FURTHER ATTENTION EMPLOYEES

Last week there was circulated an ad, by a certain drug store, which stated their pharmacy "is legal representative" of all the hospital associations operating in this territory.

The inference is, to some, at least, that other drug stores have no legal right to compound prescriptions for the account of these various hospital associations.

We feel called upon to refute the inference that any one drug store in Cottage Grove is the "legal representative" of any or all of these associations.

We feel it is our duty to inform you the field is open; any druggist in town may compound your prescriptions whether they are for the account of the hospital associations or otherwise. Therefore, you may exercise your right to choose your druggist, just as you choose your doctor, under any and all circumstances.

We believe this is as it should be. Years ago we contended for this very privilege for you.
