Things We Think

action of his has indicated that he intends to be a candidate again. One can nearly always tell by the kind of speeches he makes, by the efforts he makes to get newspaper notice and by the effort he makes to be on the popular side when a member of the legislature has a higher office in mind. Senator Corbett has given none of these indications, but the next election is likely to bring republicans back into office, and republicans could hardly find a more fit candidate for chief executive than the unassuming but efficient president of the senate, who would become governor should anything happen to the present chief executive.

MRS. ETHEL FISHER is in an embarrassing position when it comes to sending the news to her home paper, the Roseburg News-Review, for which she is correspondent during the session. Incidentally she is the wife of Senator Walter Fisher of Roseburg and may be remembered in Cottage Grove as Ethel Tooze, once a teacher in the Cottage Grove schools. She is one of the Tooze family that is well known in politics of Oregon.

SENATOR FISHER has been rather prominent in this session in his effort to cut down the size of the appropriation for a state capitol. The generalship he has shown in making that fight and the manner in which his arguments were presented before committee and upon the floor of the senate brought him high commendation, but wifely could hardly tell all this in her stories to the home town paper. And Wifey Ethel would more than anything else like to say a good word about Hubby Walter. Probably the folks at home will find out anyway.

MEMBERS OF THE CAPITOL reconstruction commission will work without pay, should the capitol reconstruction bill be finally adopted in the form that it passed the senate. The original bill contained a provision that a per diem of $10 should be paid. An effort to reduce this to $5 a day failed because it was the intention to eliminate per diem entirely. The argument was that those big enough to serve on the committee would not be attracted by a salary of any size.

THERE IS SOME DOUBT as to whether or not it was wise to eliminate provision for per diem, and, of course, it is possible that the bill finally enacted may provide per diem.

IT USUALLY HAPPENS that a comparatively few carry the load in filling civic positions, and there is really no reason why anyone should make a contribution of several hundreds of dollars to serve on this commission. It might be more sensible to cut down the amount to go into the building and pay the commissioners at least enough so they will not be out of pocket.

IN THESE DAYS there are many persons big enough to serve upon such a commission who do not feel financially able to give their time, or who are not willing to make such a sacrifice.

AND THERE IS THIS FEATURE that those who can not make such a sacrifice are precluded from serving upon the commission. It does not seem exactly right that the legislative body should say that no one not able to contribute $10 a day shall be permitted upon this commission. The situation should be such that anyone could be appointed without regard to his financial position.

FOR EXAMPLE, there are numerous farmers who are big enough to serve upon this commission, but who are in financial straits as a result of economic conditions over which they had no control. Such persons can not be appointed to the commission, regardless of how desirable it might be to place them there.

THE OUTLOOK TODAY, Monday, is that this will be the first session of the many I have attended that will adjourn in less than the legal number of days that it might remain in session. There seems not the least probability that it will extend the entire 20 days. The chances are that it will not be necessary to stop the clocks after a concurrent resolution for adjournment has been adopted.

Tuesday—Indications today are that I was way off yesterday in expecting the session to adjourn before conclusion of the 20 days which it may legally remain in session. With the entire capitol reconstruction business still open and security legislation, which the governor has now made a special issue, hardly touched, there is more than an even chance that the clock will have to be stopped Saturday when the hour for adjournment arrives.

Evangelist to Conduct Services.

Evangelist Frederick J. Betts of New York City will speak each evening next week at the Pentecostal Assembly of God church.

Cannot Breathe Through Mouth

The whale is the only adult mammal unable to breathe through its mouth, the respiratory system being especially adapted to prolonged periods of submergence. Newly born marsupials also are unable to breathe through their mouths.

"The Forgotten Man"

The expression "the Forgotten Man" was used by Byron. Earlier it was used in a poem called "The Common Lot." In 1883 William Graham Sumner, professor at Yale university, described the forgotten man.

High School to Edit Bi-Weekly Paper

Staff Chosen from Classes in Journalism; Miss Kem Will Supervise.

(By Journalism Student.)
The journalism classes are planning publication of a school paper to appear once every two weeks. The paper staff is as follows: Supervisor, Miss Myrtle Kem; press superintendent, Miss Florence Jenks; editor-in-chief, Lillian Gregory; assistant editors, Ila Corby and Virginia Metcalf; reporter of boys activities, Tom Hall, John Gallo; of girls activities, Jane Stowell and Phyllis Monson; features, Kathleen Moore and Billie Smith; administration and organization, Mildred Ward and Melba Gates; typists, Mildred Cellars, Norma Tucker, Lorene Perini and Madge Carlile; proof readers, Ina May Monroe and Pauline Gregory; business manager, Albert McCall.
The staff was chosen by Miss Kem from those students who made grades of I and II in journalism by the end of the first six weeks.

Auk as Bait

When great auks were plentiful along the New England coast, cod fishermen used to chop them up as bait, and these birds died out in America completely in 1840.

THREE DOSES RELIEVES OLD Stubborn Cough

BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE, takes a special pride in "knocking the stuffing" out of tough old coughs that have successfully defied other cough remedies.

Mrs. Wagner, Waterloo, Ont., writes:

"For years I have had a chronic cough, and when I catch cold I cough something terrible. I always had to have a Doctor to break it up, but I was told to try BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE, and it sure does the trick. Three doses gives me relief."

No wonder sufferers say "Buckley's acts like a flash." If you have a cough, cold or bronchitis, get a bottle today. It clears the bronchial tubes, eases breathing and stops the cough. Buckley's is sold everywhere and guaranteed. 45c and 85c at Cottage Grove Pharmacy, and all good druggists. (4)

The Bureau of Standards Says a 30-inch Stocking is Right for Every leg!

WONDER IF THE BUREAU EVER LOOKED AT THE LEGS IN A FOOTBALL STADIUM!

There's nothing like the front view of a stadium to prove that there are long legs—short legs—slim legs—and plump legs. A 30-inch stocking WON'T fit them all, but

ARMISTICE DAY

"THE ARMISTICE—peace was proclaimed." What memories that recalls—of young boys, the daddies of today, rushing back to the arms of their own dads and mothers. Sweethearts coming back to tenderness and romance, after all that horror out there. The strange feeling of putting on a civilian's clothes again... walking through familiar streets... meeting old friends... back to a job! It all seemed so far away down in those black trenches. No man thought he'd come back to live normally again while shrapnel whizzed by his ear, and his buddies fell in action, one by one around him. "The Armistice—peace was proclaimed." We hoped then it would be an everlasting peace. We still hope so... for the families and the homes of today who see every husband and father as great a hero as they'll ever want!
