-Kelly mill at Springfield, which has been practically idle for two years, resumed operations Monday, giving employment to 125 men. Springfield will celebrate the event with a barbecue picnic Saturday.

Canadian Mountains Are Described

An interesting illustrated talk on climbs of various Canadian mountains was given at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the chamber of commerce by Don M. of San Jose, Cal. He also exhibited some of his climbing equipment as well as clothing and camp equipment. Mr. Woodson and wife were visiting in Eugene at the home of Mr. Woodson's father, Lee Roy Woodson, who accompanied his son here to the luncheon.

The Delight of the Waters.
In Egypt the tradition runs that the earth rose from the waters and the various deities were seated upon waterlilies. The waterlily here referred to is the Lotus, or Nymphaea. The biblical blossom "Cast thy bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after many days," is thought to be based upon the fact that the waterlily seed is planted by placing seed in a ball of clay and tossing it far out into the water. The seed grows, produces a new plant and the cycle is repeated. The seed is used for making starch and later bread. I have never read a more lovely tribute to the waterlily than this. "You may look upon a mountain and wish it were loftier or more precipitous; upon a river and wish it were deeper; upon a field and desire for it some greater spread of its boughs, some richer shading of its foliage. But you cannot carve on a waterlily, and wish it to be other than it is. Thus has written Mrs. N. E. Lovejoy.

The sunrise in Tibet, the French missionaries tell us, is celebrated by each person in the village prostrating himself in the public square, and the holy invocation, "O, Gem of the Lotus," goes murmuring over the valley like the sound of many bees. It is the utterance of an intense desire to be absorbed into the lotus.

LUMBER PRICES STILL ON ASCENDING SCALE

Warning Issued That Business Uplift May Be Anticipation of Needs.

Seattle, July 8.—The largest number of lumber orders for any week in more than two years, coupled with an increase in production over the previous seven-day period of approximately 10,000,000 feet, today showed the increasingly strong position of the Washington state lumber industry.

A total of 141 mills reported to the West Coast Lumbermen's association producing 114,665,159 board feet of lumber for the week ending July 1. This was 9.9 per cent more than the cut of the previous week, and approximately 20,000,000 more than for the second preceding week.

Such an increase, the association said, reflects an added employment of at least 6,000 men in logging camps and sawmills in the past two weeks. On June 3 also, only 119 mills were operating, and on March 1, only 96.

The week's orders of 182 mills, amounting to 131,949,503 feet, the association said, broke all records for this year, last year, and with the exception of one week, all records for 1931.

In addition, lumber sold but not delivered, unfilled orders, are now 48,000 per cent of the lumber in stock, the largest ratio since during the summer of 1929.

The association described the position of the industry as "strong," but added a note of warning.

"Undoubtedly a considerable amount of the recent buying is to visit 30 Oregon cities in a 600-mile trip, will be able speakers who will speak for prohibition repeal. The meetings are to be held outdoors, probably on the streets of the several cities visited.

Swimming Classes Are To Start Monday

Classes in a Red Cross course in swimming and life saving, being sponsored again this year by the Lions club, are to start next Monday and will continue for 10 days. There is no charge of any kind. Miss Marlett of Eugene is to be the instructor. Class hours will be from 9 to 12 each day at the steel bridge swimming hole. There will be classes for non-swimmers, advanced classes and junior and senior life saving. Badges of merit will be awarded in each division. Dr. H. A. Hagen is chairman of the Lions committee. Those wishing to join have been asked to register with O. V. Breese, city recorder.

TWO CAVALCADES WILL BE VISITORS TUESDAY

Cottage Grove will be a mecca Tuesday for motor cavalcades. A delegation of business executives from Portland, on a good will tour, will arrive at 12 o'clock and have lunch here. As that is the hour for the regular luncheon of the chamber of commerce, it is probable that the two will be combined.

An announcement from the Portland chamber of commerce says that the purpose of the trip is for the members of the group to see the "tree" and to observe the development of the town taken place here in recent years.

This group will leave at 1:30 and at 2:30 will arrive a motorcade sponsored by the Oregon division of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

With the motorcade, which will visit 30 Oregon cities in a 600-mile trip, will be able speakers who will speak for prohibition repeal. The meetings are to be held outdoors, probably on the streets of the several cities visited.

Twin Oaks Company Raises Wages

The Twin Oaks Lumber company is one of those that have joined the movement for an upward trend in wages, and employees of the branch here have received a raise of 10 to 20 per cent.

John J. Rogers, president of the company, says the company has enjoyed a substantial increase in business and expressed the belief that the way to aid President Roosevelt's plans for rehabilitation of the country is to put more money into the hands of the working man, thereby restoring purchasing power.

Bank Statement Cause For Confidence

The First National bank has issued a statement that shows the institution to be in a condition that warrants the confidence of the community has shown in it. Cash and United States bonds on hand, totaling $212,943.22, are practically half of more than the total of the bank's assets. In addition there are other bonds and warrants with a market value of $139,065.62. The statement carries an item of $5,000.35 in undivided profits as extra security for depositors.

Battery Record Was Subordinated

The Sentinel almost spoiled a good story in its recent account of what battery "E" boys did at encampment. The story was that the target at which shots were fired was 80x12, when the actual measurements were 8x12, also the story said the target was 7,000 yards away, when the distance was 11,000 yards. The only explanation is that the Sentinel's informant didn't speak clearly enough, made his 8 sound like 80 and his 11 sound like 7. Maybe he had been in a crap game while at camp.

Band Entertains Boys On Brice Creek

The Cottage Grove band, little German band and members of the Balladeers entertained the boys of the Brice creek C. C. C. camp Sunday afternoon. The band gave an extensive program, vocalists entertained and led in community singing and members of the camp aided in completing the musical program. Many of those who went from here held picnic parties and spent the day in the woods.

Frank Jackson Lived Here Life of 78 Years

Funeral services for Frank F. Jackson of Walker, 78, who died Wednesday afternoon, July 1, at 2 this afternoon (Friday) from the Walker church with Rev. D. P. Cameron officiating. Interment will be in the Walker cemetery.

Mr. Jackson was born July 18, 1855, at Walker, and lived there his entire life. He was married to Leland Jackson, July 1, 1874, in Junction City. The wife died January 12, 1920. Mr. Jackson was a member of the Baptist church. He is survived by his wife, Oscar Jackson, Delight Valley, and Benjamin Jackson, Walker; six grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Two sons, Margaret Young, Clackamas, and Mrs. Dan Shaw, Eugene.

County Relief Committee May Cease Its Labors

The Lane county relief council objects strenuously to notice recently received to the effect that the county is to get further R. F. C. money it must place itself under a federal relief organization before August 1 and cease distributing funds through Red Cross agencies and local relief councils. Notice of the required change was given by Clarence Reynolds, representative of the state R. F. C. committee, but he could give no details. Apparently the county relief committee would work under the federal association.
