FURIOUS FOREST FIRES ARE NOW CONTROLLED

W. S. Jeans New Mill Is Endangered by New Fire of Past Week.

All forest fires in this section are now well under control. The rise in humidity and drop in temperature over the week end made fire fighting easier.

W. S. Jeans lost a donkey engine and some logging line in a fire near his mill on Table creek (up Sharps creek) which broke out Monday.

The mill is a new one and had been operating only a few days. For a time it was feared that the entire plant would go in the flames, but 150 men were on the job Tuesday morning and succeeded in getting a line around the flames after about 150 acres had been burned.

It was believed this fire started from sparks from a donkey engine.

Like all the other fires in this district, it was close to Umpqua forest timber, but did not reach the forest boundary.

Fires previously brought under control were two on Lost creek that burned over about 1,000 acres, the Row river fire north of the Hunt place that burned over about 1,700 acres and a fire on Mosby creek divide that covered about 100 acres.

These were the worst fires this section has had in over a quarter of a century.

SWANSON IS WINNER OVER EUGENE BULLDOG

McKeel and Wright Are Winners in Brief Boxing Bouts That Were Slow.

Glenn Swanson of Cottage Grove won over Bulldog Hammond, Eugene, in a wrestling match that was main event of a smoker at the armory Thursday night, taking the second fall with an arm stretch and the deciding fall with a surfboard.

Hammond won the first fall with tactics that could hardly be called wrestling. With Swanson sitting on the mat in such a position that he could neither get up nor protect himself, the Bulldog performed something that resembled an Indian dance on one of Swanson's legs. Swanson forfeited the fall to save himself from further punishment, and proved that he was wise in doing so by taking the next two falls.

For the second fall Swanson clamped on an arm stretch with such severity that the Bulldog asked three extra minutes of rest.

In the preliminary wrestling match, Pleuard of Cottage Grove and Bill Avery, Eugene, went the full 30 minutes to a draw, each taking one fall. The first fall was won by Pleuard in six minutes with a head scissors and Avery took his fall in nine minutes with a hammerlock.

Phil Mosby was the third man in the ring.

The two boxing events were rather slow and one-sided.

Norman McKeel, Black Butte, was easy victor over Ivan Bergman, Cottage Grove, in the first of four two-minute rounds and Warren Wright, Cottage Grove, was given the decision over Bill Ritchie, Cottage Grove, who substituted for Battling O'Brien, Eugene, who had been called out with a number of CCC men to fight forest fires.

Bill Collins refereed the boxing bouts.

A boxing event that would more than offset weak spots on an evening's entertainment would be a match between McKeel and Wright, as both boys carry a wallop and at Thursday's card appeared to be able to take and give with a smile.

A fair crowd attended Thursday's event, which was for the benefit of the Cottage Grove baseball club.

Dorena to Have Grange.

A meeting of those interested in organizing a grange will be held at Dorena tonight. A preliminary meeting was held some time ago and at this meeting the charter will be closed and permanent officers elected. F. B. Harlow of Eugene will be a speaker.
