CENTRAL SCHOOL NOTES.

Friday, January 22, will be achievement day for the first grade students who are ending their farm project on that day. Parents and friends of the students have been sent invitations that were written and colored by the students. At two o'clock the students will tell the story of what happens on a farm and sing songs about the more common farm animals. Pages of a student-made reader will be on display in the primary room.

Students of the second and third grade were shown what boys and girls did on the farm when they were guests of the first graders, Wednesday afternoon.

Verne Clark, who has been ill the past week, has the mumps. His only complaint is that it takes too long to eat a meal.

Elaine White, a third grade student, expects to leave for California next week.

The fifth grade students of Miss Olson's room have been displaying with justifiable pride some water scenes of cut paper work. Most of this art work shows swans swimming about tulles.

The Debt Adjustment Committee of Lane to Help Debtor Farmers

Those Needing Guidance in Adjusting Their Debts Should Contact Committee Officers.

Walter A. Klundt, district FDA supervisor for western Oregon and Klamath and Lake counties, has this to say regarding Farm Debt Adjustment:

The Farm Debt Adjustment program is an organized effort to provide facilities for adjusting farmer's excessive debts to conform with their capacity to pay. In order to carry out this program county farm debt adjustment committees have been appointed by the governors of each of the several states. The purpose of the committees is to guide both debtors and creditors toward satisfactory adjustments in order to avert the alternative of court liquidation through bankruptcy or foreclosure with the undesirable social and economic consequences which are inevitable if such procedure becomes too prevalent.

In large measure these committees are confining their efforts to those cases wherein deserving farmers because of circumstances over which they have had no control, are faced with the loss of their property unless mutually acceptable adjustments can be made with their creditors.

When a farmer-debtor is confronted with the hopeless task of attempting to carry a debt-burden that is clearly beyond his capacity to pay in reality he is insolvent. Insolvency can only be dealt with effectively in one of three ways: bankruptcy, foreclosure or voluntary adjustment.

Any farmer interested in or desiring the services of the farm debt adjustment program should contact O. S. Fletcher, secretary of the county farm debt adjustment committee for Lane county, Public Market building, Eugene, or Harry Bower, R. R. supervisor, Broadway building, Eugene.

Mr. Klundt will be through this territory regularly every four to six weeks.
