

... like the Sno Sheen cakes in the Motion Picture Cooking School?

When a cake appears in the movies, it has to be beautiful! It mustn't show any defects when it looms up large on the screen; must be so tempting that the audience will long to taste it.

Cakes made with Sno Sheen Cake Flour please the most critical eye. And their perfect appearance is an assurance that they are wonderfully light—wonderfully delicate in texture. They're as good to eat as they are to look at!

Your cakes, too, will be a delight to the eye and to the palate if you use Sno Sheen—the super-fine cake flour that's featured in the Motion Picture Cooking School. Try a package—and you'll want to use it regularly for all your fine cakes!

Explorer Spends Months on Hainan Island.

San Francisco.—Nicol Smith, young San Francisco explorer and adventurer, has returned to his home here from a six-month exploration trip to lonely Hainan island off the southeast coast of China.

Smith brought back hundreds of photographs, botanical specimens and maps of the remote island. He recorded native life on more than 4,000 feet of sound film.

Hainan island is northeast of Indo-China off the southeastern China coast. It is 190 miles long and 95 miles wide. Until Smith's recent explorations in the interior of the island no white man had ever penetrated inland. The island is populated by primitive natives of Malay origin who still hunt with poisoned arrows.

Attacked by Water Buffalo.

Smith had several "close shaves" with death on his latest trip, he said. On one occasion his car was attacked by a huge water buffalo and at another time, he said, an airplane in which he was flying from Hainan to Canton, to get permission to take photographs in the island's interior, was forced to land in the wild-tiger district of Liu Chow in South China, miles from civilization.

In the heart of the wild Hainan country Smith almost died from the effects of a severe sunstroke. On another occasion quick action of a companion saved him from drowning in a swift mountain river.

Smith made the only motion pictures ever taken of the Loi aborigine tribes of Hainan and obtained recordings of their native music. He made the first inland maps for the National Geographic society and obtained botanical specimens for the American Museum of Natural History.

Rare Bear Captured.

A rare Hainan bear, captured by the expedition, died before it could be transported from the interior and the animal was stuffed. It was the only bear of this species ever seen by a white person, Smith said. Among other trophies was the skin of a 14-foot python, killed by a member of the exploring party.

At the completion of his Hainan island exploration Smith traveled to Yunnan on the Burma-Tibetan border. While there he was the first white man to visit Kocbui, the "mystery city of Asia," in more than 20 years. In Kocbui, Smith said, 25,000 children have been sold into slavery.

In the last ten years Smith has toured unusual out-of-the-way sections of Europe, Asia, America and the South Seas. He has made extensive explorations in the interior of Dutch Guiana.

To Benefit Small Business
Last week the Senate took up a bill introduced by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia designed to broaden the lending powers of the RFC to include small business as well as banks, railroads and other large industries. The RFC announced it had $1,500,000,000 available to lend to small business firms holding good collateral upon passage of the Glass bill.

Things to Watch For

By Dame Rumor

An awning that is automatically raised or lowered by means of a photo electric cell sensitive to rain and sun; a small oil can that looks like a fountain pen, designed for oiling small machines, electrical equipment, typewriters, etc.; more summer excursion trains equipped with motion picture projectors and radios; larger sales of airplanes to individuals; bicycles with shock-absorbing handle bars; believe it or not a new device which returns the golf ball to the player after it enters the cup; a new waterproof and self-lubricating bullet which won't jam in the hunter's gun; bathroom tiles made from shrimp hulls.
