Printing Prices Are Low in Cottage Grove

It is the inclination of nearly everyone to wish to patronize a business in his own community, especially when prices and quality are comparable to those that obtain elsewhere.

So far as printing is concerned, Cottage Grove has a plant that is able to produce the same quality work that can be produced in Eugene or Portland, and produces quality printing at prices comparable to those charged in either of those cities.

In these days of mass production there are those in every line of manufacturing that are able to produce some things at a lower cost than the small manufacturing plant in a small city.

That is true so far as certain kinds of printing are concerned. Costs of the so-called "gang" printer are lower than those of the small shop, although the small shop could easily compete if he were able to specialize, as the "gang" printers are able to do.

In Cottage Grove this kind of competition has been met by the Home Print Shop by arrangements with manufacturers that leave a small commission for the home shop.

In cases in which competition can not be met by the Home Print Shop, it usually will be found that the printing is of an inferior quality. The Home Print Shop is not able to compete with bedroom printshops in far-away cities that have no overhead and maintain no payrolls, but it has found that it usually can compete with those that have expensive equipment, a reasonable overhead and maintain a payroll.

Printing prices generally have been reduced during the time that practically everything that goes into producing printing has advanced, including wages, rents, paper and ink.

Your Home Print Shop is doing its part to keep the printing business in Cottage Grove.

Always give your Home Print Shop first chance.
