she gave up. More shells were shot at Mehell and the Argentine than America had used in all wars together since the Revolution. That we think had something to do with Germany's giving up. WHERE'S HAPPY MEDIUM?
 One of the principal causes of the depression, at least that accentuated the depression, was the sale of goods at less than cost. When the depression struck, stocks of goods were at a high level and many industries endeavored to keep operating in the hope that promised better times were just around the corner. When it became inevitable that difficult times were ahead, and banks wanted notes paid, goods had to be unloaded regardless of profits. Some industries believed they would lose less by operating than by shutting down. They had to sell at low prices, and wages and other expenses had to be reduced. Still further wage reductions followed in the hope of making operations at least break even. Entrepreneurs and employees were both losing and these losses were reflected in trade generally.

The idea of the present administration to have wages and compel fair competition of theoretical a splendid way of getting back to better times, but getting accustomed to lower prices are fearful leg unscrupulous manufacturers and dealers are taking advantage of codes and price regulation to charge more than is warranted by cost of production and distribution. As a matter of fact, there is little doubt that some have endeavored to boost prices beyond reason. There is also belief that some unions have been unfair in their demands for higher wage schedules.

Everything is fine and dandy with codes and price regulation except lack of a way of regulating human nature. It is human nature to seek a way of making greater profit, of wanting business that the other fellow has, of wanting in wages all that the employer gives in excess of production.

The Sentinel believes that regulation of wages, of working hours, even of production, has much of merit, but in a country as great as this, how are we to strike a happy medium? It is going to bring happiness and contentment to all?

The human equation is always with us and no code can regulate it satisfactorily.

LUMBER INDUSTRY UPS WAGES 141 PER CENT

West Coast Association Head Tells What Code Does for Mill Worker.

Portland, Aug. 9.—Employment in lumber mills and logging camps from 30,000 in 1933 to more than 55,000 persons at the present time, and wages have shown an increase as high as 200 per cent in some sections. It was said here today by W. B. Greeley, secretary of the West Coast Lumbermen's association.

Colonel Greeley, former chief of the United States forest service, said that in the state of Washington during the past year, its wages have shown an increase of 141 per cent, and the number of 200 per cent, and the number of 200 per cent. In Oregon, he said, work-days gained 60 per cent.

All this had been accomplished, Greeley said, since adoption of the NRA lumber code, and he gave the code credit for the change.

"Up to a year ago last May," Greeley said, "the lumber industry had lost 66.56 per cent of its employment. The high salaries on which the industry had prided itself had gone into the discard, all due to the desperate cycle of competition."

He explained that as soon as the lumber code was agreed upon, the minimum wage of 42¢, cent an hour was enforced. In May, 1933, the minimum was 25 cents an hour, generally, and in some sections it was even lower. The average wage in the mills, Greeley said, was 38 cents an hour, and 94 cents in the camps, under the code regulations. Before adoption of the code, he said, camps paid 35 cents and mills averaged not over 30 cents.

WEEK'S FIR BUSINESS BETTER, OUTLOOK DULL

Cessation of Strike Is Given Credit for Big Increase in Placements.

Seattle, Aug. 10.—Placement of 45,382,032 feet of lumber orders in domestic water trades, the Atlantic coast and California materially increased new business for the week ended August 4. The West Coast Lumbermen's association declared today.

Lumbermen believed it was business withheld due to the Pacific Coast longshoremen's strike.

It was said that the fall outlook for buying was not favorable. Drought in the middle west also curtailed lumber purchases.

A total of 504 mills in Oregon and Washington produced 76,657,062 feet for the week ended August 4, or approximately 20,000,000 feet over the preceding week.

New business reported last week by 551 mills was $6,822,107, based on a production of 76,657,062 feet and shipments of 75,796,292 feet. Shipments were under production by 1.1 per cent and current sales were over production by 25 per cent.

Orders booked last week exceeded the previous week by 3,500,000 feet or about 4 per cent.

The association said sale of Douglas fir milled has been materially bettered by findings of a congressional committee, which favored due recognition of the north-west forest product for foundations.

County Chamber Meets Tonight at Springfield

The new fruit and vegetable standardization law will be explained at the regular meeting of the Lane county chamber of commerce, to be held at Springfield tonight.

Charles A. Cole, chief of the plant division of the state department of agriculture, will talk on the law. C. E. Stewart, county fruit inspector, said Saturday that some dealers here have already been found violating the new statute but owing to their ignorance of its provisions they have not been prosecuted. After this meeting, the inspector says, the violators will have no excuse.

Congressman James W. Mott has been invited to preside here. S. M. Calkins, city attorney of Eugene, has been invited to talk on the benefits of the new law.

More Time Needed
 "It looks to me," said Uncle Eben, "like folks has simply got to have shorter workin' hours in order to leave 'em time to tend to de immense and increasin' amount of votin' dey has on hand."

Light and Darkness
 As the amount of water vapor and dust in the air decreases, the amount of light diffused from the surface of these particles decreases and thus darkness increases with elevation.

Indian Chivalry
 An Indian man walked in front of his woman-folk as a matter of courtesy, to make the way safe for them.
