Petersen's, one of the leading local mercantile establishments, this week announced a change in credit policy that launches large city methods of merchandising in Cottage Grove retail establishments for the first time.

Heretofore operating strictly on a cash basis, commencing this week Petersen's will also sell on the monthly or semi-monthly payment plan.

"We want to make it plain that we are not inaugurating open accounts," Mr. Petersen told a Sentinel reporter. "On purchases of more than $10, customers with satisfactory credit ratings, can buy under the contract plan with a small down payment, with the balance under regular installments. Customers buying on this plan will pay a small carrying charge in addition to the regular price of the merchandise. This will enable us to maintain our policy of low prices for quality merchandise to the cash buyer, and we believe the customer requiring credit will still find our prices under the new plan most satisfactory."

The store has been remodeled, to make room for better display of new merchandise.

AN UNWASHED SPOON

EARLY in 1890, a young Frenchman named Daguerre began to experiment with the "Diorama." The reflected light from a scene was made to come through an aperture and make a picture on the opposite wall. Lenses were used to strengthen the images. Here was a camera in almost working order.

Daguerre thought that nature should take her own pictures and that light could be made to record itself. He began hunting for a chemical that would make a picture forthright. For more than two years he worked at it. Then by a queer accident he stumbled on the secret.

He had eaten his noonday meal and not waiting to wash his spoon, he tossed it in one of his cupboards. There was a metal plate coated with iodine on the shelf and the silver spoon lay on this until the next morning. The young man opened the cupboard door at breakfast time to get his spoon and found a clear picture of it on the metal plate.

Immediately he began to coat more plates with iodine of silver and then tried other developers. At length he found that mercury vapor gave a quick result. That marked the beginning of successful photography.

CHAMBER TO AID IN DRIVE FOR IRON LUNG FUNDS

The chamber of commerce at its weekly noon luncheon Tuesday named Roy Short, L. C. Schroeder and Cleo Morelock as a committee to draft plans for raising funds in Cottage Grove to assist Eugene in the purchase and endowment of an "iron lung." The movement was started by the Eugene chamber of commerce.

Donations to the iron lung fund may be made to Earl Ballew, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

"Dogger" With Sheep Herds

In the list of strange occupations can be named that of the "dogger," a well paid trapper, a specialist in his way, employed by the sheep station owner. The Australian native dog is a wild, strong, silent, cunning, ferocious beast that kills sheep. Known as the "dingo," he roams the back country and causes much damage to flocks. The dogger sets a circle of baited steel traps around the station boundaries. The double jaws of the trap are bound with cloth sprinkled with strychnine; otherwise the dingo would escape by gnawing its leg off. There is danger in the lonely life of the dogger, for the dingo does not hesitate to attack a man.

City Will Foreclose on Delinquent Property

The city council at its Monday night meeting made plans to start immediate foreclosure proceedings against property on which taxes and assessments are delinquent unless definite arrangements for payment are made at once.

The council voted to ask G. B. Arnest to turn over to the city revenue from the Methodist camp ground property on which taxes and assessments are delinquent, otherwise foreclosure proceedings will be started.

The city recorder was instructed to notify property owners of needed sidewalk repairs.

The city accepted the bid of Van Allison for city property in the Wynne second addition to Cottage Grove. Two bids on other city property were rejected.

Ordinances 1177 and 1178, regarding sale of property, were passed.

Bills were allowed and reports accepted.

McCoy Leaves to Attend Premier Showing of New Cars

L. J. McCoy, proprietor of McCoy's Garage, left today (Thursday) for Portland, where he will attend the premier showing of the 1938 models of Chrysler and Plymouth cars.

With but ten days to go before the close of the contest among Chrysler and Plymouth dealers, Mr. McCoy leads the field in a sales contest sponsored by the Chrysler distributors, in group one, which is composed of dealers in the smaller cities. Prizes totalling several hundred dollars in value will be awarded the three winners.

"I expect to keep my garage open all day Sunday," Mr. McCoy stated, "to accommodate used car buyers, and will be glad to give out the information I have at that time about the new 1938 models of both Chrysler and Plymouth."

Interior of Grove Hardware Altered, Stock Rearranged

Interior of the Grove Hardware has been entirely rearranged, making for the better display of merchandise.

"We are well pleased with the improvement in the appearance of the store since the change was made," Mr. Long, proprietor of the hardware, told a Sentinel reporter. "We find it much easier to locate merchandise, and our customers find the new arrangement more satisfactory as well."

For the first time in several years, Cottage Grove has but two hardware stores, the pioneer Graber-Gettys and the Grove Hardware. Twin Oaks discontinued their retail hardware store in Cottage Grove two weeks ago.

Set Fire to Cane Fields
Harvesters of sugar cane in the Hawaiian Islands start by deliberately setting fire to the cane field, says Collier's Weekly. This burns away the leaves and tassels, makes the cane easier to cut and destroys insects, rats and mongooses. The cane itself does not burn as it is heavily laden with juice.
