[QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING]

"Why should I be interested in my Bank's loan policies?"

As a depositor in a bank there are several very good reasons why you should be interested in its loan policies, even if you are not a prospective borrower. In the first place, it is your money, and that of other depositors, which is being loaned. Consequently, you should want your bank to be careful and diligent in lending your money.

Good bank loans, made in accordance with sound banking principles, protect your deposited money. They put your funds to work usefully for the benefit of the entire community. They produce revenue for your bank to cover, in part, its operating cost of rendering services to you and other customers. They enable your bank to set aside reserves for protection of deposits.

Upon request, the officers of this bank will be glad to explain to you our loan policies.
