First National Bank
Forty-Six Years of Successful Business

Established in 1890 By Eakin
And Bristow Then Prosperous
Merchants On The West Side

The history of the First National Bank of Cottage Grove is particularly interesting because the banking institution from which it has grown was the first in this section of the county. The history of its life, progress and development is a history of the growth and progress of the fertile Willamette Valley in general, and Cottage Grove in particular.

It started in a very humble manner way back in 1890 when all the business of the city was located in a few small buildings on the West Side and the present site of the city had not advanced to the dignity of a cow pasture. It has seen the foot trail which led from the town through mud and dirt to the depot transferred into a paved street and pasture fences replaced with solid business blocks. It has been a part of the growth of Cottage Grove and surrounding country; it has grown with the city and has aided in and benefited by that growth.

In 1890 Herbert Eakin, an uncle of H. E. Eakin who has recently been elected president of the Bank, and Darwin Bristow were conducting a successful mercantile business on the West Side, under the name of Eakin & Bristow. They were requested at various times to care for the money of their patrons and to do other things in the banking line, which led them to establish the bank, the business of which was carried on in connection with their merchandise business in what was known as the Whipple Building. Out of this grew the First National Bank.

In 1894 the merchandise and banking business had so grown that what was then the most substantial building in the town was built at the corner of Wall and River streets on the West side. The bank business was conducted in a front corner of the store.

In 1900 the banking business was incorporated under the national banking laws and chartered the First National Bank of Cottage Grove with a capital of $25,000.00. Herbert Eakin, Darwin Bristow, N. W. White, J. H. Hawley and George M. Hawley were the first board of directors. Bristow disposed of his interest in 1902 and Mr. Eakin was elected president and Mr. T. C. Wheeler became cashier, both of whom, together with J. H. Hawley, N. W. White and Oliver Veatch were elected on the board of directors.

The bank is now located in its own building at the corner of Sixth and Main and is recognized as one of the solid banking institutions of the state.

At the annual stockholders meeting it was reported that its deposits at the beginning of this year showed an increase of $166,828. over those of the first of last year and that its surplus had been increased from $10,000. to $20,000. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: H. E. Eakin, president; Mrs. Olivia W. Eakin, vice president; O. O. Veatch, chairman of the board; Worth Harvey, cashier and H. W. Lombard, attorney.

There will be no change in policy and the personnel of the new board is sufficient assurance that it will continue to enjoy the complete confidence of the business community—a confidence which rests upon a reputation for prudent banking methods.

The American Legion met Monday evening when reports on the district conference held Saturday in Eugene were given by Commander Alvis Wicks and John Dunlevy, who attended as delegates.

Legionnaires were urged by department officers at the conference to convert their government bonds issued as bonus payment to other cashable bonds or savings. The bonus bonds, in case of the death of a veteran, are not transferable, said Commander Wicks in giving his report, and heirs would be compelled to take legal steps which would necessitate considerable expense.

Robert Fromm also attended the banquet and evening meeting.

At the close of the business session the Legion joined the auxiliary for a social hour and refreshments.

Adult Education
Classes Opened
Tuesday Night

George C. Berreman, County Supervisor of Adult Education accompanied by two teachers, Mr. George Robbins and Mr. Ivan Koch, opened adult classes in Cottage Grove High School Tuesday night. These classes meet each Tuesday, 7:30 P. M.

Mr. George Robbins is teaching his third year on the adult education staff. His subjects are: "Personality. How shall we analyze it? How can we improve our personalities?"; "Self-expression", "Social Problems" and "Cooperatives". The Self-expression class gives opportunity to self-conscious persons to speak, debate, tell personal experiences, give readings, or take part in simple plays in company of a small group of people of similar mind and purpose. In this way the pupil gains confidence and is soon able to speak effectively. No attempt is made to produce orators, but simply to enable the individual to express his thoughts effectively.

Mr. Ivan F. Koch has had years of commercial experience installing refrigeration and air conditioning plants in different parts of the world. Mr. Koch also teaches blue print reading, mechanical drawing and drafting. Mr. Koch has a pleasant personality and a thorough knowledge of his subjects. Classes are free except for tools needed in drawing or drafting classes.

Both Mr. Koch and Mr. Robbins are college graduates. Both have an interesting and impressive way of presenting their subjects. Both are offering similar courses in Eugene High School and other parts of the county. This offers an op-

Big Grapefruit Sale.

The largest crop of grapefruit ever grown has brought about a grower-consumer cooperative campaign to aid the growers of that fruit in California, Texas, Arizona and Florida in disposing of carloads of grapefruit during this and next month. The Safeway store in this city is taking part in this campaign. The grapefruit crop is estimated at 67,000 cars. Deducting the portion of the crop which it is estimated will be used for canning, for juice or withheld from the market, a surplus of marketable fruit is conservatively estimated at 10,000 cars. If you like grapefruit watch the advertising columns of The Sentinel for prices.
