Golden Poppy, Columbine

Popular State Blossoms
In California, the golden poppy is cherished to represent the sunny state. There are many legends told about this satiny-petaled coral flower.

One of the tales, observes a writer in the Detroit News, goes back to days when the Indian tribes occupied California. It seems that there was a great cold wave which destroyed all the Indians except one brave and his squaw. Cold and hungry, they called upon the Great Spirit. He sent the "fire flower" or golden poppy in answer to their prayers. It drove away the evil spirit of the cold and frost, and brought warmth and plenty to the land.

Colorado's flower is the Rocky Mountain columbine. It was chosen by the people of the state because of its colors. The white represents the snowy ranges of the mountains, and the yellow, the gold that first attracted people to Colorado in 1858.

The mountain laurel was selected as the state flower of Connecticut because of the "beauty of its blossoms and foliage, the latter remaining a glossy green throughout the year, its sturdy and abundant growth in the state, and its general popularity." Pennsylvania also has the mountain laurel as her flower.

The delicate peach blossom symbolizes Delaware. It was chosen because of the supremacy of the state in peach-growing. When the trees are in bloom the avenues from the northern to the southern border of the state appear as if they were waves of white blossoms.

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY.
Members of the library board met with the librarian last week and prepared for circulation a number of new books, including 30 children's books.

Among the new adult fiction, shelf: "This Proud Heart" and "The Exile" by Pearl Buck; "Mary Peters," Mary Ellen Chase; "Oil for the Lamps of China," Hobart; "American Family," Baldwin; "Westward Passage," Barnes.

Two copies of "Gone With the Wind," on the rental shelf, have broken all record for circulation.

The library has also received a gift of some 40 volumes from Mrs. H. B. Ferrin and her brother, William E. Lowell. These volumes belonged to the library of their father, the late Judge Stephens A. Lowell, of Pendleton.

A recent addition to the library is Webster's New International Dictionary, Second Edition, unabridged.

This will be the first time that a southern Lane group have participated in the yearly county radio program. Members of the Lucky Londonites club are: Jacie Morton, leader, Lovelle Abeene, Maxine Ewing, Lucille Abeene, Marjorie Woodard, Lillian Geer and Marcelle Abeene. There will also be an interview between R. C. Kuehner, county club agent and Jeanne Morton, president of the county leader's association, telling of some of the club work being carried on in the county.

Light, Sound and Bullet

Light travels very much faster than either sound or a bullet. The relation between the speed of light and sound is illustrated by the length of time which elapses between the flash of lightning and the thunder that follows. The speed of light is 186,324 miles per second through the air, while the speed of sound, through the air at ordinary temperatures, is about 1,120 feet per second. The speed of a bullet is measured at the point of leaving the muzzle and is called muzzle velocity. As soon as it meets the resistance of the air and the pull of gravity its speed begins to slacken. The muzzle velocity of the regular army rifle is 2,700 feet per second, and a sports rifle has a muzzle velocity of 3,900 feet per second.
