

"UNREAL REALITIES"14 TIMES SAFER

Greyhound buses are proclaimed by the National Safety Council to be 14 times as safe as the average private automobile. Greyhound has been a winner, year after year, of the Council's highest safety award.

INVITATION TO A RAINSTORM

For centuries the weird ceremonial dances of the Hopi Indians have been passed down from generation to generation. With snakes in their mouths and barbaric costumes on their bodies these wildly dancing Indians on their Hopi, Arizona reservation pray to their gods for rain—and strangely enough it usually does rain.

55 COUNTRIES IN 1 CITY

You can visit fifty-five foreign lands in a single day in a single city—Washington, D. C. For every foreign embassy or legation and the ground on which it stands are part of the nation it represents, not part of America. Kings and dictators and foreign presidents all rule in Washington.

NO PUSH-OVER

Nearly thirty-five years ago two woodsmen sawed completely through a giant Sequoia tree—and waited for it to fall. They're still waiting, for the tree is still standing, defying man as it has defied the elements for centuries. This cut-in-two tree can be seen today near Porterville, California.

Prodigies in Musical World

There are probably more prodigies in the musical world, and more that succeed, than in any other field. Most of the great composers were prodigies—Handel, Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven, for example. Franz Schubert had composed a symphony before he left school.

Caligula Bath

Bearing the commemorative medal which states that the foundation stone was laid by the Emperor Caligula, a Roman bath is located at Plombieres, France. It was built sometime between 37 and 41 A. D., the years of this ruler's reign. Resting on a bed of a material resembling cement, the bath is lined with blocks of polished stone.

Albino Dingo Not Popular

The albino dingo (wild dog) of Australia is not popular among his own kind. This was proved some years ago when the first pure white dingo ever seen in Queensland was captured alive. The animal was placed in a cage with other dingoes that were in captivity. On the following morning the albino animal was found dead, having been torn to pieces.

Tremendous Trifles

By ELLIOT SCOTT WATSON

WIDOWER TO WHITE HOUSE

OF ALL the members of the cabinet of President Andrew Jackson, the secretary of state Martin Van Buren, had no wife. He had married Hannah Hoes in 1807 but she died in 1819. Van Buren had never re-married.

In January, 1828, Secretary of War John Eatson married Peggy O'Neil Timberlake. Immediately Vice President Calhoun's wife elevated her nose. Sniff—sniff! Peggy O'Neil was a tavern keeper's daughter. The scandal mongers were whispering that Peggy's first husband had cut his throat because she was untrue to him. Accept "that woman" as an equal? Never!

Other Washington wives also elevated their noses. "Old Hickory" Jackson was furious. Mrs. Calhoun and the cabinet ladies must accept Peggy. But they wouldn't.

Calhoun wanted to be President. But his wife continued to snub Peggy and Jackson continued to fight for her. Now Martin Van Buren had no wife to embarrass his ambitions. The widower secretary of state called on Peggy. He danced with her. "Old Hickory" was mightily pleased.

The row over Peggy went along and grew worse. The upshot was that the whole cabinet, including Van Buren, resigned! But in 1832 he became Vice President when Jackson was re-elected, and President in 1837. Andrew Jackson had a hand in bringing that about.

Ice Cream Old

Ice cream was first produced commercially in 1851 in Baltimore. By 1900, according to "Food Industries," annual consumption had reached 25,000,000 gallons, and now it is 200,000,000.

Flight of Migrating Birds

Evidence adduced by the United States Biological survey shows that the greater part of migration takes place below 3,000 feet above the earth's surface, much of it below 1,000 feet, and that birds prefer to fly below the level of the clouds.

Belfast Castle

Belfast castle, a mansion built by the third marquis of Donegal about a century ago, with 200 acres of grounds, now belongs to the public, having been presented to the citizens of Belfast by its owner, the earl of Shaftesbury, a former lord mayor. The castle stands on the slopes of Cave hill, from which there are splendid views of the city and Belfast lough.

The Pied Piper

The Pied Piper is an old German legend of indefinite origin. Among English-speaking people its popularity is largely due to Robert Browning's poem about the piper.
